MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT.

Darjeeling, the 24th October 1889.

RESOLUTION.

The Reports from the several Commissioners of Divisions on the working of District Boards during the year 1888-89.

Read again—

The Report submitted by Government on the working of District Boards in Bengal during the eighteen months ending 31st March 1888.

The report for the eighteen months ending 31st March 1888, which was submitted to the Government of India with this Government letter No. 265T—M, dated 9th November 1888, dealt mainly with the preliminaries connected with the introduction of Local Self-Government in these Provinces, and the constitution of District and Local Boards. In the present resolution the working of District Boards during the past year will be reviewed.

2. The reports received from Commissioners are not prepared in any uniform method, and in several particulars fail to convey the information required by Government, while in other respects they are overladen with details which it was unnecessary to communicate. The deficiency in the reports has, however, been supplied to some extent by the accounts furnished in the General Administration Reports of the same officers under the several headings which refer to the work done by District Boards. But in various points the present review must remain deficient in consequence of the imperfections of the special reports received. The Lieutenant-Governor proposes to take an early opportunity of issuing instructions which shall ensure greater uniformity and fulness of information in the reports to be submitted in future years.

3. The administration of District and Local Boards under the provisions of the Local Self-Government Act III (B.C.) of 1885 has now been carried on in all districts to which the operation of the Act has been extended for two full years. No change took place during the year in the constitution of any of the District or Local Boards, and the proportions in which official and non-official Europeans and Natives of India were represented in the Boards remained practically the same.

4. The total number of the members of District Boards in Bengal in 38 districts is 785. Of this number, 433 were nominated by Government and 352 were elected by the Local Boards under the laws and rules in force. Of the total of members of the District Boards, 205 are Government servants and 580 are non-officials. Of the elected members of District Boards, 29·8 per cent. are zemindars or representatives of the landed interest, 26·4 per cent. are pleaders, 17·7 are Government servants, 2·3 are mukhtears, only ·7 are traders, and the remainder are unspecified. The average number of members of each District Board is 20·6. The Magistrate of the district was in every instance reappointed Chairman of the District Board on the expiry of his term of office under section 24 of the Act.

5. Local Boards exist at the head-quarters of sub-divisions. The number of Boards so established is 106. The total number of members is 1,201. The number of members of Local Boards in which the elective system is in force is 919, of whom 543 were nominated by Government and 376 were elected. Of the members of these Local Boards, 133 are Government servants and 776 are non-officials. Of the elected members of Local Boards 51 per cent. are zemindars, 24·4 per cent. are pleaders, 4·2 are Government servants, 3·8 are traders, 3·3 are mukhtears, and the remainder are unspecified. The average number of members of each Local Board is 11.

There were 13 bye-elections held during the year for filling up vacancies among the elected members of Local Boards. These elections as a rule did not excite much interest, and in three cases it was found necessary to fill up the vacancy by appointment.

6. The number of meetings held by each of the District Boards and the average attendance of members at each meeting is given in the following statement:—

7. The district in which the meetings were most satisfactory was the 24-Pergunnahs. At the 12 meetings of the District Board held in that district there was a full attendance on every occasion. In several other districts the attendance was fair, but in some it was very indifferent. In Bhagulpore (40), Midnapore (36), Rungpore and Sarun (30 each) the number of members appears to be very large, and it is impossible in these districts to ensure at ordinary meetings of the Board an attendance of even half the members. The Commissioners concerned are requested to report whether the number should not be reduced. Other districts, such as Jessore, Julpigori, Shahabad, Chumparun and Cuttack, show a similarly deficient attendance with smaller numbers to draw upon. The Lieutenant-Governor considers it very desirable that as a rule the District Board should meet at least once a month, and as far as possible on fixed dates, which can be prescribed beforehand at the beginning of the year. These monthly meetings should be the ordinary meetings of the Board; if other meetings are required, they should be convened as special meetings. His Honor observes that in many districts the number of meetings held during the year was insufficient. This remark is applicable to all the districts of the Presidency Division, except the 24-Pergunnahs, to Howrah, Dacca, Julpigoree, Shahabad, Mozufferpore, Chumparun, Cuttack, and Noakholly. In Dinagepore, on the other hand, where 21 meetings were convened during the year, the number seems to have been excessive, and must have been harassing to some members of the Board who live at a distance from head-quarters It is observed that the average percentage of attendance at Dinagepore was only 25·2. In 18 out of 38 districts the percentage of attendance was less than 50, the worst after Dinagepore being Bhagulpore 33·2, Sarun 36·3, and Chittagong 37·5.

Meetings of Local Boards.

8. A similar statement for Local Boards is given in Appendix A. As the work delegated to Local Boards varies in different districts, it is not possible to lay down any hard-and-fast rule regarding the number of meetings of these Boards; but the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to see some regularity enforced in the case of Local Boards also. It is the duty of District Boards to insist on such regularity in the case of Local Boards subordinate to them. The number of meetings convened during the year varies from 17 in Kishoregunge and 16 in Oolooboriah, and to only 2 at Dum-Dum, Chooadanga, Gya and Behar. At these latter sub-divisions, and in several other cases also, it may be said that the Local Board for all practical purposes had no existence. At Midnapore the number of members of the Local Board is 36 and at Arrah 30: the number seems to be excessive, and should be reduced on the term of expiry of office of the existing incumbents. The average of attendance at Local Boards appears to have been indifferent, and in most cases was below 50 per cent. It is stated by some Commissioners that the members of Local Boards absented themselves from meetings because they are not entitled to travelling allowance for attendance. This reason the Lieutenant-Governor cannot accept as satisfactory. The members of a District Board live often at a considerable distance from the head-quarters of a district, and section 53 of the Act therefore provides for their travelling allowance when attending meetings; but the considerations are different in the case of members of a Local Board who, as a rule, reside in the vicinity of the head-quarters of the sub-division where the Boards meet. It is hoped, therefore, that this excuse will not be alleged in future as a reason for non-attendance.

9. In most districts Local Boards have been entrusted with the administration of the grants for village roads, pounds, ferries, and primary education.

Union Committees.

10. The appointment of Union Committees is still in abeyance. The difficulties in the way of their organization, both legislative and administrative, were referred to in last year's report, and no attempt was made during the year under review to overcome them. Steps have, however, lately been taken, which will, it is hoped, result in the adoption of some definite action on the subject. What is contemplated is the establishment of a Union Fund in the hands of a Punchayet or Union Committee, which shall form part of the District Fund, and shall consist exclusively of such sums as are assigned to it by the Local Board, which is the intermediate authority between the District Board and the Union Committee; while at the same time the complete subordination of Union Committees to the Local Boards shall be declared and a power of control defined which is altogether wanting under the existing provisions of the law. The circular which has been issued by the Lieutenant-Governor inviting opinions on the organization of Union Committees is annexed to this resolution as Appendix E.

Financial results.

Credit balances.

12. The year 1887-88 closed with a credit balance of Rs. 18,12,038 (corrected figures): at the close of 1888-89 this balance was slightly increased to Rs. 18,28,696.

Income.

District Road Fund receipts.

13. The balance of the District Road Fund is beyond comparison the most important asset of the District Fund. The road cess which is levied at the rate of half-an-anna in the rupee on the gross rental in all districts except Backergunge, where it is levied at half rates only, is realized by the Collectors of Districts, and the balance, after deducting all costs of collection, is credited to the District Fund. The receipts shown under this head for the year 1887-88 do not represent the receipts of that year only, but are swollen by the accumulation of the balances of certain districts to which the Local Self-Government Act was not extended in the first instance, and which should properly have been shown under the head of opening balance to the credit of the District Fund. The receipts for the current year represent the actual net proceeds of the District Road Cess realized during the year, and made over to the District Funds. This is a source of revenue which will expand slowly but surely in consequence of the increase in the valuation which from time to time is effected in all districts. The normal increase is estimated to be about Rs. 30,000 a year for the whole Province. It must be clearly understood that for the punctual realization of this important asset, it is the Collectors of Districts, and not the District Boards, who are responsible. The Boards receive the surplus collections, but take no measures to realize them.

Pounds.

14. The receipts from pounds show a net decrease of Rs. 30,327, as compared with the collections of 1887-88, and an increase of Rs. 11,762 as compared with the estimate on which the Provincial adjustments with District Boards were based. In the following districts the falling off as compared with the previous year is most marked:—

	Estimate on which Provincial adjustments were based. Rs.	1887-88. Rs.	1888-89. Rs.
Midnapore	13,132	17,471	9,583
Moorshedabad	13,687	16,067	12,126
Nuddea	29,143	34,699	27,813
Furreedpore	9,947	15,029	10,550
Mymensingh	32,531	42,579	37,494
Bhagulpore	15,500	19,103	14,387
Maldah	13,485	19,278	15,829
Purneah	50,559	50,222	44,879

On the other hand, in the following districts there is a considerable increase:—

	Estimate on which Provincial adjustments were based.	1887-88.	1888-89.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Hooghly	6,104	7,931	9,047
Beerbhoom	5,041	6,163	7,660
Jessore	24,142	15,462	21,349
24-Pergunnahs	6,500	6,608	7,714
Durbhunga	4,007	4,972	6,438
Chumparun	15,410	16,672	18,129
Dinagepore	15,470	14,935	19,442
Chittagong	3,905	2,720	6,093

15. The total estimated receipts from pounds, on which the Provincial adjustments have been calculated, were based on the average receipts from pounds, while their administration was still under the Magistrate. The total of this estimate amounted to Rs. 4,20,153, and in the past year the total receipts were in excess of this estimate. It is impossible to say from the accounts submitted whether the collections of the year were actually less than those of the previous year. In many cases the decrease shown is unexplained, and in some it is attributed to the want of judicious management on the part of District and Local Boards; but in others it is clear that it is fictitious only and due to departmental adjustment. The Chairman of the Moorshedabad District Board states that the large income in 1887-88 was owing to the fact that the charge of pounds was made over to the Board from January 1887, and the rents from 1st October to the 31st December 1886, which were originally received by the Magistrate, were transferred to the District Board during the year 1887-88. In reality there was an improvement in the letting value of the pounds last year, the amount being Rs. 12,387 against Rs. 10,250. A similar reason applies to the decrease in Nuddea, and partially also to Bogra and Dinagepore. A special instance of mismanagement is reported from the Nattore Board in the district of Rajshahye. It appears that the Local Board neglected to take agreements from the farmers at the time of settlement, and that in consequence many of them, after enjoying the proceeds of the pounds during the most profitable season of the year, abandoned their charge, and it was found impossible to recover the balance. In other districts arrears have accrued. In the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion there can be no satisfactory excuse for this, for if the Boards are careful to see that security advances are properly taken, and farmers are not permitted to hold on when default occurs, there can be no arrears. In almost all districts pound administration has been delegated to Local Boards. As a rule, the farming system prevails: in Cuttack and Balasore where the pounds are under direct management, those that are close to schools are placed under the charge of village school-masters, and those elsewhere under independent mohurirs on the same rate of pay as was allowed to writer-constables in the Police Department. In the district of Chumparun an attempt has been made to entrust the management of pounds to the teachers of pathsalas in addition to their own duties, but the experiment did not work satisfactorily, and was not continued. In Pubna the pounds and ferries were placed under the immediate charge of two sub-overseers, who are called inspectors of pounds and ferries, and are also required to supervise village roads.

Upon the whole, the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the administration of pounds during the past year by District Boards may be described as fairly successful. It is not materially worse in any respect than it used to be when pounds were administered by the Magistrate. As a matter of fact, the pound receipts have increased to a perceptible extent, and they may be expected to develop further when the powers of District Boards are more clearly recognized and defined than they have been in the past. In a recent resolution rules regarding the management of pounds have been prescribed, and a larger authority has been entrusted to District Boards. A copy of this resolution is annexed for convenience of reference as Appendix F.

16. The receipts from ferries also show a small decrease of Rs. 24,161. But exactly as in the case of pounds the decrease is more fictitious than real. The districts in which the decrease was greatest are mentioned in the margin. The reason for the decrease in Burdwan is said to be the "reaction after undue competition in the previous year." The same cause is also said to have operated in Midnapore, where the ferry receipts were further reduced owing to the silting up of the Bagda river. But the decrease in Nuddea, Moorshedabad, and the 24-Pergunnahs is attributed to the fact that the realizations from 1st October 1886 to 1st March 1887 were transferred and credited to the District Fund during 1887-88. This was also the case in Rajshahye, and in Julpigoree the receipts of 1887-88 include all the ferries in the district, whereas in 1888-89 the receipts of those ferries only that have been transferred to the Board were credited. Since the close of the year all the ferries in the Julpigoree district have been transferred as a special case to the District Board. The Commissioner of the Dacca Division reports favourably of the administration of ferries by District Boards. The falling off in receipts in Dacca and Furreedpore is purely accidental. In the latter district the Board suffered heavy loss owing to the transfer of the railway terminus from Goalundo to Rajbari. This ruined the Shealo ferry. In Dacca the receipts of the Naraingunge steam-ferry for the seven months it was under the management of the Dacca State Railway are not included in the Board's accounts.

24-Pergunnahs	17,074	13,629	4,345

17. In the marginally noted districts, where there is a marked increase in ferry receipts, the result is also chiefly due to adjustment or want of adjustment in accounts. In most of these cases the orders transferring the ferry receipts to District Boards were not communicated until after the year 1887-88 had expired, and the figures for the year 1888-89 therefore show the receipts of two years in one. The Commissioner of Patna reports that there was in reality a loss in Mozufferpore of about Rs. 4,525 in the ferry income, attributed to the falling off in grain traffic consequent on the failure of the rice crop, and that the receipts in Sarun also fell off owing to the scarcity in neighbouring districts. As a rule ferries are farmed out, and little cost is therefore incurred in their maintenance.

The Lieutenant-Governor considers that ferries, as well as pounds, may be said to have been well administered by District Boards. He observes that the Chittagong District Board contemplated spending a considerable sum of money in the current year in improving the approaches to ferries and rendering them convenient for passengers, and commends this example to other districts.

When grants were made to District Boards to establish equilibrium between receipts and charges, ferry receipts, amounting to Rs. 2,96,076 per annum, were made over by Government to Boards, and District Boards were allowed to remain in possession of all the ferries which had formerly been under the old Road Cess Committees. As the Boards therefore are in charge of many ferries which were not transferred to them by Government, it is not possible to institute any comparison between the actual ferry receipts of the year and the estimate upon which the Government orders of adjustment were based.

18. The Provincial receipts from ferries, which have not been made over to local bodies, amounted during the past year to about Rs. 2,20,000; and if these receipts were now to be transferred to District Boards, and a suitable reduction allowed on account of ferry charges, as well as on account of such ferries as it may be considered should be made over to municipalities rather than to Boards, the additional Provincial grant to District Boards would amount in round figures to about two lakhs of rupees. There is much to be said in favour of such a proposal, and the strongest argument in favour of granting all ferry tolls to Boards is that it is reasonable and proper that the proceeds of local taxation should be administered by local agencies and devoted to local purposes. There is no difference in principle in this respect between pounds and ferries. But to make the grant would not be in accordance with the policy by which Government was guided in determining the allotments to Boards. The rule then followed was to make such a calculation as to afford to District Boards receipts exactly equal to the amount of general charges imposed. The transferred assets were allowed to remain as an improveable revenue, but at the time of the grant they were regulated on a scale to establish equilibrium only. In other words, to transfer additional ferries now without imposing on the Boards equivalent charges would be to make permanent additional grants from Provincial revenues to the particular Boards benefited. This the Lieutenant-Governor is not in a position to do. It is also an objection to this proposal that it would not uniformly benefit all districts. Those only would gain where the unassigned ferries afford a considerable source of revenue. But this argument applies also to pound receipts which have by law been assigned to District Boards. If financial considerations permit of any additional permanent grants being made to District Boards, the Lieutenant-Governor is satisfied that the transfer of ferry receipts is the best method of making them, and he will be glad, if it should be in his power hereafter, to assist the working of Local Self-Government organizations by conceding to them the whole of these receipts.

Grants from Provincial Revenues.

19. The item "Grants from Provincial Revenues" shows a very large increase from Rs. 2,01,573 to Rs. 6,60,349. This is another fluctuation in the accounts between the two years, which is to be attributed to late adjustment. The Government contribution due for the year 1887-88 was in many cases not paid till 1888-89, and the receipts for the year under review represent in these cases the grant for two years. In Bankoora the annual grant of Rs. 25,55 9 has not yet been drawn for either year. Similarly in Pubna the amount credited under this head represents the contribution made by the Collector from the Estates Improvement Fund, and the Government grant has not been placed to the credit of the District Fund since the introduction of the Local Self-Government Act. The same explanation applies to other districts. The Government grants to the three District Boards of Chittagong, Noakholly, and Tipperah are Rs. 13,639, Rs. 9,718, and Rs. 25,390 respectively. But while Noakholly has drawn Rs. 29,563 during the year, Tipperah has drawn nothing, and Chittagong only Rs 2,419. No explanation is given of the different procedure adopted, but it is stated that the Tipperah Board applied for the Government grant after the close of the year, and that the Chittagong Board was in correspondence with the Accountant-General. It would save much confusion in the accounts and be to the obvious convenience both of Government and the Boards if the Accountant-General placed the grants to credit of the Boards on a fixed date in each year, and separate orders will issue to this effect.

An appendix (D) is annexed in which the statistics for all districts of the grants made by Government at the time of the adjustment of the receipts and charges transferred from the Provincial accounts to District Boards in order to establish the equilibrium between such receipts and charges are shown in detail The account is unavoidably an intricate one, and in consequence of its intricacy the settlement between Government and District Boards has been in too many cases unduly delayed The sanctioned annual Government grant as shown in that statement is Rs. 3,99,293, or in round numbers four lakhs of rupees. In addition to this grant considerable sums have been since assigned to certain Boards by the Public Works Department for the maintenance of Provincial roads which have been transferred to their charge. In this way Rs. 82.163 have been assigned to the 24-Pergunnahs, Rs. 40,582 to Hooghly, and Rs. 18,658 to Jessore. These figures are included in the grants from Provincial Revenues, and a corresponding increase is shown in the expenditure side of the accounts under Public Works. The figures against the Julpigoree district represent a special grant of Rs. 15,000 for two years, which has been made to the District Board to assist them in their efforts to open out communications in the Western Dooars.

Education and Medical.

20. Under the minor heads of receipts—Education and Medical—it is satisfactory to observe that there is a small increase. School-fees have increased from Rs. 15,571 to

Rs. 19,282. Contributions from the public for the aid of hospitals and dispensaries have increased from Rs. 3,013 to Rs. 5,626, but for the aid of schools they have decreased from Rs. 6,651 to Rs. 5,947. These figures are discouraging, and justify the observation made by one District Officer, that people who have subscribed to schools and dispensaries make the new Local Self-Government system an excuse for decreasing and even discontinuing subscriptions.

Miscellaneous advances and deposits.

21. The figures under the head of Miscellaneous Advances and Deposits call for no remarks.

EXPENDITURE.

Public Works.

22. Turning now to expenditure, it will be observed that there is an increase under the head of Public Works from Rs. 32,32,968 to Rs. 34,65,541. The following statement compares the two years :—

	Original works.	Repairs.	Establishment.	Tools and plant.	Water-supply and water-works.	Miscellaneous public improvements.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1887-88	10,66,038	16,04,900	5,20,591	30,225	4,534	6,677	32,32,968
1888-89	11,06,704	17,88,958	5,27,598	27,115	6,261	8,910	34,65,541

23. The increase is principally due to the cost of the repairs of Provincial roads transferred to the districts of the 24-Pergunnahs, Hooghly, and Jessore, with a corresponding assignment from Provincial Revenues. The original works executed were of an ordinary nature, and do not call for special remark. In several cases the allotments were not worked up to fully. Credit is due to the Rungpore District Board which spent no less than Rs. 82,875 for the year on original works, mostly bridges, including an iron screw pile bridge 247 feet long over the Ghaghat river. The district of Dinagepore, though well supplied with roads, is badly in want of permanent bridges, and to meet this pressing want it is proposed to raise a loan of two lakhs of rupees in the open market.

Loans.

24. The new rules for the grant of loans to local authorities, issued by the Government of India on the 1st January last, lay down that "without the consent of the Governor-General in Council no loan shall be granted to any Local Board for the construction of any public work, unless it is estimated that a direct net revenue will be derived therefrom equal to at least 4 per centum per annum on its capital cost." This provision will practically prevent a District Board from borrowing from Government, for the class of works ordinarily undertaken by District Boards cannot be classed as reproductive, and in such cases no special circumstances arise to justify a special reference. But for the improvement and extension of roads and water channels and communications generally, including railways and tramways, and especially for sanitary purposes, such as the improvement of the water-supply of a district, it seems almost necessary that loans must be incurred. It is a right principle that works of magnitude and permanent utility should be constructed from borrowed capital. The whole burden of their cost should not fall on the generation which constructs them. It is certain that if loans are not raised, no considerable works will be undertaken. District Boards should therefore be encouraged by all reasonable means to raise loans for these purposes, and the Lieutenant-Governor is about to address the Government of India in a separate communication, recommending that the restriction regarding the class of works for which Boards are empowered to borrow from the Local Government may be removed. Until this concession is granted, there will be no alternative for District Boards but to do as the Dinagepore Board has done, and try and borrow in the open market. It is to be hoped that the result of the experiment will be such as to induce other Boards to follow this example.

Village roads.

25. The subject of village roads has been insufficiently reported on by Commissioners, and statistics of the sum expended in all districts are not available.

The figures which are given seem to show that the outlay varies very greatly in different parts of the Province. The Commissioner of Burdwan observes that the tendency to employ large sums on village roads and communications to the detriment of original works and works of greater public utility is very marked. He writes:—

"The heaviest expenditure on this class of works occurred in the district of Midnapore where the Board made grants under this head amounting to Rs. 20,000 The Chairman, supported by a strong minority of the Board, was greatly opposed to so large an expenditure, and Mr. Alexander reduced the amount to Rs. 15,000 The Chairmen of the Burdwan and Howrah Boards have both expressed their opinion that the money advanced for this purpose during past years has been greatly misapplied, and there seems good reason to fear that this has been the case. Various remedies have been suggested, amongst others the scheduling of these roads and the execution of the works by the District Engineer. The Inspector of Local Works complains of the tendency of the present Boards to employ a lower subordinate establishment under the several Local Boards to supervise and carry out these works, without estimates or surveys, and without any control by the District Engineers. He considers that under this system abuses are likely to arise; and when the Boards, as in the districts of Hooghly and Midnapore, employ such subordinate agencies, there appears to be no reason why they should not be carried out as other district works are under the surveillance of the District Engineers under properly framed estimates, or why they should not be scheduled as all other roads are."

In the Burdwan district the allotment for village roads was only Rs. 2,000, and none of it was spent. It is said that numerous abuses and several frauds came to light. Of Hooghly it is reported that there are so many village roads that it is difficult to keep them up with the funds at the disposal of Local Boards: the grant for the purpose is, however, not stated. In the 24-Pergunnahs there are 600 miles of village roads, and the expenditure on them was Rs. 13,255. In Nuddea the grant was Rs. 4,494. In the Dacca Division the outlay was large, as follows: Dacca Rs. 15,982, Furreedpore Rs. 6,458, Backergunge Rs. 29,074, and Mymensingh Rs. 37,328. In regard to this expenditure, Mr. Worsley observes briefly that "particular care should be taken that the amounts allotted are properly spent, more especially as the works are not subjected to any professional scrutiny." In Dinagepore the expenditure on village roads was Rs. 1,852, in Rajshahye Rs. 6,021, in Pubna Rs. 5,341, in Rungpore Rs 9,264, and in Julpigoree Rs. 1,216. In Bogra the amount was only Rs. 412. In the Bhagulpore Division large sums were spent. In Monghyr a grant of Rs. 24,000 for the restoration and maintenance of village roads was made, and Rs 23,368 were expended. It was intended that the grant should also serve the purpose of relieving the ryots who suffered injury through the partial failure of the bhadoi crops. In Bhagulpore the Local Boards spent Rs. 14,074, against an allotment of Rs. 19,040 In Purneah Rs. 12,436 were spent In Maldah only one road, 5½ miles in length, was repaired at a small cost. The figures from only three districts in the Patna Division are furnished—Sarun Rs. 25,911, Durbhunga Rs. 19,608, and Patna Rs. 14,409. The figures for the districts in the Chittagong Division are not stated, but the Commissioner, Mr. Lyall, records the following general remarks:—

"In Noakhally it appeared to me that works were being done under the name of village roads which should be estimated for and sanctioned by proper authority. I drew the attention of the Inspector of Local Works to this matter, and called for a report from him. From his report it appeared that several of the roads heitherto treated as village roads were not really so, and should come under proper supervision. Money spent in the way it is done on village roads does not secure a proper return for the amount spent."

From the Orissa Division no information is furnished.

26. The views of Government on the question of expenditure on village roads have often been expressed. In Sir George Campbell's proclamation of July 1873, to which all possible publicity was given, it was distinctly stated* that a part of the road cess income would be spent on improving village roads and waterways, and villagers were expressly encouraged to apply for such expenditure about their homes. The instructions issued by Sir George Campbell in the Government circular No. 32, dated 27th September 1873, show how earnestly he desired that the allotments for village roads might be spent to the best advantage, so that the money might go as far as possible, and the villagers realize that their village intercommunications had benefited by the road cess. Similar orders have been passed from time to time by subsequent Lieutenant-Governors; and in the

* Extract from the Proclamation.

Subdivisions of the district will be arranged, and a fair proportion of the proceeds of the tax will be apportioned for the petty roads of that subdivision. That money will be distributed and spent by local men trusted by the inhabitants, who will be selected or elected for the purpose. Every tax-payer is encouraged and invited to claim that the tax shall be fairly applied to the village roads and local paths or water-channels in which he is interested. The Government will use every effort to see that such local claims are fairly met, and that every tax-payer derives a fair benefit from the tax which he pays

Resolution recorded by Sir Steuart Bayley on the General Administration Report of the Burdwan Division for the year 1887-88, the following observations were recorded:—"It has been repeatedly declared that it is very desirable to make a liberal allotment for the construction and repairs of village roads, which is a matter of the first convenience not only to the influential residents, but to all the inhabitants of the villages affected. Road cess funds are to be expended for the benefit of the localities concerned, and nothing is more calculated to popularise the administration of this department than to show the villagers who pay the tax that their local interests are not neglected. On the other hand, before village roads can be of much use, there must be a system of main arteries through the district, without which village roads will fail in their main purpose of connecting villages with larger markets. It is not right that an excessive proportion of the cess funds should be devoted to village roads—and what is an excessive proportion must be determined by the circumstances of each district—but it is desirable that the allotment should in all cases be as liberal as the circumstances will permit." To these remarks the Lieutenant-Governor entirely adheres. They indicate the principles on which village road expenditure should be guided, and, looking to the expenditure incurred, they appear to have been generally accepted in most districts. With reference, however, to the remarks recorded by Commissioners, there appears too much reason to believe that in giving effect to these principles, system and organization have been unduly neglected, and the Lieutenant-Governor cannot doubt that the expenditure on village roads calls for more careful control than is now exercised over it. Mr. Clay, the Commissioner of Burdwan, justly observes that without going so far as to say that all village roads should be scheduled, it is advisable that this should be done in the case of lines connecting important villages which serve to supplement the general scheme of main district roads. The Lieutenant-Governor is also disposed to agree with him in the opinion he expresses that no village road should be undertaken except with the approval of the District Engineer (or some responsible subordinate), and that the execution of the work should be subject to his inspection and control. This is a very important question, and it is desirable that rules of general application should be enforced. With this view the whole subject will now receive further consideration in the Public Works Department.

Railway feeders.

27. An important railway feeder was put in hand during the year between Bunderhatti and the Haripal station of the Tarkessur Railway in the district of Hooghly. Towards the construction of this work, Baboo Nrisingha Charan Addy of Bunderhatti contributed Rs. 15,000, a further grant of Rs. 20,000 being made by the Government of Bengal. Baboo Upendro Nath Bose of Pansualla also offered free of cost so much of his land as might be required for the purposes of the road. From the other divisions not much information is given; but it is stated that a railway feeder road of some utility from Jaipore to Mungalbari was constructed by the District Board of Bogra. In spite of the large number of roads in the Dinagepore district, there are tracts which still require to be opened by raised roads, and the new Assam-Behar extension line requires feeders; but it is said that the District Board will not be able to do much in this direction for the next few years, as the whole of the available funds, including the proceeds of a special loan, will be taken up in bridging existing roads. Having regard to the large extension of railway communications throughout the province, the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that future reports will show that District Boards have taken more energetic action in constructing good feeder roads to railway stations, for it is evident that expenditure so incurred is calculated to produce a marked effect in developing the resources of districts.

Tramways.

28. It is reported that no progress was made with the Hooghly and Howrah tramway schemes. A project for a steam-tramway from Julpigoree towards Chalsa has been matured, and a survey of the line has already been completed by Government. An agreement has been arrived at between the projectors and the District Board, but the former have asked for further concessions from Government which cannot be granted. If the projectors are unwilling to accept the Government terms, the Lieutenant-Governor is prepared to ask permission for the work to be taken up as a branch of the Northern Bengal Railway.

Water communications.

29. The District Board's expenditure on public works extends in several districts to the maintenance and improvement of water communications as well as roads. This is especially the case in the Dacca Division, and the Lieutenant-Governor regrets that the Commissioner's report furnishes little information under this head. The outlay in the four districts of this division amounted to Rs. 1,94,335 on original works and Rs. 1,00,220 on repairs, and a considerable share of this, especially in Backergunge, may be presumed to have been spent in improving the waterway of the country. It is satisfactory to notice that the attention of the District Board of the 24-Pergunnahs has been drawn to the improvement of the two important khalls, one from Joynagore to the Magrahat railway station, and the other from Rajarhat to Sarisha. Much has been done during the year to improve the condition of the first channel, and it is hoped that in a short time these channels may be kept open for traffic throughout the year. From the Chittagong Division it is reported that some projects of canal communication are under the consideration of the District Boards of Tipperah and Noakholly, and it is expected that action will be taken on them during the coming cold season. The Chittagong District Board derives an income of Rs. 11,578 from canal tolls. Most of the canals are farmed, and the expenditure incurred was only Rs. 194. The re-excavation of the Banskhally canal will, however, be undertaken this year.

Steam river service.

30. Several of the District Boards have subsidised or undertaken a service of steam river communication. The steamer service between Damookdea and Rampore Beauleah runs three times a week each way, for which the Rajshahye District Board pays a subsidy of Rs. 200 per month continued during the whole of the year, and the question of a daily service each way is now under consideration. A subsidy was paid for a part of the year by the Pubna District Board towards the maintenance of a steamer service between Pubna and Kushtea, but the undertaking proved to be an unprofitable one, and the line has been closed. It is hoped that it may soon be re-opened with a more liberal subsidy from the Board. The steam-ferry between Naraingunge and Rekabi Bazaar continued to be under the direct management of the District Board of Dacca up to the 3rd September 1888, when it was temporarily transferred to the Eastern Bengal State Railway. It was worked at a small loss; but considering all the advantages of the service to the public, the expenditure was fully justified. There is a very useful daily steamer service between Burrisal and Khoolna, to which the Backergunge District Board paid a subsidy of Rs. 4,798. Mr. Worsley points out that some action should be taken by the Boards concerned to render the journey to Furreedpore from Tipperah-Kandi, where the Goalundo despatch steamer calls, more secure than at present. For this journey a country boat only is entertained, but it would be better if a steam-ferry could be arranged for. The steamer communication between Noakholly and Burrisal is now a permanent arrangement. The Company is paid a subsidy of Rs. 200 a month by the District Board of Noakholly. The steamer which runs bi-weekly touches several of the islands. This arrangement will, the Board apprehend, cause a reduction of Rs. 3,000 in their ferry receipts, but is a great convenience to the public. In Chittagong a proposal was started for plying a steamer between Chittagong and Naraingunge with intermediate stations, but it was not matured, and is believed to be still under the consideration of the District Board Establishments.

31. The total expenditure on Public Works establishments shows a very small increase over that in the previous year. Fuller information should have given the percentage of this expenditure on the total outlay on public works in each district.

Administration.

32. The cost of general administration has largely increased from Rs. 1,71,457 to Rs. 2,46,732. No explanation is furnished under this head, and the omission is one which should be rectified by Commissioners in future reports.

Education.

33. Under sections 62, 64 and 65 of the Act, the entire maintenance and management of the Government middle English and middle vernacular schools, the administration of the grant-in-aid allotments in respect of middle English and vernacular schools, and the management of the primary grants have been vested in the District Boards. The total expenditure incurred during the year is shown in the accounts submitted as Rs. 10,30,809, against Rs. 11,01,841 in 1887-88. These figures do not exactly correspond with those which have been furnished by the Director of Public Instruction, which show an expenditure of Rs 9,54,885 and Rs. 9,29,759, respectively. The information given by Commissioners in the reports under review does not enable the Government to summarise the expenditure under different heads, or to compare in a compendious form the increase and decrease in the number of schools and pupils during the two past years. The Lieutenant-Governor is, therefore, compelled to fall back on the report of the Director of Public Instruction, from which the following summary of the expenditure incurred is compiled:—

35. The returns submitted relate to expenditure only, and do not enable a statement to be prepared showing the number of schools and scholars maintained and aided by District Boards independently of municipalities. No comparative figures therefore for the whole of the province can be given under this head. For particular districts, however, information is given on which the following observations are based.

Primary schools.

36. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to notice that, notwithstanding a small increase in total expenditure, in many districts the number of primary schools has decreased. In the Burdwan Division the number of primary schools has fallen off from 10,209 to 9,851, and the number of primary school pupils from 244,102 to 238,535. The explanation of this is insufficient. In Bankoora the decrease is said to be owing to the District Board giving less rewards to pathsalas. The Deputy Inspector of Schools, however, considers that the Board spent too much money in rewards, and that they should spend more in increasing the number of stipendiary pathsalas. In any case the reduction of 111 schools and 2,928 pupils is unsatisfactory, and should have been further explained by the Commissioner. No explanation whatever is given of the loss of 146 schools in the Burdwan district and 6,886 pupils. It is reported that of the money available for primary education in the Burdwan Division, 20 per cent. was not spent at all. Other reasons assigned for the decrease in this and other divisions are the enforcement of stricter rules regarding the admission of pathsalas to compete at the primary examinations, the occurrence of unusual floods necessitating the withdrawal of boys from the schools, and the introduction of the stipendiary and the circle pundit systems by which greater supervision is exercised over primary schools and payments are made according to results. In the Midnapore district, where the Government declined to increase the grant from Provincial Revenues on account of maintenance of ferries, the District Board resolved to charge the whole anticipated loss of income to the grant for primary education. This action of the Board has come under the separate consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor, and he has expressed his strong disapproval of the policy adopted. Any retrenchments necessary to restore financial equilibrium should have been rateably distributed, and it was highly improper on the part of the Board to enforce the whole reduction on the one grant which of all others it was least desirable to reduce. In the Dacca Division there was a gain of 34 upper primary schools and 144 pupils, and a loss of 175 lower primary schools and 4,019 pupils. In explaining the cause of the decrease in the number of lower primary schools in Mymensingh, the Chairman of the District Board observes that "in former years many schools which were not regular schools at all, but were only got together for the purpose of obtaining rewards, were shown as lower primary schools. A more careful scrutiny into the case of such schools has led to the omission of several of them." In Furreedpore the decrease is ascribed to "the disappearance of many of the season pathsalas which had been started in the preceding year by mercenary gurus, to most of which the District Board could not pay the promised rewards, and a few that were paid were paid less than their dues, owing to the primary allotment at the disposal of the Board being inadequate for the purpose." In the Bhagulpore Division the number of primary schools has diminished by 353, and there is a reported loss of 4,108 pupils. The Commissioner of the Chittagong Division reports of the Tipperah District Board that there is a very distinct inclination to foster middle class schools at the expense of the primary grant, and in Noakholly it is observed that there is a small decrease in the number of primary schools and pupils. In Orissa also there is a decrease which is attributed to the bad harvest of the year.

37. It is stated by the Jessore District Board that Rs. 2,765 of the primary grant remained unallotted simply owing to the inability of the members of the Board to distribute the money before the close of the year. Many other districts did not spend the full amount at their disposal for educational purposes, and the result, as reported by the Director of Public Instruction, is a saving of nearly Rs. 70,000 in round numbers. Midnapore saved Rs. 11,000, Backergunge and Durbhunga Rs. 7,000 each, Chittagong, Shahabad, and Monghyr Rs. 5,000 each, and other districts smaller sums. The Midnapore Board reduced its primary grant from Rs. 33,329 to Rs 27,829.

38. The following remarks on the educational administration of District Boards during the year, and on the relations between the Boards and departmental officers, are extracted from the Report of the Director of Public Instruction :—

"It was pointed out last year that the educational work of the Boards is in most districts dealt with in the first instance by Educational Sub-Committees, whose proceedings are afterwards confirmed by the Boards. In other districts educational duties are transferred, together with the necessary funds, to Local Boards In some districts both systems are now combined. In Jessore, for instance, the operations of the District Board in regard to education, both secondary and primary, were conducted by the Local Boards, subject to the control of a standing Educational Committee of its own. In the 24-Pergunnahs and Khoolna the administration of education was not delegated to Local Boards. In Nuddea and Moorshedabad some duties are delegated to Local Boards and others retained in the hands of the District Board. All the districts of the Burdwan Division have Educational Sub-Committees, Bankoorah apparently a remarkably active one. These deal in the first instance with educational questions, and the proceedings are confirmed by the Board But in all the districts, except Midnapore and Howrah, the Boards have transferred their educational duties, in part or wholly, to the several Local Boards under them. In the district of Burdwan the District Board has transferred its powers of control and management of both primary and secondary schools to the Local Boards, and the Education Committee has now very little work to do. Mr Clay considers this proceeding as 'at least premature.' In the district of Pubna there are two Local Boards entrusted with educational duties—one at Pubna and one at Serajgunge. In Rajshahye there are three Local Boards—one at the Sudder, one at Nayagaon, and one at Nattore, to whom primary education in their respective sub-divisions has been made over. It does not appear that Local Boards have been entrusted with any educational duties in the Dacca Division. There are Educational Committees in the Dacca and Mymensingh districts. In the Patna Division, Chumparun is the only district as yet without a Local Board. In Mozufferpore and Shahabad the whole educational work of the district appears to have been made over to Local Boards. The other District Boards have reserved to themselves the entire control of educational affairs There seem to be Educational Sub-Committees in all the districts of the Patna Division. In Monghyr, in the Bhagulpore Division, the Local Boards have been entrusted with the conduct of primary education. In Cuttack primary schools have, with the sanction of Government, been made over during the year to Local Boards in the three sub-divisions comprising the district. Though good results may be attained by the transfer of certain educational functions to Local Boards, it seems desirable that every District Board should form a permanent Educational Committee. It appears that this is the only way of getting educational questions properly attended to. It is the opinion of Mr. Bellett that the Deputy Inspector should in all cases be a member of the District Board. The opinions expressed in other divisional reports seem to tend in the same direction. Much depends evidently upon the Chairman. Mr. Bellett ascribes the success of the Rajshahye and Rungpore District Boards to the interest which Mr. Phillips and Mr. Skrine take in educational matters.

"It appears that there has been a considerable reduction of expenditure in the district of Bhagulpore This is ascribed to want of funds. But the Assistant Inspector points out that in 1887-88 more than Rs. 4,000 was left unexpended. In 1888-89 the income from pounds and ferries having fallen, the Board prepared a budget for a sum less by about Rs. 2,000 than the allotment made by Government, and nevertheless more than Rs. 1,000 was left unexpended. In the current year more than Rs. 1,100 has been taken away from the Education Fund for dispensaries. In the Burdwan district the total unspent balance of the primary allotment for 1887-88 and 1888-89 amounts to Rs. 2, 59. The Assistant Inspector states that there has been short expenditure of primary money not only in the Burdwan district, but in all other districts of the Burdwan Division. In the Presidency Division the Deputy Inspector of Jessore complains that a part of the primary allotment remains unspent, as no meeting of the District Board was held before the close of the year. Complaints come from certain quarters of delay in the despatch of business on the part of District Boards. It may be confidently expected that when the Boards have perfected their system a little more, the grievances alluded to will disappear. I have already mentioned another objectionable feature in the administration of District Boards—the saddling of Sub-Inspectors with the duty of inspecting pounds. This will be rendered impossible by the revised Local Self-Government rules now under the consideration of Government.

"The position of Deputy Inspectors under the Local Self-Government Act is apt, under certain circumstances, to become anomalous and uncomfortable. There can be no doubt that in some districts Boards do not pay the attention to their suggestions which they deserve, and they are in consequence not as much respected by the managers and masters of schools as they used to be This, however, appears to be the exception and not the rule. No friction is reported this year from the Dacca or Chittagong Divisions. In Shahabad there is the same ill-feeling that prevailed last year In Balasore there is some disagreement between the Local Boards and the Deputy Inspector. In Pooree a vexatious attitude appears to have been adopted towards the Deputy Inspector. In the Burdwan Division the recommendations of some Deputy Inspectors have been occasionally treated with injudicious neglect. I gather that in the Presidency Division there is a tendency to ignore the department in approving the appointment of middle school teachers that may be prejudicial to the interests of secondary education. It is evident that some Boards have not as yet realised the exact nature of the duties imposed upon them in connection with education by the Local Self-Government Act. For instance, the Chairman of the Pubna District Board, quite misunderstanding the position of the Deputy Inspector as a departmental officer, concludes his report with the following paragraph:—'I think that the present arrangements, by which the Boards are responsible for the efficiency of primary education, while the Deputy Inspector, who should be their chief executive officer, is wholly under the Inspector, are not conducive to progress and the highest efficiency.' Mr. Bellett justly points out that the Chairman seems to be under the impression that the Board has nothing to do with middle schools. When a Board takes this view of the relations between itself and the Deputy Inspector, it is scarcely surprising that friction should arise. There can be no doubt, however, that the general aspect of the relations between the District Boards and the department is satisfactory. It seems that friction is most apt to arise when the Deputy Inspector is not a member of the District Board. In such a case it is very difficult for the Deputy Inspector to have the requisite knowledge of the Board's proceedings. The Board also lose the assistance of an experienced adviser. Misunderstandings must of necessity arise. I have already referred to Mr. Bellett's opinion that the Deputy Inspector should be an official member of the District Board. This is probably the best solution of the problem, and it is the more necessary as the District Board obviously cannot devote much of its time to educational business. This is naturally disappointing to zealous departmental officers, and accounts for complaints about the apathy and inactivity of Boards in educational matters requiring immediate attention On the whole, the impression produced on my mind by an examination of the divisional reports is that it is essential for the successful working of the Local Self Government Act, in connection with education, that every Board should appoint a standing Educational Committee, that the Deputy Inspector should be a member of the District Board, and of course of the Educational Committee. It seems also very desirable that District Boards should furnish Circle Inspectors with copies of their own educational proceedings and of those of Local Boards subordinate to them."

39. The Lieutenant-Governor invites the attention of all District Boards to the excellent criticism which these remarks convey. They leave little for the Government to add. The proposal to appoint the Deputy Inspector of Schools as ex-officio member of the District Board has been long under consideration, and it is believed that in almost all districts he has now been appointed a member. In districts where this has not been done, the appointment will now be made at the first opportunity. It should be unnecessary for the Lieutenant-Governor to point out that it is incumbent on the Chairman of every District Board to take such measures as will obviate any friction between the working of the Boards and of the officers of the Education Department. The Lieutenant-Governor will conclude this section of the present review by expressing his dissatisfaction at the neglect on the part of District Boards, which has been too clearly evidenced in the reports received, to insist on the grant placed at their disposal for primary education being fully and properly expended. His Honour must rely on Commissioners and on Chairmen of Boards to see that this important duty is more faithfully discharged. It should be distinctly understood by all concerned that no proposal to raise or assist any other class of schools at the expense of the primary grant will be tolerated either by the Boards or by Government.

Special schools.

40. A technical school was established in Rungpore by the District Board in January last. Carpentering, blacksmith's work, freehand-drawing, surveying, and levelling are taught. This sort of school is much needed in parts of the country where handicrafts are at a low ebb, and the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to see the example of Rungpore imitated by other Boards. During the current year the Rungpore Board have started on a small scale a Sanskrit Tole and a Madrassa for the encouragement of oriental classical literature in the district.

Female medical education.

41. The question of the establishment of a system of stipends and scholarships with a view to the promotion of female medical education, and the ultimate increase in the supply of female native doctors and trained nurses, appears to have received the attention of the District Boards, and in many instances funds were provided and scholarships founded, but little or no advantage was taken of the opportunities offered. In Cuttack four females, who had availed themselves of the scholarships offered by the District Board, were undergoing training in the Cuttack Medical School, and one of them succeeded in passing the examination qualifying for Civil Hospital Assistant. One of the scholarships offered by the District Board of Tipperah was given to a native female of the name of Parameshari Changa. She was admitted into the Campbell Medical School, Calcutta, but left it on failing to pass the annual examination. No other instances are reported. The result is disappointing; but District Boards should persevere in this beneficent work. In other provinces far greater success has been attained, and the Lieutenant-Governor sees no reason why female medical education should be more backward in Bengal than it is in Madras and elsewhere.

Medical.

42. The following statement shows the number of dispensaries maintained, or partly maintained, by the District Boards, and the cost incurred during the year:

District Board.	Names of dispensaries.	Cost of maintenance.	Remarks
		Rs.
Burdwan	Mancoor	597	Of this amount, Rs. 92 were privately subscribed, and Rs 150 received from Government as half-pay of the Civil Hospital Assistant.

Jessore	Jhenidah	769

Khoolna	Bagirhat	410
Dinagepore	Thakurgaon	498	Rupees 255 were also expended in clearing jungle around Thakurgaon and Baloorghat, and charged under "Sanitation"

	Dup Chanchia
Sarun	Dighwara	3,598

	Protabgunge
Purneah	Basuntpore	358
Pooree	Khoorda	376
Balasore	Bhuddruck	966	Supported partly by private subscriptions.

43. Besides the above expenditure, many of the District Boards contributed towards the support of medical institutions which were not under their direct management, and in some instances money was spent in affording medical relief during epidemics. In Midnapore the District Board contributed Rs. 729 towards the support of charitable dispensaries, and the District Board of Beerbhoom gave Rs. 262 towards the maintenance of the Soory dispensary. The District Board of Rungpore provided a sum of Rs. 1,760 for the purpose of affording medical relief. Of this amount, Rs. 519-8 were expended during a severe outbreak of cholera. A special native doctor was also appointed to attend the coolies employed by the Board. A grant of Rs. 25 per mensem was made to the Gaibanda dispensary, and a similar grant was sanctioned for the Kurigram dispensary. In Mymensingh the District Board entertained a trained midwife for the purpose of attending cases. The Monghyr District Board contributed Rs. 100 and Rs. 40 to the Sudder charitable dispensary and the Begusarai dispensary respectively. The contribution to the latter dispensary has since been increased to Rs. 50. The Bhagulpore District Board also subscribed Rs. 50 a month to the charitable dispensary at the head-quarters of the district. The Maldah District Board sanctioned Rs. 100 for the treatment of cholera patients, of which Rs. 5-15-6 only was expended under the supervision of the civil medical officer during the year under report.

44. It will be seen from this account that the responsibilities imposed and expenditure incurred by District Boards in regard to medical institutions are inconsiderable. An outlay of only Rs. 25,000 in Bengal is represented by more than two lakhs in the Punjab and about three lakhs in Madras. Among other changes which may be contemplated in the administrative functions of local bodies in Bengal, it seems desirable that steps should be taken to assimilate their duties to those undertaken by similar bodies in other Provinces in the Medical Department. But if their powers are to be enlarged in this direction, the change must necessarily be accompanied by an increase in the resources placed at their disposal.

Sanitation.

45. Very little progress was made in the way of sanitary improvements during the year, and in many instances, where funds were provided, the money was either not utilized at all or only partially expended. The only districts in which expenditure was incurred on sanitary works are mentioned in the margin. In Midnapore a sum of Rs. 1,000 was provided, and allotments were made to each of the Local Boards; but beyond the re-excavation of two old tanks in the Tumlook subdivision, and the partial sinking of a well in the Sudder subdivision, nothing was done, and out of the total amount provided four-fifths remained unspent. In Backergunge the money was spent in excavating a tank in Dakhin Shahabazpore, while in Dacca little or nothing was effected. In Mymensingh Rs. 10,000 were allotted for sanitary purposes, such as the excavation of tanks and the sinking of wells for the supply of good drinking-water. Out of this amount Rs. 880 only were spent in excavating two tanks and a well. The reason of the Board's inability to utilize the remainder is thus explained by their Chairman:—"This being the first time that grants for such works were made by the District or Local Boards in this district, the petitions for grants were received late, and it was impossible to get the estimates prepared and sanctioned by the Inspector of Local Works and the Commissioner in time to be able to spend the allotment before the close of the year." In Patna and Gya the money was spent in sinking wells. In Cuttack the sum of Rs. 1,000 provided for in the previous year's budget was drawn from the treasury, and credited to the Jagannath Road Fund for investment before the close of the year. It is proposed to expend the interest derived therefrom in sinking wells along the Jagannath Road.

District.	Amount expended. Rs.
Midnapore ...	... 199
Backergunge	... 702
Dacca ...	... 417
Mymensingh	... 880
Patna ...	... 374
Gya ...	... 108

These results are most unsatisfactory, and serve only to illustrate the fact that without the appointment of local agencies, specially entrusted with matters relating to village sanitation and empowered to raise the necessary funds, very little improvement can be expected in this direction. The question of organizing Union Committees is under consideration, and the Lieutenant-Governor hopes before very long to be able to submit definite proposals on the subject. Legislation, however, appears to be necessary, and the whole question is beset with difficulties, to which allusion has already been made in this resolution.

Famine relief.

46. The total amount of expenditure shown under the head of Famine Relief is only Rs. 21,064, the whole of which was incurred in the Patna Division. The accounts under this head are, however, not yet settled. At first the procedure followed was to treat these works in the affected area as Civil Agency works under the Famine Code, while the supervision was left to the District Board. But later on the relief of distress was made a direct object of the Board's attention The cost actually incurred during the year is shown in a large measure under the head of Public Works, the expenditure in the Durbhunga district under "Repairs" alone amounting to Rs. 1,41,223. The total expenditure incurred in famine relief is subject to subsequent adjustment between the Boards and the Government.

In regard to the financial responsibility of District Boards in dealing with famine, the principle has been laid down that the Boards, as an integral part of the administration of the country, are bound in the first instance, when the necessity for famine relief shows itself, to divert their whole resources (subject only to the maintenance of absolutely necessary works in non-affected tracts) to combating famine. The executive responsibility of the Boards in affording famine relief is assumed, and the financial responsibility is also in some measure insisted on. But the Lieutenant-Governor admits that as the correlative of this responsibility it will be incumbent on the Government, when the Boards are at an end of their resources, to place them in a position not only to carry on their campaign against a famine, but also to perform their ordinary functions of keeping the district communications in proper repair. If under these orders the Boards are required to contribute largely towards famine expenditure, it must be remembered that their districts will ultimately largely profit by the outlay incurred. On the other hand, it is recognized that it is a matter of administrative convenience for the Government to utilise the establishments which the Boards are able to place at its disposal, and, having regard to all the circumstances of the arrangement, there will be no reluctance on the part of Government to adopt liberal principles in arriving at an equitable settlement with the Boards.

Miscellaneous.

47. Some attention is reported to have been paid by District Boards to arboriculture, and a small amount of money was spent in the planting of trees along the sides of roads. But the action taken in this direction appears to have been insufficient. The attention of the Public Works Department will be drawn to the subject. Small sums were also spent by some Boards in granting rewards for the destruction of noxious animals.

Refunds.

48. There is a considerable increase under the head of refunds from Rs. 14,694 to Rs. 63,105, due to adjustments. The principal item is a sum of Rs. 27,829 on account of rent of certain ferries managed by Government in Chumparan, which was wrongly credited to the District Board, and was transferred to Provincial revenues during the year.

General remarks

49. The Lieutenant-Governor will conclude this review by reproducing the observations recorded by Commissioners in their reports on the working of District and Local Boards during the year:—

Mr. Clay, the Officiating Commissioner of the Burdwan Division, writes:—

"Taking the year's results as a whole, it is seen that the Boards do not yet appear to have quite realised their responsibilities in the matter of primary education; have spent little or nothing on sanitation; while their expenditure on public works has not always been judicious. A great deal depends on the attitude taken by the official Chairman Where these do not abdicate their proper position, and make their legitimate influence felt, the best results may be expected; and there seems no reason why, with a certain amount of control from the higher authorities, the Boards should not in time do good and useful work, and give substantial help in the administration."

Mr. Smith, the Commissioner of the Presidency Division, observes:—

"From what I have seen, it seems to me that on the whole the system of local self-government has continued to work smoothly and successfully. The members generally have continued to take interest in the performance of the duties imposed on them by the Act. I have no doubt that the members of the various sub-committees will attend and take an intelligent interest in their work, if they feel that they are a real power in the disposal of the work. Much necessarily depends on the tact and capacity of the Chairman of any Committee, and the Chairman of a District Board is not an exception."

Mr. Alexander, the Officiating Commissioner of the Rajshahye Division, writes:—

"The District Boards generally worked satisfactorily during the year. The attendance at meetings was fairly good, and the several members took an interest in the transaction of business. Mr. Phillips, late Magistrate and Chairman of the District Board of Rajshahye, reports that the Nowgong and Sudder Local Boards of Rajshahye worked satisfactorily, but he is of opinion that the Nattore Local Board was simply a farce.

"The Local Boards in Pubna worked well during the year. Mr. Fiddian, Chairman of the District Board, writes as follows:—

"'In the matter of opening out communications, the Local Boards have been in better touch with the localities concerned than under the old system, and so have been able to open out village roads and branch connecting roads to a considerable extent without having to acquire any land for the purpose. With only one or two exceptions all the land they have wanted for new roads has been given up for the purpose without objection.'

"Mr. Skrine, Chairman of the Rungpore District Board, is of opinion that the Sudder and Gybanda Local Boards have worked well, but that the Kurigram and Nelphamari Local Boards, which have non-official Chairmen, are inefficient organizations.

Mr. Worsley, the Officiating Commissioner of Dacca, says:—

"All the District and Local Boards appear to have worked satisfactorily during the year, and the district officers bear unanimous testimony to the zeal, interest, public spirit, and intelligence displayed by the members in the discharge of the duties entrusted to them. There was no friction between the Boards and any of the local authorities, and work on the whole was done smoothly. A good deal of the District Board's work is performed by Sub-Committees, the members of which brought considerable intelligence to bear upon the questions laid before them, and generally gave much of their time and attention to the work."

Mr. Stevens, the Officiating Commissioner of the Bhagulpore Division, makes the following report:—

"Four meetings of the Bhagulpore Board were adjourned for want of a quorum. Mr. Wace remarks on this failure:—'With so large a number of members as 40, and half of these scattered over this straggling district, the quorum is sometimes hard to obtain, unless the business is very important; but the large Board was deliberately proposed by me to ensure all parts of the district being represented.' He goes on to say:—'The interest shown at meetings is encouraging, and the work done by the Education and Finance Committees most satisfactory. The Board showed a laudable readiness to provide in good time what funds they could afford for relief works. They have selected for these some very useful new lines of communication. They made a forcible representation to Government during the year to try and get a more liberal allotment of funds, and having received a final refusal, have set themselves in good earnest to make the most of the money available for education and dispensaries.'

"Regarding the Purneah Board, Mr. Price remarks:—'From what I have seen of the working of the Local Self-Government scheme in this district, I come to the understanding that the members of the various Boards take a great interest in the performance of the functions delegated to them, and the attendance at District Board meetings is always very full and the discussions very animated. Much real business is done. At the same time I think the District Boards interfere too much in matters requiring for their proper disposal professional knowledge and a more thorough acquaintance with localities than any of its members except the Chairman is ever likely to acquire. The recommendations of the District Engineer are too often, I might almost say invariably, negatived, and as a matter of course much friction is caused, which seriously interferes with the expeditious prosecution of work.'

"The attendance of the members of the District Board and of the Committees was on the whole fair. Those members who cannot attend the Board regularly help in looking after the roads in their neighbourhood, and interest themselves in other respects in District Board work. I had no experience of the District Boards during the year, and have not yet seen much of their work; but from what I have seen, I have formed on the whole favourable impressions."

Mr. Boxwell, the Officiating Commissioner of the Patna Division, writes:—

"The District Boards are generally praised for working harmoniously. Mr. Grierson discusses the question whether his Board is representative or an assembly of notables. Mr. Beadon says the lawyers on his Board are extremely obstructive. I think all the criticism just, and some of it useful. Much of it is of the nature of awarding marks for merit as to school-boys—for intelligent interest, regular attendance, and so forth. But it seems to me that if the members stayed at home they would do just as much good. The best members are the indigo-planters, who attend few meetings but readily supervise the repairs of roads in their neighbourhood. The Durbhunga Board, following the lead of their Chairman, the District Officer, voted large sums of money for the relief of distress by excellent road-making, and then, dominated by zemindars and lawyers, tried to make itself incapable of this good work by refusing to levy the cess at the required rate. Mr. Beadon writes the best and most minute criticism. Mr. Bourdillon gives the neatest summary. He says:—'The working triumvirate of Chairman, Vice-Chairman and District

Engineer carry on the work, and the Board acquiesce, and in important cases advise and vote. Nothing more than this seems to be required, and on that understanding the Board have worked successfully. Our roads are well kept up; we have opened more dispensaries and patshalas, and all this without friction or trouble. So I suppose we may 'plaudit.'

"Mr Beadon goes carefully into detail, and proves, first, that the scheme relieves the District Officer of no part of his work. The help given by the planters in looking after roads is very great. That given by zemindars, either in action or advice, is almost nothing. And then he shows how the lawyers make their own or their client's interest the first object. Executive Officers and Judges are what the people want. The best Executive Officer is a man who understands, but is free from, and above, all local parties—the Roman among the provincials. Committees are comitia, little parliaments. What they would like to do, they cannot be permitted to do: what they are set to do, they do not know how to do. They would like to affirm principles and regulate taxation. All this is done for them over their heads. They are set to carry out works, which a mediocre Executive Officer can do better than the best Committee. Therefore all the praise of Committees is excerpatory. The work is done now, as long ago, by the District Officer and the Engineer. As soon as a Committee tries to affirm a principle, the Government has to step in and bid it vote right."

Mr. Lyall, the Commissioner of the Chittagong Division, says:—

"The Magistrate of Chittagong reports that the members of both the District and Municipal Boards took a keen interest in all matters put before them. The chief weakness of the Chittagong Boards appears to me to be their disinclination to deal properly with such of their subordinates who commit, or attempt to commit, fraud, and generally to deal vigorously with abuses. In this respect there is certainly room for improvement.

"The Tipperah Boards generally worked well. There have been some disputes between some members of the Comillah municipal body since the close of the year, and during the year the Chairman of the Brahmanberiah Board revived a dispute that I settled two years ago regarding a strip of land by the Government offices, and in resisting his claims, as the Sub-divisional Officer very properly did, some friction took place.

"In Noakholly both the District and Municipal Boards did their duty. The Collector would like to see more natives of the district and more Mahomedans on the Boards. The difficulty is to get good men in a district where all the largest landowners are non-resident.

"I can only repeat what I said last year. The successful working of Boards must depend on the energy and working power of the officer whose duty it is to put work before the Board. A Board will generally follow a good lead, but if left without guidance to search for the right way, they often fail. There is also a tendency to divert money granted for primary education to middle schools, and to spend an undue amount on this class of schools. This will have to be very closely watched, or primary education will suffer."

Mr. Hopkins, the Officiating Commissioner of the Orissa Division, does not record any opinion of his own, but transmits the remarks recorded by the Collectors of Pooree and Balasore as follows:—

"The District Board of Pooree consists of six elected and six nominated members. The Magistrate reports that the Board held 13 meetings and got through a great deal of useful work. There was no difficulty in obtaining a quorum, and the members worked harmoniously with the executive. He makes favourable mention of the non-official members, who practically carried on the work for the latter part of the year. The Local Boards of Pooree and Khoorda held three and four meetings respectively. The Magistrate reports:—'They have been gradually getting into proper working order, and the Khoorda Board formed useful Sub-Committees for managing the dispensary at Khoorda and for the supervision of education.'

"The District Board of Balasore held 10 meetings and the Local Board 6. The Local Board of Bhuddruck held 15 meetings, in 11 of which there was no quorum. The following are his remarks on the working of these Committees:—'These Committees have on the whole worked quite as well as could be expected in so backward a district. They have not developed any startling excess of public spirit, but have generally considered fairly the business laid before them, and given the executive advice and help.'"

50. Upon the whole the Lieutenant-Governor considers that the results of the year's administration amply justify the remarks with which he closed last year's report. He then wrote:—"Sir Steuart Bayley's opinion is that when we have found in some instances considerable success, and in no instance failure; when we have to some extent awakened public interest and enlisted public spirit without impairing efficiency in administration; and when the majority of district officers are working in cordial sympathy with the local bodies, it may fairly be said that the first experience of the measure gives good promise of its satisfactory establishment." The working of District Boards during the past year has not been devoid of blemishes: the defects have been pointed out in this review; but generally speaking it has been satisfactory. As a rule the interest taken by the members of a Board in its working is great: the attendance in many districts is creditable, and there is a praiseworthy desire to aim at successful administration. On the other hand, there are signs in some cases of timidity; in others of inexperience in the transaction of public business; in others of the undue subordination of public to private purposes; and in many instances there is an unwise tendency to excessive interference with the executive in professional questions. These defects are indeed not peculiar to District Boards in Bengal, but are inherent in every system of Local Self-Government in all countries. They are far more than compensated by the advantage of entrusting the management of local affairs into the hands of those who from the nature of the case are most permanently interested in its success. Local Self-Government in Bengal is still in its infancy and awaits development in all departments, but it promises well. What appears to be now chiefly needed is more organization and opportunities for advice, encouragement, and, where necessary, supervision and control to be exercised by a higher authority with larger experience and observation of the working of Boards throughout the whole Province and in other Provinces of India than can now be supplied by Magistrates and Commissioners, who are absorbed in their own work of administration, and cannot discharge the functions which would properly devolve on a Central Board with an official President at its head. It is impossible for the Lieutenant-Governor to directly undertake these duties, and he apprehends that the constitution of such a Board of control as was originally contemplated when the scheme of Local Self-Government was first introduced into Bengal will soon become an administrative necessity. The resources of District Boards call for further development; their assets are at present altogether insufficient to meet the responsibilities which properly devolve on such bodies, and are fulfilled by District Boards in other parts of India. The administration of Public Works, of Education, and especially of the Sanitary Department calls for more direct supervision and guidance than the Local Government is able to give, and if Local Self-Government in Bengal is to receive its proper expansion, it will, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, be necessary to supplement the district working of local bodies with the assistance and support and capacity for organization which a central authority with leisure and ability for such a task will alone be in a position to afford.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

APPENDIX E.

Local Self-Government—Circular No. L^{U}_{T}13, dated Calcutta, the 6th August 1889.

From—H. J. S. Cotton, Esq., Offg. Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department,

To—All Commissioners of Divisions (except Chota Nagpore).

In again drawing your attention to the correspondence* on the subject of unions to be formed under the Bengal Local Self-Government Act, 1885, I am directed to invite your special consideration to the orders passed by the Government of India upon the report on the working of District Boards in Bengal during the 18 months from 1st October 1886 to 31st March 1888, in which that Government particularly dwell on the absence of village unions in Bengal, and suggest their organization with reference to their becoming agencies for village sanitation. I am to enclose herewith spare copies of this letter from the Government of India, No. 2, dated 15th March 1889, and also of two extracts from this Government report on the working of District Boards in Bengal, the first of which refers to the circumstances under which Union Committees have not yet been appointed in these Provinces, and the second to village sanitation.

* See papers published in the Supplement to the Calcutta Gazette of 2nd April 1884.

2. The question raised by the Government of India is, as you are aware, a very difficult one, and hitherto all attempts to organize village Committees in Bengal have proved a failure. The difficulties in this respect are largely due to the form of legislation adopted in the present Act. It was originally contemplated that Union Committees should constitute the unit of administration for purposes of Local Self-Government. The District Board was to be a controlling authority only. Subsequently, when it was decided that the District Board was to be the administrative unit under the Act, the portions of the law relating to unions were not completely altered to meet the change, and an independent authority is now vested in unions which is inconsistent with the position they were intended to assume as agents to whom power should be delegated through the District and Local Boards.

3. Under section 56 of the Act, a separate Union Fund is constituted. Such a fund having a separate legal existence cannot be incorporated with any other local fund, and under the rules of the Financial Department, it becomes a separate incorporated fund, and must submit accounts to the Accountant-General. These accounts must be submitted in English, and the employment of a clerk who knows English becomes therefore imperatively necessary. The accounts of the fund must also under the rules be annually inspected by the local accounts inspecting establishment. But as the income of a Union Committee must in any case be very small, and has been estimated to amount to only about Rs. 400 a year on an average, the considerations mentioned render the adoption of the scheme practically impossible, and it has therefore been tacitly recognized that no steps could be undertaken to organize Union Committees until the Act should be amended and the Union Fund made part of the District Fund.

4. Again, under section 104 of the Act, it is declared that the Union Committee "shall have the control and administration of, and be responsible for, all matters specified in this Chapter,* except such of those matters as the Local Board may think fit to take under its direct control and administration." The matters specified in the Chapter referred to are village roads, pounds, primary schools, dispensaries, registration of vital statistics, and sanitation generally. But the Local Boards under section 101 are only empowered to take up such matters and discharge such duties as may be made over to them by the District Board or Government. No powers have as a general rule been entrusted to them except in regard to pounds and village roads, and it appears therefore that if Union Committees were established, they would at once have control and administration of all matters mentioned in Chapter III, Part III of the Act, except in respect of pounds and village roads and any other matters which the Local Boards may have already been empowered to take under their direct charge. In other words, the Union Committees would exercise jurisdiction independently and as a right, and would not derive their powers from authority delegated to them by superior Boards.

* Chapter III, Part III.

5. The situation is further complicated by the provisions of section 56 of the Act, which declare absolutely that all sums accruing within the Union under the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871, shall be placed to the credit of the Union Fund. A Local Board, therefore, though it may retain the control and administration of a pound situated within a union, must, as the law at present stands, make over the whole of the receipts of such pound to the Union Committee.

6. In order to remedy these defects, it has been proposed to resort to legislation, under which the Union Fund shall form part of the District Fund, and shall consist exclusively of such sums as shall be assigned to it by the Local Board, which is the intermediate authority between the District Board and the Union Committee; while at the same time the complete subordination of Union Committees to the Local Boards shall be declared, and a power of control defined which is altogether wanting under the existing provisions of the law.

7. It was deliberately decided by Sir Rivers Thompson that it would be inadvisable to proceed with the appointment of Union Committees on occasion of the first introduction of the Local Self-Government scheme into these Provinces. In the circular which issued from this Department, Nos. 1325-29TM, dated 1st July 1886, it was said: "It is not intended at present to proceed with the appointment of Union Committees. It will be possible to arrange for this hereafter when the larger and more important bodies have got into working order. But at the present stage of a novel experiment, Sir Rivers Thompson feels that to attempt to deal with that order of intelligence which will ordinarily be found in Union Committees would be to import an unnecessary element of confusion which would seriously endanger the success of the whole scheme." It is now more than three years since these orders were passed, and the working of District and Local Boards has settled down into the groove of ordinary administration in most of the districts of Bengal. A sufficient time has elapsed for forming an opinion on the expediency of introducing Union Committees, and Sir Steuart Bayley now desires that a question, which was intentionally postponed in order that it might be brought forward when the necessary experience had been obtained, may be considered and discussed in the light of the experience which you and your District Officers and others interested in Local Self-Government in Bengal may be able to bring to bear upon it.

8. I am accordingly to request that, after consulting District Officers and District Boards, you will be so good as to report on the whole question of introducing Union Committees, and will see if you can devise any means of giving practical effect to the wishes of the Government of India in this direction. It is necessary that the question should be especially considered in its relation to the advancement of village sanitation. You will see that this is the point to which His Excellency the Governor-General in Council attaches particular importance. But I am to ask generally whether you can suggest any way by which Union Committees can be organized and powers and funds entrusted to them without emasculating the present Local Boards. The character of the legislation which has been proposed has already been described, and I am to enquire whether it appears to you to be sufficiently calculated to secure the desired object. Would you recommend that Local Boards should be constituted the intermediate agency between District Boards and Union Committees, and that they should be authorized to delegate their powers in regard to the disposal of funds to Union Committees? In any case how would you secure a proper control over such Committees? How would you keep them together as working bodies? It seems indisputable that Union Committees would not be fit to be entrusted with the introduction or execution of sanitary or conservancy measures except under proper control. Do you consider that the Local Boards, under the advice and control of District Boards, would be in a position to exercise any efficient and real control over such Committees? Do you consider that the Local Boards in such a case would still be able to exercise executive as well as controlling functions? or do you consider that if unions are established at all, they should be placed directly under the District Board or any other authority? What form of control, if any, is likely, in your opinion, to prove most effective?

9. In regard to village sanitation, a further question arises as to the powers which should be entrusted to Union Committees if they are established. Under the present Local Self-Government Act, the powers given are very small, and no rules have yet been laid down by the Lieutenant-Governor under section 87, enabling the District Board to provide for the proper sanitation of its district. It is not probable that sanitation will be greatly advanced in agricultural districts by the authoritative enforcement of rules which are in advance of the social condition and requirements of the people. The enforcement of rules must depend principally upon the people themselves, and if premature attempts at sanitary reform are thrust upon them, the result is likely to be only harassment and oppression at the hands of local officials The powers to be given to Union Committees, and the character of the sanction under which the orders of the Committee are to be enforced, present, therefore, difficulties of a practical character, upon which the Lieutenant-Governor desires to be favoured with an expression of your opinion. It has been suggested in this connection that some summary powers to inflict small punishments might be conferred on Union Committees; and although the Lieutenant-Governor is very doubtful of the expediency or even of the practicability of this proposal, it appears to him to call for consideration. It is believed that similar petty powers are entrusted to the village sanitary Boards and punchayets which have been appointed or are in contemplation in other provinces.

10. The Lieutenant-Governor will be glad if you will give your best thought to the means of overcoming the difficulties indicated in this letter, and will consult also all those gentlemen of your division, both official and non-official, who are most qualified to advise the Government on the subject. No unnecessary delay should be allowed to occur in the submission of your reply, but the Lieutenant-Governor desires that the whole question should be thoroughly considered before a reply is sent. It is very desirable that, as far as possible, the opinion of District Boards should be obtained on the proposal. Under any circumstances it is to the District Boards that Union Committees, if they are established, will have to look for the provision of funds for sanitary and other works.

No. 2, dated Calcutta, the 15th March 1889.

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Municipal Department.

I am directed to acknowledge the receipt of your letter No. 2657—M, dated the 9th November 1888, reporting on the working of District Boards constituted under Act III (B.C.) of 1885 in the Lower Provinces in Bengal during the eighteen months from the 1st of October 1886 to the 31st March 1888.

2. In reply, I am to say that, in examining the report submitted, the Governor-General in Council particularly directed his attention to ascertaining what indications it afforded of progress in village sanitation; and His Excellency in Council regrets to find that it shows but little progress in this direction. The Government of India agrees with what is understood to be the view of His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor that the want of sanitary progress in villages is largely due to the non-existence of village unions. The importance of the village organisation as an essential element of success in sanitary improvement in rural areas has been recognised in other provinces; and in Bombay and the Central Provinces legislation has been proposed to render that organisation more effectual even than it now is. In Madras, again, the village union is a most useful portion of the local governing agencies, and there appears to the Governor-General in Council no reason why well-directed and sustained efforts should not in time lead in Bengal to the establishment of equally useful bodies. His Excellency in Council has noticed with satisfaction the intention of the Lieutenant-Governor to take up the question; and as it is one to which the Government of India attaches great importance, His Excellency in Council hopes to receive more satisfactory reports regarding it in future years.

Extract from a Report on the working of District Boards in Bengal during the eighteen months ending 31st March 1888.

THE Act contemplates the constitution of three classes of local authorities, viz., District and Local Boards and Union Committees. Under the provisions of section 6, District Boards were constituted in each of the above-mentioned districts, and Local Boards were constituted in all districts where there are sub-divisions, except the districts of Chumparun, Dinagepore, Julpigoree, Chittagong, and Noakholly. No Union Committees have yet been appointed, and the Lieutenant-Governor fears, that there will be great difficulty in establishing these bodies. This is the more to be regretted, as there can be no doubt that they would have proved of valuable service to the public good. They would enlist an intelligence and experience of a wholly different character from those which are represented on the higher Boards, and would have worked under the stimulus of immediate local knowledge and local interest. The difficulty arises from the changes which the Bengal Local Self-Government Bill underwent before it was finally sanctioned by the Government of India. It was laid down by Sir Ashley Eden in the scheme submitted with my letter No. 921½, dated 8th April 1882, that "if any practical result is to be obtained from the extension of Local Self-Government, it is essential that the unit of administration should be the Local or Sub-divisional Board, and not the District Board." The District Board was only to be a controlling body. Below the Local Boards Sir Ashley Eden proposed in places to form subordinate committees to deal with village drainage, village water-supply, and village sanitation generally, to manage pounds and to superintend the construction and repair of village roads; and he referred to cases reported from the Serampore sub-division where the chowkidari punchayet had induced the villagers to subscribe for sanitary and other local improvements. This idea ultimately found expression in those portions of the Local Self-Government Bill which refer to Union Committees. Considerable correspondence with the Government of India took place during the ensuing two years, chiefly regarding the question of control, and ultimately the Bill took its present form, the District Board being the administrative unit and the Local Board its agent. The officers who have been consulted report that, with these two agencies at work, they see no immediate prospect of finding sufficient funds or employment for Union Committees, and that Union Committees can only be employed if the Local Boards are virtually superseded. Sir Steuart Bayley regrets that, as the law now stands, it will not be possible to give to this valuable provision of the law any extended application; but he is not without a hope that it may still be possible to make a limited experiment in this direction.

Extract from a Report on the working of District Boards in Bengal during the eighteen months ending 31st March 1888.

LITTLE has unfortunately been done under heading E, Sanitation, for want of funds, and the Lieutenant-Governor fears that there is not much hope of substantial progress in village sanitation under the agencies and with the funds now available. The question is now under consideration with reference to the recent Resolution of the Government of India, and every opportunity will be taken of bringing the views of Government before the local authorities; but Sir Steuart Bayley shares the opinion of Sir Ashley Eden, that it is to such bodies as Union Committees that we must look for the actual carrying out of anything like systematic village sanitation.

APPENDIX F.

MANAGEMENT OF CATTLE-POUNDS BY DISTRICT BOARDS AND MUNICIPALITIES.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT.

Calcutta, the 23rd October 1889.

RESOLUTION.

UNDER section 52, clause (3), of the Local Self-Government Act, III (B.C.) of 1885, the receipts under the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871, form one of the assets of the District Fund, and in order to ensure that administrative control should accompany financial responsibility, the Lieutenant-Governor has conferred on all District Boards, by notifications published in the Calcutta Gazette under the Cattle Trespass Act Amendment Act, XVIII of 1883, the powers of the District Magistrate under Chapters I to III of the Cattle Trespass Act, 1871. These powers relate to the establishment of pounds, the determination of the villages by which they are to be used, the appointment of pound-keepers, the fixing of fees for the feeding and watering of cattle, and generally to the executive management of pounds.

2. Similar powers have been conferred on the Commissioners of Municipalities in respect of all pounds situated within municipal limits, and it has been directed that the whole of the surplus proceeds of pounds situated within municipal limits shall be made over to the Municipal Commissioners.

3. As various questions relating to the local administration of pounds by District Boards and Municipalities have, from time to time, been raised, and some misunderstanding on certain points appears to prevail, the Lieutenant-Governor deems it advisable to issue the following instructions for the guidance of all officers concerned in the administration.

4. No powers have been conferred under Chapters V, VI, and VII of the Cattle Trespass Act. These powers are of a judicial nature, and are not such as could properly be exercised by a local body. Similarly, powers under Chapter IV of the Act, relating to the delivery and sale of cattle, which are of a quasi-judicial character, have not been transferred. The procedure for the sale of unclaimed cattle remains in the hands of the police under the control of the Magistrate. But although administrative control under this Chapter is not vested in local bodies, the whole of the surplus proceeds accruing under section 18 of the Act, including therefore the unclaimed proceeds of the sale of cattle, as well as fines, must be placed entirely to the credit of the local bodies concerned. Under section 17 of the Cattle Trespass Act, the Magistrate will hold the surplus unclaimed proceeds of the sale of cattle in deposit for three months, and after the expiry of this period, the amount of the deposit to which no claim has been established will be credited accordingly.

5. Under section 4 of the Cattle Trespass Act, pounds are to be established subject to the general control of the Local Government, and in paragraph 8 of Police circular S, which was promulgated with the authority of Government, dated 29th December 1879, it was laid down that no pounds should be established, except at police-stations, without the orders of Government. Subsequently, in circular No. 47, dated 7th September 1880, it was directed that in future the sanction of the Commissioner would be sufficient. The Lieutenant-Governor considers that the establishment of pounds and their number is a matter which may ordinarily be left to the local bodies in whom authority for their proper administration is vested. But occasions may arise when the action of two such bodies working independently may clash by reason of proximity of jurisdiction, or when agrarian feeling might render the establishment of pounds in particular localities detrimental to the public peace. It is right that in such cases the power of control should vest in the Commissioner, and for this purpose it will be necessary that the intention to establish a new pound should be notified a month previously to the Commissioner, who will be able, if necessary, to exercise his veto within that period. Otherwise it will be needless for him to interfere.

6. The pound revenues are a very important source of income, and the successful administration of this Department will afford a practical test of the efficiency of local bodies. The variations in the revenue from this source in different districts, similarly situated, are sufficient to show that adequate attention is not at present paid to the subject. In many districts during the past year the income from pounds has very largely fallen off: in others there is a satisfactory increase. But there is reason to believe that the number of pounds in each district and their locality are questions which have never yet come under the proper consideration of District Boards, and the Lieutenant-Governor has every confidence that the increased responsibility now delegated to local bodies will greatly augment the amount of attention now devoted to pound administration. As the whole of any increase in the receipts from pounds will be enjoyed by the local bodies, it is to their direct interest to devote themselves to their improvement.

7. In paragraphs 2 and 3 of the Government Resolution in this Department, dated 6th October 1886, it was ruled that the police should cease to exercise any control over pounds in municipalities which are farmed out; that "if any municipal pound is at present under the direct management of the police, and is not farmed out, the Police Department shall, if the Municipal Commissioners so desire, and not otherwise, continue to manage it on behalf of the Commissioners;" that if in the case of any municipal pound now managed by the police, the Municipal Commissioners should desire at any time to assume the management themselves or to farm it out, they would be at liberty to do so, and the Police Department would then cease to exercise control over such pounds; and finally, that if in any case the Municipal Commissioners assume the management of a pound, such pound shall not be retransferred to the management of the Police Department, except with the special sanction of Government. The policy is, however, now established that the police should, as far as possible, have no direct communication with, or be in any way subordinate to, local bodies, and in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion it is advisable that both Municipalities and District Boards should be left free to make their own arrangements for the administration of pounds. In supersession, therefore, of the orders cited, the Lieutenant-Governor now directs that the police shall no longer be placed in charge of pounds, and that local bodies be left to their own discretion either to let pounds in farm, or to manage them through their own servants.

8. Police officers should in future never be required to take charge of a pound belonging to a District Board or Municipality, whether situated at a police-station or not. The old practice under which pounds have been placed in charge of the police in the event of the sudden removal or absence of a farmer must be discontinued. It must be left to the local body concerned to make arrangements.

9. In the orders of the Government of India, No. 299, dated 27th September 1877, it was intimated that there was no objection to the appointment of officials such as literate constables, dâk Moonshies, distillery mohurirs and the like to the charge of cattle-pounds, with a small extra allowance, on the understanding that the extra work will not interfere with the performance of regular duties; and under the orders of the Government of India, No. 1804, dated 14th July 1877, Deputy Postmasters can be appointed pound-keepers. As pounds are now generally farmed, these orders can have little application. But they are still applicable to pounds when managed direct by local bodies, with the exception that police constables are not to be appointed in any case.

10. Under the orders of Government in the Police Department, No. 17J, dated 3rd August 1885, approval was accorded to a form of kabuliyat to be executed by lessees of cattle-pounds. In orders from the same Department, No. 848J, dated 21st June 1886, the forms of notice mentioned in the margin were sanctioned. These forms were prescribed before the management of pounds had been transferred to local bodies. The Lieutenant-Governor has now caused the necessary modifications to be made in these forms to make them applicable to District Boards, and the revised forms are annexed to this Resolution. Mutatis mutandis, the same forms should be used by municipalities. Local bodies should make their own arrangements for the supply of these forms.

Form No. 1.—A dakhalnamah putting a farmer in possession of the pound to which he is appointed.
" " 2.—Notice calling upon a farmer whose rent is in arrears, and from whose deposit a deduction has been made to satisfy the arrear demand, to pay in a sufficient sum to make up the deposit.
" " 3.—Notice to repair pound.

11. Pound rents, whether payable to District Boards or to Municipalities, are still public demands, and may be recovered by the Certificate procedure on the requisition of the Chairman concerned. The Lieutenant-Governor is advised that the executive authorities of both District Boards and Municipalities being vested with all the powers of the Magistrate under Chapters I and III of the Cattle Trespass Act, come within the definition of "a public officer of Government," mentioned in clause (8), section 7, of Act VII (B.C.) of 1880.

12. It has been clearly laid down that local bodies are to be entirely independent from, and are to hold no authority over, the Police. At the same time the Lieutenant-Governor expects that District Magistrates in their general controlling jurisdiction and as head of the Police will exercise a strict supervision over pound administration through the agency of the Police. The necessity of guarding against abuses in the administration of pounds must be recognized as an important executive duty, and now that the practice of farming pounds has become so general, it is especially incumbent on Magistrates and the Police to use their utmost endeavours to prevent the dangers of extortion and fraudulent pounding of cattle. It must therefore be understood by all local bodies at the outset that abuses will be rigorously put down by the Executive authorities. The existing rules, which were approved by Government on the 29th December 1879, for the guidance of police officers in regard to cattle trespass and pounds, are still in force, and for convenience of reference are reproduced as an appendix to this Resolution. Care must be taken by Magistrates that the working of these rules is not made the occasion of friction with local bodies. The object of the Executive authorities is in the first instance to protect the public; but it will also be remembered by them that it is their duty to assist local bodies, and not to oust their jurisdiction. It is obvious that the local agency of the Police, if it is properly employed under the orders of the District Superintendent and Magistrate, cannot fail to be of great service in checking maladministration.

13. The action of local bodies in regard to pounds will of course always be subject to the supervision of Magistrates and Commissioners, and to the general control of Government.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor had under his consideration the necessity of drafting rules and detailed forms of account for the collections of District Boards in the matter of pounds and other similar receipts the annual demand of which is fixed before hand. It is in contemplation to re-enact rules under clauses (i) and (r) of section 138 of the Local Self Government Act, III (B.C.) of 1885, and to prescribe appropriate registers for pound and other receipts, which shall effectually prevent the occurrence of frauds such as have already been detected in one district. The Lieutenant-Governor is in correspondence with the Accountant-General on this subject, and orders will issue in due course. The registers ultimately prescribed will be made applicable to Municipalities as well as to District Boards.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

PENSIONS OF PERSONS EMPLOYED UNDER DISTRICT BOARDS AND MUNICIPALITIES.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT.

Dated Calcutta, the 29th October 1889.

RESOLUTION.

READ again—

A Report from this Government, No. 443, dated 6th March 1889, to the Government of India, regarding the pensions of persons employed under local bodies in the Provinces under the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

Read—

The orders of the Government of India in the Home Department, No. 22, dated 16th October 1889, approving generally of the proposals contained in the above Report.

The Lieutenant-Governor has now been favoured with the views of the Government of India on the general principles which shall regulate the grant of pensions to employés under Municipalities and District Boards. These principles are, for the convenience of local bodies, incorporated as rules which are annexed to this Resolution, but the rules deal with principles only, and do not relieve local bodies of the duty which is delegated to them by law of preparing rules for their own employés subject to the Lieutenant-Governor's sanction. Under section 47 of Bengal Act III of 1884, and section 35 of Bengal Act III of 1885, the duty of making rules for pensions and gratuities to their employés is imposed on Municipalities and District Boards respectively. It is therefore now left for local bodies to prepare drafts of rules for the Lieutenant-Governor's approval; but it must be distinctly understood that the Lieutenant-Governor's sanction, which is required under section 59 of the Act III of 1884, and section 35 of the Act III of 1885, will be withheld from rules which are in any respect inconsistent with the principles now laid down.

It is not intended that the general principles herein enunciated should apply to employés under Port Trust funds or under the Calcutta Municipal Corporation. These cases are special, and have already been provided for by rules duly sanctioned.

General proviso.

2. A general proviso declares that in all cases the pension or gratuity admissible to the servants of a local body shall be limited to an amount not exceeding the sum admissible under the Civil Service Regulations to a servant of the State for similar service.

Local bodies to make rules for employés whose whole service has been under them.

3. A clear distinction is established between officers whose whole service has been under the local body concerned, and those who have been transferred to the service of that body from a department of Government under which they have already rendered service qualifying for pension. This distinction is recognised in sections 47 and 48 of the Bengal Municipal Act III (B.C.) of 1884, which enact as follows:—

"47. The Commissioners at a meeting, specially convened for the purpose, may, by a resolution in favour of which not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners present at such meeting shall have voted, from time to time make rules for—

"(a) the granting of pensions and gratuities out of the Municipal Fund; or

"(b) the creation and management of a Provident or Annuity Fund, for compelling contribution thereto on the part of their officers and servants, and for supplementing such contribution out of the Municipal Fund.

"And may repeal or alter such rules.

"The Commissioners at a meeting may, from time to time, in accordance with such rules for the time being in force, grant such pensions or gratuities, or grant allowances or annuities out of such Provident or Annuity Fund to any of their officers or servants, as they may see fit.

"48. In the case of a Government official employed by the Commissioners, the Commissioners may—

"(1) If his services are wholly lent to them, contribute to his pension, gratuities and leave allowances in accordance with the rules of the Government Civil Pension and Leave Codes for the time being in force; and

"(2) If he devotes only a part of his time to the performance of duties on behalf of the Commissioners, contribute as above in such proportion as may be determined by the Local Government."

No such distinction is, however, found in the Local Self-Government Act III (B.C.) of 1885. The only provision in that Act on the subject is section 35, which authorises "a District Board, with the sanction of the Lieutenant-Governor, to make rules for pensions and gratuities, to be granted and paid out of the District Fund, to its establishment."

4. In the case of employés whose whole service has been under the Municipality or District Board concerned, it is now laid down, as has been done in the Bengal Municipal Act, that it will be at the option of any such local body, in accordance with rules which may have been duly framed and sanctioned for the purpose, either to create a Provident or Annuity Fund, and to compel contribution thereto on the part of their officers and servants, merely supplementing such contribution out of local funds; or, if they should so prefer it (as is done at present in the Calcutta Municipality), to grant pensions and gratuities out of their funds without insisting on any contribution. There is an objection to this latter course, in that it involves the risk that the local bodies will unfairly burden the incomes of their successors in office. This is no doubt a real danger, and it was in order to obviate it that it was proposed by Sir George Campbell's Government in 1873* that the capitalised value of an employé's pension should on his retirement be paid by a local body to Government, and that the Government should then become responsible for the payment of his pension. But this proposal was never sanctioned. It would in many cases be inconvenient, and even impossible, for local bodies to comply with it. On the other hand the proposal that local bodies should pay contribution to Government on the salaries of all their employés, and that the Government should accept in return the liability for payment of pension, is open to great objection in consequence of the complicated transactions to which it would give rise. The only course which the Lieutenant-Governor thinks can be fairly adopted in regard to employés whose whole service has been under a local body is to leave the local bodies to arrange for their pensions from their own funds without involving the Government in any guarantee. It may often happen, therefore, that such employés will get no pension. But although it must be admitted that the advantages to be derived from pensionable service are not less in the case of local bodies than of Government, it appears to be equally certain that it would be neither right nor reasonable for Government to pledge itself in any way to a class of persons whose service has not been rendered under Government. Whether such employés will get a pension or not must depend on whether the local bodies under whom they serve have adopted pension rules to provide for their case.

* No. 1962, dated 25th July 1873, to the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

Any Provident Funds which may be created by Municipalities or District Boards must bank with Government Savings Banks.

5. A question has been raised whether members of the establishment of the late District Road Committees which became part of the establishment of District Boards on the creation of the latter bodies, such as the office establishment and the Public Works establishment, will count their whole period of service under both funds as service qualifying for pension payable from District Funds under rules to be framed under section 35 of the Local Self-Government Act. This question is now answered in the affirmative, and any rules passed under that section will be applicable to the employés of the late District Road Committees who have now become part of the establishment of District Boards. It has also been declared that when part of the service of these officers has been under Government, and has been paid from the General Revenues, and part has been under local bodies and has been paid from local funds, their pensions shall be paid according to the Rule of Proportion. This is the only rule which, having regard to the long duration of the service of many of these officers under District Road Committees, can fairly and equitably apply to such a case.

Such rules to apply to establishments of late District Road Committees transferred to District Boards.

6. The circumstances of an officer who has been transferred to the service of a District Board or Municipality from a department of Government under which he has already rendered pensionable service are very different from those of an employé whose whole service has been passed under the Board or Municipality. The claim of these Government servants to pension, except in very exceptional cases, cannot be disputed, and it is also beyond dispute that a proper share of the pension should be paid by the local bodies to whose service they have been transferred. The Lieutenant-Governor has decided after full consideration that in these cases the Rule of Proportion shall not be enforced, and that in place of it a scheme of contributions shall be insisted on, under which the local bodies will pay a suitable pension contribution to Government, in return for which the liability for the payment of pensions will be borne by Government. These orders are applicable to all Educational officers and to all officers on the Medical, Pound, Ferry and Staging-bungalow establishments who have been transferred to District Boards from qualifying service under Government.

District Boards and Municipalities are required to pay contribution to pension in case of all pensionable Government officers transferred to their service.

Liability for payment of these pensions will then be borne by Government.

7. The important principle now established in the case of Government officers who have been or may be transferred to service under District Boards is that the District Fund will be required to provide for their contribution for pension in addition to their salaries. The rate of this contribution will be fixed at an amount equal to one-ninth of the sanctioned salaries of the several appointments. This amount will be added to the establishment bill and paid from the District Fund by transfer credit to the Provincial Revenues at the time the bill is cashed. In return for this contribution all charge and liability for the payment of pensions will be transferred to Government.

8. At present District Funds in Bengal are not paying any contribution on account of the pension of Government officers employed in their service; and as the proposal made by this Government that there should be a general exemption from the payment of arrear contributions due before the 1st April 1889 has not been accepted by the Government of India, it now devolves on District Boards to arrange for payment of contributions on account of all Government officers who have been employed in their service from the date of their formation. From this order the Governor-General in Council has been pleased to exempt only all the members of the pensionable establishment of a Government school who were on the establishment of the school at the time of its transfer to the Board. In the case of these officers no pensionary contribution due before the 1st April 1889 will be payable. In all other cases payment must be enforced with full retrospective effect. The Accountant-General will now be desired to issue the necessary instructions for the recovery of arrears and for the realisation in future of contributions at the sanctioned rate.

9. The position of an officer of Government allowed to take service under a Municipality differs from that of an officer under a District Board. The Municipal is an Excluded Local Fund, and the bills on which the municipal establishment charges are drawn from the treasury are not subject to the audit of the Accountant-General. The rules which have recently been laid down by the Government of India, and are incorporated in the Civil Service Regulations, articles 805 to 817, codifying the conditions in regard to pension and leave which should attach to officers of Government on foreign service, are applicable to this case. The effect of these rules is less favourable to the pensionary prospects of Government officers under a Municipality than it would have been if they had entered service under an Incorporated Local Fund. But the number of Government officers who take employ under Municipalities in these Provinces is so few, and their cases are so exceptional, that in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion there is no objection to applying the rules now enforced to their case.

Special rules applicable to officers of Government who take service under a Municipality.

10. A third class of employés remains for consideration, viz. that of Government officers who are in the service of neither a District Board nor a Municipality, but whose salaries are defrayed from the assets of a Local Fund. Certain establishments have been entertained for the assessment and collection of cesses by Collectors with the sanction of the Board of Revenue under section 91 of Act IX (B.C.) of 1880. The members of these establishments before the creation of the District Boards were not in service qualifying for pension from the General Revenues, but were merely entitled to pension payable from the District Road Fund under any rules which might have been made with the approval of Government under section 138 of the Cess Act. As a matter of fact, the only district for which rules have been passed under this section is Burdwan. Draft rules were submitted for other districts; but as these differed from one another, and it had been pointed out that inconvenience would arise from the diversity of rules among the different Committees, it was proposed to draw up a uniform set of rules for all districts. In the meantime the scheme for the extension of Local Self-Government in Bengal was inaugurated, and it was thought desirable to defer the question of pensions to employés of District Road Committees till the District Boards, who were to take the place of the District Road Committees, had been constituted. As no rules under section 138 were ever framed, it may be held that technically speaking these officers have not rendered pensionable service. But looking to the character of their service under the Collector, and the nature of their employment, it cannot, the Lieutenant-Governor thinks, be seriously argued that they are not pensionable officers. Although their salaries in the past were paid directly from the District Road Fund, they were appointed by, and employed directly by, the Collector, independently of the District Road Committee, and the District Road Fund itself was in all districts recouped to a certain fixed limit by an allowance paid by Government in recognition of the fact that the Public Works cess, which is a provincial asset, was assessed and collected by the same agency as assessed and collected the Road cess. Certain at least it is that these officers have always looked forward to pension. Their status is somewhat changed under the Local Self-Government Act. They are still entertained by the Collector under the sanction of the Board, but they are no longer paid directly by any local body. Their pay falls, however, indirectly on the District Boards, as the amount of it is deducted from the Road cess collections by the Collector before these collections are transferred to the credit of the Boards. And the fixed allowance payable by Government in consideration of their services in collecting Public Works cess is still continued.

11. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that the service rendered by these officers comes within the meaning of "foreign service" of the third class referred to in article 802 of the Civil Service Regulations. These establishments have been added to the Collector's office to provide for work which has to be done under the supervision and control of the Collector, while the cost incurred is charged to, and recovered from, the District Board in whose interest the work is done. The relations between Government and the officers employed in this service in respect to their pension allowances are the same as in the case of officers who are in ordinary Government service. A contribution will therefore be levied according to the rules laid down in article 854 of the Regulations, and the amount of recovery from the District Fund on account of service rendered, together with the charges for contribution, will be reckoned, not with reference to the salaries of the officers taken separately, but upon the gross sanctioned cost of the establishment.

12. With regard to the contributions payable on account of the pensions of these officers, it may be further remarked that the establishments are of two kinds, viz. (1) those entertained temporarily for revaluation, and (2) those entertained for the collection of cesses. The cost of the former is borne by the Government and the District Fund in the proportion of one-third to two-thirds, while in regard to the latter the Government pays a fixed amount which was calculated in 1878 at the rate of one-third of the cost of the establishment then employed, but which has not since been altered.

As the establishments for revaluation are temporary, the employés are not, from the nature of the case, entitled to pension, and contributions on their account are therefore ordinarily not required. It is only when an officer who holds a permanent employment under Government is employed on this establishment for a period exceeding six months that it becomes necessary to recover from the cess collections a contribution for his pension in addition to his salary.

On the other hand as the establishments for the collection of cesses are permanent, a contribution must be levied on the net cost of the establishment in all cases.

13. As a share in the cost of these establishments is defrayed by Government, so a share of the pensions granted should also be paid by Government, and it has been decided by the Lieutenant-Governor that, having regard to the circumstances under which the Government share was fixed in 1878, it would be fair and equitable that the contribution payable by the District Boards on account of the pensionary charges of these establishments should not exceed two-thirds of that which would otherwise have been payable.

14. In regard to the arrear contribution of pension due on the pay of these establishments, it will be necessary for all Collectors to prepare at once a statement of the incumbents who may now be borne on these establishments showing how long they have been employed thereon, and at what rates of pay, and to levy contribution on their total pay earned during the entire period of their service at the rate of two-thirds of the amount which would ordinarily have been payable. If the calculation is made in this way, the District Boards will not be required to pay contributions for the employés who have left their service and for whom no liability has been incurred for the payment of pension. The amount due should be deducted from the balance payable to the several District Boards at the close of the current year.

15. With reference to these remarks, and with due advertence to the general rules hereto annexed, all District Boards and Municipalities are now invited to take into consideration the advisability of framing rules for the grant of pensions and gratuities to their employés at an early date. It is to be clearly understood that such rules will apply only (1) to employés whose whole service has been under a Municipality or District Board, and (2) to all members of the establishment of the late District Road Committees which became part of the establishment of District Boards on the creation of such Boards. They will not apply to members of the pensionable establishment of a department under Government who have been transferred from Government to a District Board or Municipality, nor to cess establishments entertained by Collectors with the sanction of the Board of Revenue under section 91 of Act IX (B.C.) of 1880. The orders now passed make the payment of contribution to pension compulsory in the case of these officers.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The following general rules which formulate the principles established in this Resolution are promulgated for the information and guidance of all District Boards and Municipalities concerned:—

1. These rules, and all rules which may subsequently be made in accordance with Rule 2 hereof by any Municipality or District Board, shall be subject to the general proviso that in all cases the pension or gratuity admissible shall be limited to an amount not exceeding the sum admissible under the Civil Service Regulations to a servant of the State for similar service.

2. In the case of employés whose whole service has been under a Municipality or District Board, it shall be at the option of any such local body in accordance with rules which may have been duly framed and sanctioned for the purpose—

See sections 47 and 59, Act III (B.C) of 1884.
See section 35 of Act III (B.C) of 1885.

(a) either to create a Provident or Annuity Fund, and to compel contribution thereto on the part of their officers and servants, merely supplementing such contribution out of local funds;

(b) or if they should so prefer it, to grant pensions and gratuities out of their funds without insisting on any contribution.

Under rules so framed, there will be no liability on the part of Government for the payment of pensions.

If Provident Funds be created under these rules they must bank with Government Savings Banks.

3. For the purposes of the preceding rule, all members of the establishment of the late District Road Committees, which became part of the establishment of District Boards on the creation of such Boards, including the office clerks as well as the out-door staff, shall count their whole period of service under the District Road Committee as service qualifying for pension. When part of the service of such officers has been under Government, and has been paid from the General Revenues, and part has been under local bodies, and has been paid from local funds, their pension shall be paid according to the Rule of Proportion.

4. All members of the pensionable establishment of a department under Government, who are transferred from Government to a District Board, and who were in the establishment of a department at the time of its transfer, shall be held to be rendering continuous service qualifying for pension.

NOTE.—The effect of this rule is to decide that Educational officers and officers in the Medical, Pound, Ferry and Staging-bungalow establishments, who have been transferred to, and become part of, a District Board establishment, shall be considered as still rendering qualifying service.

5. In the case of all such officers, whose services are hereby declared to be pensionable, the District Boards concerned shall provide for their contribution to pension in addition to their salaries. The levy of this contribution is hereby fixed at an amount equal to one-ninth of the sanctioned salaries of the several appointments, and this amount will be added to the establishment bill and paid by transfer credit to the Provincial Revenues at the time the bill is cashed.

NOTE.—The effect of this rule is to cancel so much of the orders of Government, No 1389T—M, dated 1st July 1886, to the address of the Director of Public Instruction, as declared that Educational officers who, at the time of transfer to a District Board, were rendering qualifying service, would not be required to make any subscription on account of their pension.

6. In return for this contribution the Government accepts all charge and liability for the payment of pensions of such officers.

7. In the case of the members of the pensionable establishment of a Government school, who were on the establishment of the school at the time of its transfer to a District Board, the first contribution under these rules shall be realisable and paid on salaries due on the 1st April 1889. In all other cases it will be necessary for District Boards to pay for the contributions of all pensionable officers of Government who may have been employed in their service, with effect from the date on which they have been so employed.

8. When an officer of Government is allowed to take service under a Municipality, and the Municipal Commissioners contribute to his pension and leave allowances under section 48 of the Bengal Municipal Act, the rules which have recently been laid down by the Government of India, codifying the conditions in regard to pension and leave which should attach to officers of Government on foreign service, will apply to his case. The following extracts from these rules, which are likely to have practical application to officers in the service of Bengal Municipalities, are reproduced:—

(1). The officer transferred must have ten years' qualifying service for pension before he can be allowed to maintain his claim by any contribution.

(2). Whatever may be the actual pay and allowances drawn by such officer in municipal service, his salary for the purpose of calculating his pension and of requiring a contribution towards the cost of pension shall be assumed as follows:—

(a). If he belongs to a graded service, his name will be retained on it (as seconded), promotion from grade to grade being given to him in due course, and his assumed pay will be that of the grade in which from time to time he is.

(b). If he does not belong to a graded service, the assumed pay will be and will remain that which he last drew when in Government employ.

(3). The amount of contribution to be paid by the Municipality will be one-eighth of the assumed pay.

9. Establishments permanently entertained for the assessment and collection of cesses by Collectors with the sanction of the Board of Revenue under section 91 of Act IX (B.C.) of 1880, whose salaries are now paid indirectly by District Boards, the amount of their salaries being deducted from the Road cess collections before those collections are transferred to the credit of the Boards, shall be held to be rendering service qualifying for pension. The work of these officers is done under the supervision and control of the Collector, while the cost incurred is charged to, and recovered from, the District Board in whose interest the work is done. The relations between Government and the officers employed in this service in respect to their pension allowances are the same as if they had been in ordinary Government service, and all pensionary liability will, therefore, subject to the conditions contained in the following Rules 10 to 12, be borne by Government.

10. A contribution on account of pension shall be calculated at an amount equal to two-thirds of one-ninth of the sanctioned salaries of the appointments. The calculation shall be reckoned upon the gross sanctioned cost of the establishment, and not with reference to the salaries taken separately.

NOTE.—Having regard to the Government share of the cost of these establishments on account of the collection of Public Works cess, which was fixed in 1878 at one-third of the total cost of the establishment then entertained, the deduction made from the cess collections on account of the pensionary charges of these establishments is fixed at two-thirds of what would otherwise have been payable.

11. The amount of contribution shall be deducted by the Collector from the cess collections in addition to the sanctioned salaries of the establishment, and will be paid by transfer credit to the General Revenues at the time the establishment bill is cashed.

12. In order to enable the officers of these establishments to count towards pension the period of their service prior to the creation of District Boards, all Collectors are now required to prepare and submit to the Accountant-General a statement of the incumbents who are now borne on their establishments, showing how long each man has been employed and at what rates of pay. The Accountant-General will then levy a contribution on the total pay of each officer earned during the entire period of his service at two-thirds of one-ninth of the salary drawn by him, and the amount of this contribution, which shall be deducted from the balance of the District Board, to which the whole balance of the District Road Fund was credited when the Board came into existence, will be transferred to the credit of the Provincial Revenues at the close of the current year.

13. Establishments temporarily entertained for revaluation purposes by Collectors with the sanction of the Board of Revenue under section 91 of Act IX (B.C.) of 1880 do not render qualifying service, and contributions on their account are, therefore, ordinarily not required. It is only when an officer who holds a permanent employment under Government is employed on this establishment for a period exceeding six months that it becomes necessary to recover from the cess collections a contribution for his pension in addition to his salary. In this case a contribution will be levied at the rate of two-thirds of one-ninth of the total salary drawn, and the amount of the contribution will be paid by transfer credit to the General Revenues at the time the establishment bill is cashed.

14. These rules shall take effect at once.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

The Lieutenant-Governor approves the following rules, in substitution for those now in force, for the award of junior and senior scholarships:—

JUNIOR SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

One hundred and fifty-two* Government junior scholarships will be awarded annually at the University Entrance Examination to successful candidates educated at schools in Bengal.

2. The scholarships shall be of three grades—10 of the first grade, carrying monthly stipends of Rs. 20; 47 of the second grade, carrying monthly stipends of Rs. 15; and 95 of the third grade, carrying monthly stipends of Rs. 10.

3. With the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction, a junior scholarship may be held at any one of the affiliated colleges in Bengal which the holder may select. A Government junior scholarship may also be held in the United Kingdom, subject to the conditions of good conduct and satisfactory progress, but not in other provinces of India.

4. Each scholarship will, subject to good conduct, be tenable for two years, provided the holder is certified by the Principal of his College, at the end of the first year, to have made due progress in a collegiate course of instruction.

5. The holder of a junior scholarship in an institution not under the management of Government will be liable at any time to be examined by two persons appointed by the Director of Public Instruction and approved by the Principal of the College to which he belongs, and, on proof of unsatisfactory progress, to be deprived of his scholarship.

6. No candidate will be eligible for a scholarship who has not studied for the whole session previous to the examination in the school to which he belongs at the time of presenting himself at the Entrance Examination, unless he has been transferred within that period with the sanction of the Circle Inspector.

7. The scholarships of the first grade will be awarded to the ten candidates who obtain the highest aggregate marks.

8. The scholarships of the second and third grades will, subject to future reconsideration, be allotted to the several Commissionerships in the following proportion:—

the ensuing examination. This distribution should be confined to third grade scholarships, those of the second grade being awarded to the best students in the division without reference to districts. Scholarships not taken up in the district or division to which they are assigned may be awarded by the Director of Public Instruction, at his discretion, to deserving candidates from other divisions, special regard being had to the requirements of those parts of the country in which it is considered desirable to stimulate the demand for collegiate education.

10. No candidate who is unable to read and write with facility and correctness one of the vernacular languages of Bengal will be eligible for a junior scholarship.

11. The holders of scholarships in all Government colleges will be required to pay the usual monthly fees levied from other students, provided that no scholarship-holder shall be required to pay a higher fee than Rs. 10 a month.

SPECIAL JUNIOR SCHOLARSHIPS FOR MUHAMMADANS.

Twenty scholarships of Rs. 7 a month each, tenable for two years at any college affiliated to the Calcutta University, will be awarded to Muhammadan students of the Lower Provinces passing the Entrance Examination and failing to obtain any more valuable exhibition.

SPECIAL JUNIOR SCHOLARSHIPS FOR FEMALES.

Three junior scholarships, one of each grade, will be open annually for competition at the Entrance Examination to female candidates educated in any school in Bengal. They will be tenable in any collegiate institution approved by the Director of Public Instruction, and will be awarded on conditions similar to those prescribed for general scholarships.

SENIOR SCHOLARSHIP RULES.

Fifty Government senior scholarships will be offered annually for competition at the First Examination in Arts to successful candidates educated in any college in Bengal affiliated to the University of Calcutta.

2. These scholarships shall be of two grades—10 of the first grade, carrying monthly stipends of Rs. 25, and 40 of the second grade, carrying monthly stipends of Rs. 20.

3. With the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction, a senior scholarship may be held at any affiliated college in Bengal which may be selected by the holder. A Government senior scholarship may also be held in the United Kingdom, subject to the conditions of good conduct and satisfactory progress, but not in other provinces of India.

4. Each scholarship will, conditionally on good conduct, be tenable for two years, provided that, at the end of the first year, the holder is certified by the Principal of his College to have made due progress in a collegiate course of instruction.

5. Second-year students alone, i.e., students who present themselves for the First Examination in Arts not more than two years after passing the Entrance Examination, will be eligible for scholarships.

6. The scholarships of the first grade will be awarded to the ten candidates who obtain the highest aggregate marks.

7. The forty scholarships of the second grade will, subject to future reconsideration, be reserved for students at affiliated institutions in different parts of Bengal in the following proportions:—

Burdwan Division	8
Rajshahye ditto	3
Dacca and Chittagong Divisions	7

The scholarships will be awarded to the candidates from each tract who obtain the highest marks at the examination, and who do not gain scholarships of the first grade, provided that their names appear in the first or second division of the list of passed candidates. Scholarships may, however, be awarded in special cases to candidates from Behar or Orissa who fall below the second division. Scholarships not taken up in the tracts to which they are assigned may be awarded by the Director of Public Instruction, at his discretion, to deserving candidates from other tracts, special regard being had to the requirements of those parts of the country in which it is considered desirable to stimulate the demand for collegiate education.

8. No candidate will be eligible for a scholarship who has not studied for the whole session previous to the examination in the institution to which he belongs at the time of presenting himself at the First Arts Examination, unless he has been transferred within that period with the sanction of the Director of Public Instruction.

9. The holders of senior scholarships in all Government colleges will be required to pay the usual monthly fees levied from other students.

SPECIAL SENIOR SCHOLARSHIPS FOR MUHAMMADANS.

Twenty scholarships, tenable for two two years—ten of Rs. 10 a month each, and ten of Rs. 7 a month each—will be awarded on the result of the First Arts Examination to Muhammadans who fail to obtain any more valuable exhibition.

SPECIAL SENIOR SCHOLARSHIPS FOR FEMALES.

Two senior scholarships, one of each grade, will be open annually for competition at the First Examination in Arts to female candidates educated at any college in Bengal. These scholarships will be awarded on conditions similar to those laid down for the general senior scholarships, and will be tenable in any collegiate institution approved by the Director of Public Instruction.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

SCARCITY IN THE PATNA DIVISION.

The 5th November 1889.—The following papers are published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

REVENUE DEPARTMENT—FAMINE.

Darjeeling, the 26th October, 1889.

READ—

A letter, No. 83Get., dated 19th October, 1889, from the Commissioner of Patna, reporting on the scarcity in that Division for the fortnight ending the 15th idem.

The Lieutenant-Governor learns with satisfaction that distress in the Patna Division is now confined to the flooded area described in the last paragraph of the Commissioner's report, and that the resources at that officer's disposal are ample to meet all existing requirements. The circumstances of this tract point to the conclusion that measures should now be taken for closing gratuitous relief as far as possible, and if relief is to be continued at all, it should be in the shape of works, as directed by the Lieutenant-Governor when at Mozufferpore in September last.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Commissioner of the Patna Division for information and guidance.

Ordered also that a copy of this Resolution, and of the Commissioner's Report, be submitted for the information of the Government of India.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

P. NOLAN,

Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 83Get., dated Camp Mozufferpore, the 19th October, 1889.

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit a report on the scarcity in this Division for the fortnight ending 15th October.

2. As I have all the reports and returns, I can take up the old order. The delay of the two last was a good deal my own fault. I found Mr. Harris so good at the important works of diagnosis and treatment of his case that I omitted to impress on him in time that the issue of bulletins was also very important.

3. From Chumparun Mr. Power reports that the whole of the old affected area, together with many villages flooded by the Sikrana, has completely passed out of the category of "distressed tracts." The only place about which Mr. Power is not yet quite confident is that long narrow strip flooded by the Great Gunduck between Gobindgunge and Karnaul. He is going there at once, but there is no reason for any anxiety.

4. The bhadoi harvest, now complete, has been from 10 to 12 annas all over the district. The yield of sáthi dhan has been so good as nearly to make up for the loss of makai and marua.

5. The prospects of the winter rice are good over the whole district. This has really been the subject attracting greatest attention now for some short time. I have special reports on it from all the districts. The general case is this:—We had very heavy rain down to an unusually late date, the 22nd of September. The rain then stopped in a remarkably sudden way, and we have had nothing but light local showers since. Here in Mozufferpore, three days after the storm had ceased, we had not only a clear sky, but a dull cold-weather horizon, and weather looking fair. This was just before the beginning of the hathiya nacchatra. In the report on each district I will relate the particular circumstances. Chumparun says:—

"Although a shower of rain would be welcome for the crop on high lands, its absence will not result in any appreciable loss, as water for irrigation exists almost everywhere. Preparations for rabbi sowings have commenced, and sufficient moisture exists."

And again—

"The necessity of gratuitous relief has passed away, except in the tract mentioned in paragraph 1 (the long strip flooded by the Great Gunduck), and funds have been supplied to the managers of the Motipore and Tajpore Concerns. A sum of Rs. 400 has also been paid as Government contribution to the Local Committee of Management of the kitchen at Motihari, where cooked food is being distributed to indigent persons. The maintenance of this institution for a further period of one month was considered desirable by that body. The number decreased here from 273 to 197, and a futher decrease is expected during the next fortnight.

"Loans are still being granted to cultivators in the distressed villages, but this form of relief should, I think, cease on the exhaustion of the allotment last sanctioned by Government."

6. Health is good, and there are no relief works open. Prices are still falling slowly. Tables will be submitted, both of prices and of people relieved, at the end of the report. We may, therefore, consider Chumparun as completely out of danger, because distress has almost disappeared, and there are ample means for relief of the little that remains.

7. The state of affairs in Sitamarhi is greatly improved. The kitchen at Sitamarhi was closed on the 2nd, because only eight children came to it on the 1st. Mr. McIntosh writes:—

"At Parihar the kitchen was closed on the 7th instant, the number of people attending it on the 6th being 168. These people were all, without exception, professional beggars; and in order that they might not suffer by the kitchen being closed, they were informed that any one who could not find food or employment for himself would be escorted by the canoongo to the kitchen at Sarsund, six miles off: eventually only 12 people were sent off to Sarsund, the rest electing to find a living for themselves."

8. Mr. McIntosh continued—

"During the fortnight it was reported that some distress was being felt in the south of the subdivision along the banks of the Bagmati."

On this Mr. Harris remarks:—

"I have been informed by Mr. Adamson, Assistant in charge of the Lautan outwork, Kanti Factory, that he has some villages on the north of the Bagmati in the Sitamarhi subdivision in which there is much distress."

Mr. McIntosh sent a canoongo at once to relieve, and is only afraid that the canoongo was somewhat too lavish. Mr Harris will visit this spot now.

9 Gratuitous relief is still being given by the Rajah of Seuhar, the zemindar of Sarsund, the Nanpore Chaudhuri, and by Mr. Wilson of Pupri—

"The prospects of the dhan crop are still very good, but the cultivators have already begun to cry out for more rain for the uparwari lands. Lands for the sowing of the rubbi crops are being extensively prepared."

10. I am glad to see that Mr. McIntosh reports that cholera is decreasing, especially as the Civil Surgeon a few days before had told me it was not decreasing. Prices are falling.

11. For the Sudder, Mr. Harris has visited Jointpore, and, in a boat, seen the flooded villages of Ginjas and Bazitpore I have also a very good map of that part of the country flooded by the Great Gunduck and Baya carefully made by Mr. Disney. He has coloured in black an area of about 40 square miles; but as most of this is chur, it only means that on 40 square miles there will not be a crop: not that these 40 square miles would have borne a crop, but for the floods.

Mr. Disney sums up—

"The damage done is patchy. An appreciable amount of distress in scattered villages may be apprehended until the rubbi harvest is gathered in."

And Mr. Harris agrees in Mr. Disney's judgment. The map shows the black parts to be much narrower than in the tract between the Bur-Gunduck and the Bagmati. The whole flooded tract is also very much smaller and narrower; and the black, instead of being widely margined, as in the other part, by other colours indicating partial failure, is either next or near to land which has not suffered at all. This I think very imporiant. The people will be far better able to help themselves.

12. The curious feature of the report is the great number of people still receiving relief from Kanti and its many outworks. That great flooded area of the Bur-Gunduck and Bagmati covers from north-west to south-east the dehats of Kanti, Bhikanpore, Daudpore, Musehri, Pirikpore, Athar, and Dholi, with a tract about the Katara thana. It was found that the worst part of all was that Katara tract, and next the Kanti dehats. But the returns of daily average persons relieved from the 28th of September to the 11th of October are these—

Mr. Shaw at Kanti and outworks		3,444
Mr. Stonewegg at Bhikanpore and outworks		382
„ Collingridge at Daudpore		452
„ Stevens at Musehri		135
„ Hudson at Athar and outworks		454
„ Spry at Dholi and outworks		98
Government at Katara thana		802
Baboo Bishnath Singh at Jarung
	Total ...	2,323

That Kanti should have to feed nearly once and a half as many people as in all the rest of the tract put together, and four times as many as in the whole of the worst tract about Katara, is unlikely. I think it will be found that Kantí is much too generous.

13. Distribution of gratuitous relief is being stopped by degrees everywhere except in the Kanti centre. Work is becoming available and prospects improving very rapidly. It is very likely that rice on high grounds will suffer from want of rain; and it is certain that the dealers will take advantage of it to raise their prices.

14. The Durbhunga report is a very short statement that there is nothing to report. There is now no distress, no relief work, no gratuitous relief, no people to be counted. The district has recovered completely, and has had its usual luck in a slight hathiya rainfall. Mr. Beadon himself visited Shahpore in the holidays and ascertained that there was no distress.

15. The other districts—Sarun, Patna, Shahabad, and Gya—are doing well. There is nothing to be said about them except in the matter of the winter rice and the hathiya rain.

Mr. Bourdillon wishes for more rain, both for the upland dhan and the rubbi sowings. He says "a good sewati will give magnificent crops."

From Patna Mr. Faulder writes after particular enquiry:—

"The want of rain in the hathiya has done very little harm, as there were such heavy rains in the beginning of September and previously. * * * There is sufficient moisture for the rubbi * * * Heavy rain now would do harm, though light rain will be useful. * * * The outturn of paddy is expected to be very good"

From Shahabad Mr. Growse says the aharas in the south are well filled with water. In all the best rubbi lands there is plenty of moisture. In the higher and poorer rubbi lands there will be some difficulty in sowing. Probably all the diara lands north of the railway will produce excellent rubbi. In the high lands to the south, beyond canal influence, prospects are not so good; but there is more water in the aharas than last year. Heavy rain now would do harm. Light rain would do good.

From Gya Mr. Tute says the state of the paddy crop is promising. A little rain is urgently wanted.

16. In conclusion, I think it is safe to say that the whole country has recovered, except parts of the flooded area from the Bur-Gunduck to the Bagmati, the similar but smaller area near Sarya, the narrow strip in Chumparun adjoining this, and a very small bit near Sarsund. To meet what remains of distress in these places our resources are ample.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. Humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainy days is the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional station for the period in question during the past 17 years. Total rainfall of the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 1st of November 1889.

CALCUTTA the 5th November 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 1st OF NOVEMBER 1889.

During the second half of the previous week a decided barometric depression had formed in the north-west angle of the Bay, which had remained almost stationary for some days The small storm had, however, not increased in intensity to any material extent, and on Friday the 25th, it was of only moderate strength, and its centre was probably about south of Saugor Island and south-east of False Point. On Saturday, the 26th, the small storm had commenced to move in a north-easterly direction, and its centre was to the south-east or east-south-east of Saugor Island It then advanced inland to the east of Saugor Island, and on the 27th the centre of the small storm was apparently not far from Burrisal; while on the 28th it was well inland, and had commenced to fill up rather rapidly, so that on this day it existed principally as a shallow depression of irregular shape, lying over east and part of North Bengal, the lowest pressure being reported from Dacca. On the 29th the feeble cyclonic storm had entirely disappeared, and the area of minimum pressure began again to retreat southwards towards the Bay, and the general pressure distribution became about normal for the season The small storm, as usual in its inland advance, caused an entire reversal of the previous weather conditions, and over the area affected by it winds were cyclonic in direction and of moderate to considerable force; skies became completely overcast, and heavy rain was in many cases received, while temperature and humidity were both high. These disturbed conditions were probably most strongly developed at the head of the Bay, where decidedly squally weather must have obtained for some days. In South-West Bengal the disturbed conditions lasted during the 26th and 27th, and in East Bengal from the 26th to the 28th inclusive, while weather was much less disturbed in North Bengal, where a few showers only were received during the first three days of the week. The weather in the remaining districts was practically almost unaffected by the small storm.

After the rather brisk filling up of the storm on the 28th, the sky rapidly cleared, and the damp winds were almost immediately driven back by a dry northerly and north-westerly current, when temperature and humidity decreased quickly, and weather became of the ordinary cold weather type, and before the close of the week conditions appeared settled for the north-east monsoon. It therefore appears probable that the small storm under review will entirely close the monsoon rains in Bengal.

Pressure.—The variations of pressure during the week have been mainly dependent on the advance and subsequent filling up of the small storm above described, and during its passage, at the stations near its centre, pressure became about a quarter of an inch below the normal. At the inland stations in Behar, North Bengal, etc., the pressure variations were not so much affected by the storm, though the readings were in all cases very decidedly below the normal. The mean pressure for the whole week has thus been below the normal in all cases, and by amounts varying up to about eight hundredths of an inch at the stations near the line of advance of the storm.

Temperature.—The variations of temperature from the normal have been rather considerable. In South-West and East Bengal and Orissa (i.e., those districts which have been affected by the storm), the mean temperature has been from one to two degrees below the normal, and the same defect has been registered in Chutia Nagpur. On the other hand, North and South Behar and North Bengal show excess temperatures varying up to 1°, while in Assam the excess is 1·7°.

Rainfall—Has been exceptionally heavy for the season in East and South-West Bengal. In some of the districts of North Bengal and South Behar rainfall has also occurred, but it has been light. In East Bengal an average fall of between four and five inches has been recorded, or about five times the normal amount for the period. In South Bengal the average fall was about two and-a-half inches, also about five times the normal value. Elsewhere the falls have been unimportant and decidedly below the normal values. The very heavy falls which occurred during the small storm may be seen from the fact that on the 26th Busseerhat reported 8·79 inches, Perozepur 7·59 inches, Bongong 6·10 inches, and Dum-Dum, Baraset, Bagirhat, Jessore, and Patuakhally about 4 inches and upwards; while on the 27th Kasba received 7 inches, Ramchunderpur 6·26 inches, Chandpur 5·65 inches, Bagirhat 5·10 inches, Gournaddi 4·56 inches, Madaripur 4·53 inches, and the following stations more than 3 inches: Meherpur, Satkhira, Khoolna, Narail, Perozepur, Moonshigunge, Naraingunge, Brahmanberiah, and Daudkandi.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 1st of November 1889 :—

NOTICE TO MARINERS—(No. 107).

INDIA, WEST.

BOMBAY COAST.

A system of storm signals established.

THE British Admiralty have given notice (No. 358 of 1889) that on 15th September 1889, the following system of storm signals would be established at the undermentioned ports on the West coast of Hindustán:—

Ports to be warned.

1. Karáchi.	4. Bhaunagar.	7. Alabág.	10. Goa.
2. Porbander.	5. Damaon.	8. Ratnagiri.	11. Murmagao.
3. Veráwal.	6. Bombay.	9. Vingorla.	12. Kárwár.

Storm Signals.

The objects of the system of storm signals are:—

1*st*—To warn shipping at the ports on the West coast of Hindustán, and more especially at Bombay and Karáchi, of the probable existence of cyclonic storms in the Arabian Sea, which they are likely to encounter if they leave for the Red Sea, &c.

2*nd*—To warn the Port Authorities and shipping of the probable or certain approach of a cyclonic storm to the port in question, in order that necessary precautions may be taken.

It should be distinctly understood that the storm signals will only be hoisted before and during cyclonic storms, and will not be used to indicate the prevalence of strong westerly winds, approaching in force to a gale, which occur occasionally during heavy bursts of the south-west monsoon, and are partly, if not entirely, dependent on conditions in the interior of India.

The day signals are made by means of two canvas shapes—a cone and a drum.

The night signals are red lights.

Signal No. 1.—Or warning signal, a black drum.

This signal signifies that a storm is in existence in the Arabian Sea, which may either approach the port, or which may shortly cross one or other of the usual tracks of vessels leaving the port.

There is no night signal corresponding to this day signal.

Signal No. 2.—A black cone apex down by day, and three red lights (triangularly placed) apex down at night.

This signal signifies that a cyclonic storm is likely to affect the port, with strong winds at first from the southward. The shift of wind will depend on the track of the storm (i.e., whether eastward or westward, &c.).

Signal No. 3.—A black cone apex up by day, and three red lights (triangularly placed) apex up at night.

This signal signifies that a cyclonic storm is likely to affect the port, with strong winds at first from the northward. The shift of wind will depend upon the track of the storm (i.e., whether eastward or westward).

Signal No. 4.—A black drum over a black cone (apex down) by day, and four red lights placed in the form of a square at night.

This signal signifies that a heavy cyclone is approaching the port, and that the centre will pass over or very near the port, and hence that the shift of wind is likely to be sudden, and the force of the wind very great.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE INCOME-TAX IN BENGAL FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

FINANCIAL DEPARTMENT—INCOME-TAX.

Calcutta, the 7th November, 1889.

READ—

The Report from the Board of Revenue on the financial results of the Income-tax Administration for the year 1888-89.

Changes in administration.

The administration of the tax was under the direct supervision of the Board of Revenue during the year. In July 1888, on Mr. Goodricke going on furlough, Mr. Kilby was placed in charge of the income-tax work in Calcutta in addition to his duties as Superintendent of the Customs Preventive Service, and in consequence of this arrangement the Income-tax Office was removed to the Custom House premises from the Calcutta Collectorate. The pay of the assessors in twenty-four of the districts was revised, and their services were retained throughout the year instead of, as was formerly the case, for periods of the year only. Under the notification of the Government of India, dated the 14th February 1889, the income of persons residing in the Khondmals and Angul in Orissa has been exempted from the operation of the tax.

Results of the tax.

2. The total demand for the year under all parts of the Act was Rs. 42,41,806, as compared with Rs. 38,08,762 last year, and the total collections, exclusive of advance payments and excess collections, were Rs. 38,88,388, against Rs. 36,09,236 in the previous year. The following table compares the receipts, charges, and net revenue of the two years:—

	Receipts.	Charges.	Percentage of charges.	Net revenue.
	Rs.	Rs.		Rs.
1887-88 ...	37,35,621	1,57,485	4·2	35,78,136
1888-89 ...	39,11,616	1,56,470	4	37,55,146
Increase or decrease	+1,75,995	—1,015	—·2	+1,77,010

The net revenue shows an increase of about 5 per cent., against an increase of about 7 per cent. in the previous year.

Demand, collections and balances.

3. The percentage of final demand to original demand was 93·7, against 92·4, and the percentage of collection (up to 30th June last) to final demand was 98·2, against 98·8 in the previous year. In every division there was an increase in the demand, except Patna and Orissa, which suffered from scarcity. The increase ranges from 17·4 per cent. in Calcutta to ·03 per cent. in Durbhunga. The considerable increase in Calcutta is principally due to the re-assessment of some Marwari traders, who had been for some time past under-assessed, and to the detection of fraudulent evasions of the law, carried on with the collusion of an assessor who has been since dismissed. It is also explained that the assessment of European mercantile firms, companies, &c., has increased. In six districts the entire demand was collected within the financial year, and in ten others before the 30th June last.

The outstanding balance on account of tax amounted to Rs. 3,53,418, of which Rs. 2,13,921 were collected up to 30th June last, leaving a balance of Rs. 1,39,497. Of this balance, Rs. 52,268 are reported to be good and recoverable.

Assessments.

4. The total number of Assessors employed during the year was 51, or one more than that of the previous year. There is a slight falling off in the number of villages visited, the figures being 74,260 and 74,512 in 1888-89 and 1887-88 respectively. The number of persons assessed was 102,407, against 100,238 in the previous year, showing an increase of 2,169.

In Calcutta there has been a marked improvement, not only in the final demand of the tax, but also in the collections, which were about two lakhs and a half over those of the previous year. The decrease in the number of processes issued also shows that the tax was realized with less friction. These results are highly creditable to Mr. Kilby.

Objections

5. The petitions of objection filed were 16,770, against 19,975 in the previous year. The number of successful objections was 6,934, or 41·3 per cent., against 8,199, or 41·04 per cent. In the following districts the percentage of successful objections was above 50:—Rungpore (58·7), Calcutta (55·1), Cuttack (54·5), Beerbhoom (54·4), Jessore (52·1), and Backergunge (52). In Calcutta the Assessors had exceptional difficulties to contend with, but in the other districts named the high percentage does not admit of any satisfactory explanation. Out of 28 appeals preferred to the Board of Revenue, 26 were rejected and two remanded.

Incidence of tax.

6. Excluding the assessments on salaries of Government servants, and on Government securities, the average incidence of tax was Re. 1 to every 18·7 persons in the whole province, against 20·3, the corresponding figure in the previous year. The increase in average incidence which these figures represent occurred in Calcutta only, where it rose from Rs. 2 to Rs. 2-8 per head. Excluding Calcutta, the proportion was Re. 1 to every 37 persons, the same as in 1887-88. The ratio of the persons assessed to the whole population was 1 to 649, against 663 in the previous year. It is highest in Calcutta (1 to 33) and lowest in Cuttack (1 to 1,746).

Coercive measures.

7. There was a satisfactory improvement in the result of coercive measures for the realization of the tax. Out of 102,407 persons finally assessed, actual sale was resorted to only in 272 cases, being a percentage of ·2, against ·4 in the previous year. In eleven districts no sales took place, while in six (viz., Rungpore, Monghyr, Gya, Furreedpore, Maldah and Mozufferpore) the number of sales was comparatively large. Next to Calcutta, the districts in which the greatest number of warrants issued are the 24-Pergunnahs (505) and Patna (397). In these districts no sales took place, but the balances unrealized under warrants are large, and it is not clear that they might not have been reduced by judicious resort to sale in some cases.

In Calcutta the number of distress warrants issued was 1,243, against 2,283 in the previous year. No sales took place in execution of warrants, and the excellent results may be attributed to the better administration in the department.

Expenditure.

8. The total expenditure of the year amounted to Rs. 1,56,479, against Rs. 1,57,485 in the previous year. The percentage of the total cost on the net collections is 4·02, against 4·3 in the previous year.

Classification of income.

9. The largest contribution towards the payment of tax, Rs. 5,83,814, was from assessees under class 1 (incomes from Rs. 500 to Rs. 750); Rs. 4,67,877 were paid by assessees in class VIII (incomes from Rs. 2,500 to Rs. 5,000), and Rs. 4,42,106 by assessees in class XV (incomes Rs. 1,00,000 and more). The lowest contribution was from class XIII (incomes from Rs. 40,000 to Rs. 50,000). Classified according to trades, professions, &c., the largest contributors to the tax were the following :—

	Rs.	Per cent. of total collection.
Money-lenders and changers	5,60,685	15·1
Government servants	3,81,724	10·3
General merchants	3,59,417	9·7
Dealers in other articles	1,90,964	5·1
Piece-goods merchants	1,48,522	4
Managers and assistant managers	1,26,641	3·4
Barristers, &c.	1,20,690	3·2
House proprietors	1,11,481	3
Taxable estate-holders	1,05,860	2·8
Grain merchants	1,03,956	2·8

The percentage of tax levied on profession, commerce, trade, manufacture, &c., is 68·5 on the total realizations, and upon salaries, pensions and gratuities, is 11·5, against 70 and 10·7 respectively in the previous year.

10. The Board report that there is little left to say on the subject of popular feeling in regard to the tax, and that, though there can be no question of its unpopularity, there is seldom any open expression of discontent even amongst the classes who have to pay it.

11. The names of the Deputy Collectors specially reported by the Board as having done good service will be communicated to the Appointment Department.

ORDER.—Ordered that a copy of this Resolution, together with a copy of the Board's Report, be submitted to the Government of India, Finance and Commerce Department, for information, and that a copy of the Resolution be forwarded to the Board of Revenue.

Ordered further that extract paragraph 11 of the Resolution, together with extract paragraph 47 of the Report, be forwarded to the Appointment Department for information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE PORT OF CHITTAGONG FOR 1888-89.

4. The decrease in the number and tonnage of vessels engaged in foreign trade was due partly to the falling off of the grain exports to foreign ports and partly to the decline of jute exports to America. The rivalry of river steam navigation companies made it cheaper to carry the article to Calcutta than to Chittagong, and consequently jute was shipped more largely from that port. The rivalry has, however, now ceased, and it may be expected that the jute trade will be more prosperous this year. There was a large increase in the number of Chittagong and other native coasting vessels, fewer European vessels having been employed in the coasting trade. The number of trading steamers remained the same, but the tonnage was considerably in excess of that of the previous year owing to steam-vessels of larger tonnage having visited the port. The increase in the number and tonnage of mail steamers was owing to the British India Steam Navigation Company having organised a bi-weekly service between Chittagong, Rangoon, and Calcutta.

5. The following statement gives the statistics of the principal articles of import and export during the past two years :—

* The figures are not given in the report.
† Rs. 3,193 value of tea exported to foreign ports omitted in last year's figures.

6. The considerable decrease in grain exports during the past year as compared with those of 1887-88 was, as already observed, due to the comparative failure of the rice crop in the whole division, and to the exportation of rice to the western districts, where high prices prevailed.

7. The jute trade, which improved much in 1886 and made a great advance in 1887-88, shows a diminution in value, owing, as pointed out above, to a smaller quantity having been exported to America during the year, due to the diversion of a part of the trade to Calcutta: the exports to the United Kingdom were, however, larger than in 1887-88.

8. The report under review does not furnish information regarding the quantity of jute exported during the year, and indeed in regard to trade generally it is extremely meagre. The supply of statistics of the jute trade in every report was especially desired in the Resolution on the Administration Report of the Port for 1882-83, and again in the Resolution on the Report for the year 1886-87. It is hoped that future reports will deal in greater detail with the subject of trade.

9. The statistics of the salt trade show a satisfactory increase. The very large increase in value and quantity of salt imported is attributable partly to the very small stock in hand at the beginning of the year, and partly to the healthy state of the trade and to the increased facilities for bonded trade with Naraingunge. The exports to Home Ports also show a considerable increase. The importation of mineral oil shows a great decrease, as there was no importation from America during the year. A larger quantity of the oil having been imported in the previous year than the actual demand for the commodity, a very large stock was on hand in the beginning of 1887-88, and merchants did not care to import full cargoes from America during the past year.

10. The receipts of the port and the pilotage funds amounted, respectively, to Rs. 51,111 and Rs. 11,766 against Rs. 56,552 and Rs. 16,235 in 1887-88. The diminution in the receipts of the port is due mainly to the decrease in port dues on the smaller tonnage required by the trade of the port, and to the decrease in mooring fees owing to a smaller number of European vessels visiting the port: to this latter cause is also to be ascribed the low figures of the pilotage receipts.

While the income of the port fell off considerably, there was more than a corresponding reduction in the expenditure. The charges of the port during the year amounted to Rs. 30,509 against Rs. 56,074 in 1887-88.

The dockyard service charges were greatly reduced, there having been no heavy expenditure on account of the cost of moorings or of laying them down, (shown as miscellaneous charges in the last report) as there was in 1887-88. The Public Works charges also show a very great reduction, there having been no clearance of the Moheskhally khal during the year under review. The pilotage charges amounted to Rs. 16,058 against Rs. 15,646 in the year before. The Commissioners of the Port, to whom the management of the pilotage fund and the pilot service has been transferred, have resolved to establish equilibrium between the receipts and the charges of the fund by effecting a reduction in the expenditure. The port fund closed on the 31st March 1889 with a credit balance of Rs. 67,958, and the pilotage fund with a debit balance of Rs. 2,555, while the year under review opened with credit balances of Rs. 47,357 and Rs. 1,718.

The accounts of the pilotage fund have not yet been finally adjusted, and the figures are therefore liable to correction.

11. Five vessels, aggregating 583·9 tons, were built during the year against two, aggregating 221·5 tons, in the previous year.

12. The jetty was kept in good order, and arrangements for lighting were completed: the depth of water at the head remained 15 feet. The moorings and buoys were kept in efficient condition.

13. The Kutubdea light-house and the Norman's Point beacons were in good order. The question of improving this light as well as the general question of the lighting of the Chittagong coast are now under the consideration of the Government.

14. There was only one pilotage accident during the year. The barque Cape Wrath grounded but floated again with the next flood without receiving any injury. The pilot in charge of the vessel was departmentally warned

Two wrecks occurred in the Bay and its vicinity. The British barque Grosvenor grounded on the D'Apres shoal through the default of the master of the vessel, whose certificate has been dealt with under the law by the Court of Enquiry appointed to investigate the cause of the grounding. The vessel, which was given up as lost, has been found, and steps have been taken for salving the ship and its cargo which is partly damaged. The schooner Mura Shahib, of Coringa, stranded and capsized at Jalchira on her way from Naraingunge to Chittagong.

15. The question of supplying a suitable steam-tug for the port is under separate consideration. Other wants brought to notice by the Port Officer are a more powerful heave-up boat and an efficient fire-engine.

16. The general health of the port was good. There was no epidemic disease.

17. The services of Mr. E. Good, the Port Officer, have been taken over by the Commissioners of the Port, and he has been appointed their Vice-Chairman.

SCARCITY IN THE PATNA DIVISION.

The 12th November 1889.—The following report is published for general information.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal.

P. NOLAN,
Secretary to the Government of Bengal.

No. 449 $\frac{G}{F}$ dated Bankipore, the 4th November 1889.

To—The Secretary to the Government of Bengal, Revenue Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit a report on the scarcity in this division for the fortnight ending 31st October.

2. The scarcity is at an end. What little remains is now hardly to be distinguished from the case of the very poor in average years

3. Mr. Power reports that the whole of Chumparun is out of danger. He has visited that region flooded by the Great Gandak, and now has "no apprehension about its safety." The standing paddy is in good condition. There was abundance of water to irrigate high land rice; and rabi sowings have been very successful.

4. During the fortnight I visited part of the Dhaka thana with Mr. Power and Mr. Sealy. They told me there was so much moisture in the ground, and such a strong stream in all the northern rivers, that it was not necessary, and perhaps not possible, to bund them up. This points the difference between this and last year.

Mr. Power adds:—"On the whole, prospects are brilliant."

5. The kitchen at Motihari was stopped on the 31st. Markets are fully supplied with food. Prices are stationary. Health is fair. Relief works and gratuitous relief are all stopped.

6. From Sitamarhi all distress is reported at an end. Mr. MacIntosh writes:—"The condition of the people is now most satisfactory, and it can be safely asserted that all distress has disappeared. Ample labour is obtainable everywhere, on the railway or in the rabi fields." The last remaining relief centre, the Sursund kitchen, was to have been closed at the end of last week. The only bad point is the cholera, which does not a to abate.

7. "In the Sudder subdivision of Mozufferpore also there has been a great improvement. Gratuitous relief has been practically stopped everywhere." Mr. Harris visited Kanti and Regahi, and found that the high numbers of people receiving relief had fallen to 163, or less than a twentieth part. It was also found that the report about distress in the Kanti elaqua beyond the Bagmati, noted in paragraph 8 of my last report, was a false alarm.

8 Much additional land is being prepared for rabi. The rice crop is generally very good. The want of the hathiya rain will cause the loss of a good deal of the high land rice. This is not a thing of much importance.

9. Mr. Harris has let Mr. Gayer return, having no further need of his services. He has also let his temporary canoongos go. Of the Rs. 30,000 last sanctioned for loans, he has expended Rs. 17,000.

10. Durbhanga repeats and continues its good report. There is nothing to be done now except close accounts. Prospects are uncommonly good.

11. The other districts also report good condition and prospects. If we had had a hathiya rain, we should have had an unusually brilliant harvest. Without it we shall have a good harvest, with some loss of rice on high ground.

12. This may be considered the last regular fortnightly report. Our future work will be merely closing our accounts and answering some particular questions lately asked.

SUMMARY OF THE RAINFALL AND METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL, AND OF THE METEOROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN ASSAM, FOR THE MONTH OF OCTOBER 1889.

OCTOBER is the month in which, as a rule, the south-west monsoon entirely retreats from the province of Bengal, and its place is taken by the north-east monsoon, which slowly and gradually establishes itself over the province. The south-west monsoon, in its gradual retreat southwards, is followed by a northerly wind current, and over the area of interaction light and variable winds prevail. As this interaction in normal years takes place for a portion of the month over Bengal, winds over the province are usually light and variable; but as the south-west monsoon retreats over the Bay, conditions become favourable for the formation of cyclonic storms, and it is in October that the largest and fiercest cyclones are formed, for during this month most of the conditions are favourable for their production on an extensive scale. These storms differ widely in different years in their nature and in their line of march, and they sometimes travel towards Bengal, and in other cases they cross the peninsula and pass into the Arabian Sea.

The general rainfall, due to the continuance of the south-west monsoon over Bengal, usually ceases during the first and second weeks in October, but even after this time local showers may fall. After the second week of October any rainfall which is brought up to Bengal is usually due to the formation and movement of cyclonic storms in the Bay, and it will evidently depend on the direction of their march and on the nature of such storms whether any rain at all is received in the latter half of October; and if any is received, the amounts will vary with the nature of the storm.

The rainfall of October in normal years is consequently due to two distinct causes, and as the second is, from its nature, an extremely variable and uncertain one, the average distribution of rainfall in October is decidedly more irregular than in the previous monsoon months, and also in any particular year its actual distribution may be of an extremely capricious character. The normal distribution of rainfall in October can therefore only be described with approximate accuracy. The average rainfall in Behar (with the exception of the Purneah and North Bhagulpore districts) and Chutia Nagpur (excluding the districts bordering on South-West Bengal) varies from two and-a-half to four inches. The amount is least in the Gya district. Rainfall varies from four to six inches in the case of the previously excepted districts, the western districts of Orissa, and the whole of Bengal, excluding the Julpigoree district, and a narrow strip extending along the coast and bounded on the north by a curved line running through Cuttack, Jajpore, Diamond Harbour, Port Canning, Chandpore, and Chittagong. Over this long narrow area, the width of which varies from 20 to 60 miles, the average rainfall exceeds six inches.

The principal features to be considered, therefore, in the meteorology of October, are the date of the retreat of the south-west monsoon from the province, and the nature and the direction of movement of the cyclonic storms formed in the Bay.

Meteorology of the month.—At the commencement of October the south-west monsoon current which was blowing over the province had become extremely feeble, and rainfall had practically ceased over the greater part of the province, though in Orissa light and fairly well-distributed rain still continued to be received Elsewhere beyond a few light isolated showers in East and North Bengal, there was no rain. Pressure at the close of September and on the first day or two of October was low in Bengal, owing to the fact that a feeble low-pressure area had passed inland from the north-east of the Bay, but pressure then steadily rose in Bengal and became relatively high, while comparatively low pressures were reported from the stations on the west coast of the Bay. During the period from the 4th to the 11th October, pressure continued generally high, but notwithstanding this two exceedingly shallow areas of relatively low pressure were formed in Bengal, the first of which existed on the 5th in Lower Bengal, and the second on the 10th in Northern Bengal, both of which, however, rapidly disappeared without affecting the general weather conditions beyond rather decidedly increasing the cloud proportion and the number of local showers, which were in some cases accompanied by thunderstorms. During this period also a low-pressure area with squally weather was formed in the Bay, probably to the west or south-west of Diamond Island, but it did not develop into a definite storm, and in its westward advance it only gave rise to squally weather and heavy rain along the Orissa coast from the 5th or 6th up to about the 9th of October. With these disturbed conditions, therefore, showers continued to fall in most of the districts of the province, except Behar, up till the 13th or 14th, when fine settled weather commenced in all districts except Orissa

At this time another small storm commenced to form off the Coromandel coast, and on the 13th and 14th a distinct barometric depression existed at some distance to the east of Madras. The storm, however, did not concentrate to any great extent, and it crossed the coast as a rather feeble storm apparently near Nellore early on the morning of the 16th, advancing first nearly across the peninsula towards the Arabian Sea, and then recurving in a north-easterly direction towards Central India and the Central Provinces. Immediately the storm passed inland a wave of moist southerly winds began to drift northwards along the west coast of the Bay, giving heavy rain to Orissa from about the 18th, while also fairly numerous showers were received in Chutia Nagpur and South-West Bengal, owing perhaps partly to this advance of moist winds up the Bay, and partly to the effects of the feeble storm or depression which had then advanced into the Central Provinces.

On the 21st and 22nd another barometric depression commenced to form in the Bay, apparently off the Orissa and Ganjam coasts, which continued to develop slowly and perhaps to approach more nearly to the Orissa coast up till the 25th of October, when it began to move very slowly in a north-easterly direction. On the morning of the 25th, the small storm, which was only of moderate strength, was about south of Saugor Island and south-east of False Point, and on the 26th its centre was to the south east or east-south-east of Saugor Island. In then advanced across the coast to the east of Saugor Island, and on the 27th its centre was apparently not far from Burrisal, while on the 28th it was well inland and had commenced to fill up very rapidly; so that on this day it existed only as a shallow low-pressure area of irregular shape over East and part of North Bengal, the lowest pressure being reported at Dacca. The storm was never more than of slight intensity, giving cyclonic winds of moderate force at the land stations, though probably at sea weather was very decidedly squally. During the formation of this storm rain continued general and moderately heavy in Orissa, and as the small storm advanced inland, heavy rain was brought to all the districts through which it passed. The small storm for some days indeed caused a complete reversal of the previous weather conditions over the southern half of the province and, instead of the fine settled weather which had obtained, skies became completely overcast, temperature and humidity increased, pressure fell rather rapidly, and, as above stated, heavy rain was received. In the northern half of the province, however, conditions were scarcely disturbed at all by the advance of the storm, and no changes occurred beyond a few showers in North Bengal and a general increase in the amount of cloud proportion

The storm filled up so rapidly on the 28th that on the 29th it had practically ceased to exist, and this was followed again by an almost complete reversal of the weather conditions. The damp winds were almost immediately driven back by a dry northerly and north-westerly current, temperature and humidity decreased rapidly, while pressure increased, and weather became of the ordinary cold weather type, and before the close of the month conditions appeared to be settled for the north-east monsoon.

Pressure.—The principal variations of pressure during the month have already been alluded to in the previous summary. In the beginning of October the mean pressure was in defect of the normal by about two hundredths of an inch in Behar, part of North Bengal and Assam; but in other districts the variations from the normal were generally less than a hundredth of an inch. For the period from the 4th to the 11th of the month these conditions were reversed, and pressure was above the normal by amounts ranging between two and six hundredths of an inch in all districts except Behar, where the excess amounts were much smaller. From the 11th to the 16th, pressure remained fairly steady, but from this date a fall set in and pressure became considerably below the normal, the defect culminating with the development and passage of the small cyclonic storm through South Bengal, where at Saugor Island for the week ending the 25th a defect in the pressure of no less than a fifth of an inch was recorded. The effects of the small storm continued even to be shown in the mean pressures for the last week of the month, which were generally a few hundredths of an inch below the normal. For the whole month, therefore, the mean pressure has been generally below the normal by amounts which average about four or five hundredths of an inch.

Temperature—Was at the commencement of the month generally above the normal, and this excess continued up to about the middle of the month. The opposite variation then set in, and for the week ending October 18th, temperature was in slight defect, but in the following week an excess was again registered, while in the last week of the month, South-West and East Bengal, Orissa and Chutia Nagpur showed defective temperatures of about 1° to 2°, and Assam, Behar, and North Bengal showed excess temperatures of about an equal amount. The mean temperature therefore for the whole month has been decidedly above the normal in all districts except Orissa, where a defect of 0·7° was registered. In South-West, East and North Bengal the excess temperatures were usually less than 1°, in Behar the excess averaged 1·4°, and in Chutia Nagpur it equalled 2·1°. In Assam, on the other hand, the excess was only 1·2°.

Rainfall.—The periods of rainfall and the cause of its occurrence have already been dealt with, and therefore the amounts only have now to be stated. The heaviest falls have occurred in Orissa, where an average amount of 9·24 inches has been reported, which is about half as large again as the usual fall. In East Bengal an average amount of 7·19 inches has been registered, or nearly two inches in excess of the normal, while in South-West Bengal the fall has averaged 4·88 inches, or a little larger than the usual amount. In North Bengal and Chutia Nagpur the falls average a little over two inches, and in South Behar about one and-a-third inches, and these districts have received falls only equal to about two-thirds and one-half the normal amounts respectively. The smallest fall recorded has been in North Behar, which has only averaged 0·28 inches, or about a tenth only of the usual fall.

The following table gives a comparison between the actual monthly and total rainfall and the normal rainfall of the province up to the end of October in the same form that has been employed in previous monthly abstracts of the present year. The figures represent the ratio of the rainfall of each month of the present year to the normal rainfall expressed as a percentage The table thus gives a condensed summary of the rainfall data of the year for each meteorological division. The first ten columns give the percentage amount of rainfall received in each month, and the last column the percentage rainfall of the whole period from the 1st of January to the end of October :—

If the rainfall observations are taken up more in detail, it will be found that, roughly, the southern half of the whole province has received an excess rainfall, while the northern half shows a deficiency, the defects increasing in amount towards the north-west and north-east of the province. Thus a line dividing the province into areas of excess rainfalls on the south and defective falls on the north would start from the Palamow district of Chutia Nagpur, running in a south-easterly direction to Bankoora and Hooghly, and then running in a north-easterly direction to the north of the Mymensing district. The line of heaviest excess, where it has been larger than five inches, corresponds almost exactly with the line of advance of the storm which crossed the coast near Saugor Island, and in several cases excess, falls of seven, eight or even 11 inches of rain are recorded in South Bengal. On the other hand, in the Sarun and Chumparun districts in the north-west of the province, and in the Julpigoree, Cooch Behar and Rungpore districts in the north-east, together with portions of the Bhagulpore, Purneah and Monghyr districts, there have been very defective falls, and in these cases the defects are larger than three inches, and in one case even a defect of five inches is recorded. Elsewhere, however, the defects are usually not larger than one or two inches.

The following table gives full data of the comparison of the actual and normal rainfall of the month of October in all districts of the province. The figures are obtained in the manner explained in preceding monthly summaries. The first column gives the average district rainfall as determined from the rainfall observations of the past 15 years. The second column gives the actual district rainfall as determined from the actual weighted rainfall of the month at the reporting stations in the district. The third column expresses the ratio of the actual district rainfall to the normal district rainfall expressed as a percentage. The fourth column gives the same information as the third column in a slightly different form. It states by what percentage the actual rainfall varied in excess (+) or in defect (—) from the normal fall:—

* Means of six days

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed at percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional station for the period in question during the past 17 years are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional station for the period in question during the past 17 stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 8th of November 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 8TH OF NOVEMBER 1889.

DURING the previous week a rather small and feeble cyclonic storm had passed from the Bay in a north-easterly direction into South and South-East Bengal. The disturbed conditions and rainfall brought up by the storm had, however, very rapidly been driven back after the filling up of the depression, and by the close of that week cold weather conditions were setting in over the whole province, and the north-east monsoon season may be said to have commenced in Bengal at that time. The week which has now to be reviewed has been characterized by the continuance of normal north-east monsoon conditions, and fine weather with almost cloudless skies has prevailed in all districts, and, with one or two insignificant exceptions, the whole province has been rainless throughout the week. The conditions of presssure and of temperature have as usual oscillated slightly from day to day, but the general character of the weather has remained unchanged. On the 2nd pressure fell slowly, but this was succeeded by a rise which lasted at most stations for about two days. For the following two days pressure was almost steady, but this was followed by a decided fall which amounted to about a twentieth of an inch, while on the 8th pressure remained almost steady. In the case of temperature there was a distinct increase for the first two or three days amounting to between two or three degrees in the mean temperature, but this was succeeded by a steady fall lasting almost to the end of the week, and from the 7th to the 8th in particular the fall in the mean temperature in some cases almost amounted to two degrees.

Pressure.—The defect in the mean pressure, which has been so characteristic a feature in the meteorology of the past month, has continued to be shown during the present week. At every station in the province the mean pressure for the week has been below the normal, the usual defect ranging between about three and six hundredths of an inch. The defects have been smallest in Orissa and Chutia Nagpur and in some parts of Behar, where they are in many cases only from one to three hundredths of an inch, while in East Bengal they average more than a twentieth of an inch.

Temperature.—The mean temperature of the whole province for the week has been between six and seven-tenths of a degree in excess of the normal. The excess has been largest in East and North Bengal, where it is from one and-a-half to two degrees, but, on the other hand, in Chutia Nagpur the mean temperature has even been in slight (0·8°) defect of the normal.

The general temperatures recorded in the various districts of the province during the week, and the range from day to night, together with the variation from the normal values, are best shown in the following table, where the average maximum, minimum and mean temperatures at nine typical stations in the province are compared with their normal values for the same period. It will be seen from these figures that the principal variation from the normal temperature has been in the day or maximum temperature, which has generally been one or two or even more degrees in excess; while, on the other hand, at several stations the night or minimum temperatures have actually been below the normal. At Darjeeling, however, temperature has been largely (more than five degrees) in excess of the normal both by night and day:—

Rainfall.—With the exception of light showers of no importance at Narail and Jessore on the 5th and 6th, the whole province has been rainless throughout the week.

The results of observations at the Alipore Observatory are not rigorously comparable with the registers of past years (at the Park Street Observatory). The barometer is about 8 feet higher at Alipore, and, other things being equal, reads therefore ·003 lower. The diurnal range of temperature is also greater at Alipore, and the mean temperature apparently about 0·8° lower; and finally, the thermometer which furnished the record of temperature at the Surveyor-General's Office during 20 years and upwards is found to read 0·6 higher than the Kew standard thermometer, which is the standard of reference at the present Observatory.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No. 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

General remarks on the fluctuation of principal staples carried over the East Indian Railway during five weeks ended 28th September 1889.

INCREASES.

Piece-goods, European.—The increase under this head was chiefly in despatches from Howrah, and may be ascribed principally to increased business done, owing to the approach of the Doorga Poojah holidays.

Grain and pulses.—This was principally in despatches from Cawnpore, Shikohabad, Hathras, Delhi, and the North-Western Railway to Howrah to meet demands for local consumption.

Minerals.—This increase was in lime from Ondal for the Kidderpore Docks, and in the same article from Katni.

Brass and copper.—Due to heavier despatches of the unmanufactured metals from Howrah, principally to Mirzapore; there was also a slight improvement in the receipts of Bombay consignments viâ Jubbulpore.

Iron.—Chiefly in despatches of tramway materials for Shajehanpore.

Ghee.—Due to good demand for ghee in Calcutta in anticipation of the Doorga Poojah holidays: supplies were drawn to a considerable extent from the ghee-producing districts in the North-Western Provinces.

Railway material, Foreign.—There was a decrease in the weight carried, attended with an increase in earnings; the former was due to a falling off in the short-lead consignments from the Great Indian Peninsular Railway viâ Jubbulpore, and the latter to long-lead despatches for the Bengal-Nagpur Railway from Howrah to Katni.

Salt.—This was chiefly in despatches from Howrah, due to demand before closing business for the Doorgah Poojah holidays.

Saltpetre.—Due to a fair demand in Calcutta following on poor business during the preceding month.

Stone.—This increase was made up principally in despatches of road metal from Pakur and Asansol to Calcutta and suburban stations, and of hewn stone from Agra.

Sugar and jaggree.—The increase was chiefly in despatches of jaggree from Howrah to Loop line stations for tobacco manufacture and of sugar from stations on the Dinapore and Allahabad districts. There were also increases in the short-lead traffic from the Oudh and Rohilkhund Railway at Aligarh and the North-Western Railway at Ghaziabad, principally for Rajputana.

Tobacco.—The increase was principally in despatches from Mokameh, Barh, and Patna to Hathras and the Great Indian Peninsular Railway.

DECREASES.

Coal and coke.—There was a decrease in the upward and an increase in the downward traffic, resulting in a net increase in the weight carried and a decrease in the earnings. The decrease in the upward traffic was due to smaller despatches for foreign Railways, and the improvement in the downward traffic was due to continued demand for export.

Cotton.—There was little or no cotton of the old crop available for despatch, and the new crop had not been picked before the close of the month.

Jute, raw.—The season is reported to be a late one; while last year, during September, there was a brisk demand for the new season's crop.

Gunny.—The decrease was serious, and may be attributed to the extremely poor business done in wheat and seeds for export.

Wheat.—Due to there being no demand in Europe for Indian wheat, and to poor stocks in India.

Rice (husked and unhusked).—The falling off in this staple was due to considerable despatches of rice last year from Howrah and the Loop line stations to the Dinapore district to meet demands owing to local scarcity; there being no such demand this year, the upward traffic shows a serious decrease.

Other rain and spring crops.—The decrease was principally in short distance despatches from stations on the Tundla district.

Seeds.—The decrease was in linseed and mustard and rape seed; the stocks held appear to have been small and holders demanded high rates.

INDIA, WEST.

BOMBAY COAST.

A system of storm signals established.

THE British Admiralty have given notice (No. 358 of 1889) that on 15th September 1889, the following system of storm signals would be established at the undermentioned ports on the West coast of Hindustán :—

Ports to be warned.

1. Karáchi.	4. Bhaunagar.	7. Alabág.	10. Goa.
2. Porbander.	5. Damaon.	8. Ratnagiri.	11. Murmagao.
3. Veráwal.	6. Bombay.	9. Vingorla.	12. Kárwár.

Storm Signals.

The objects of the system of storm signals are :—

1*st*—To warn shipping at the ports on the West coast of Hindustán, and more especially at Bombay and Karáchi, of the probable existence of cyclonic storms in the Arabian Sea, which they are likely to encounter if they leave for the Red Sea, &c.

2*nd*—To warn the Port Authorities and shipping of the probable or certain approach of a cyclonic storm to the port in question, in order that necessary precautions may be taken.

It should be distinctly understood that the storm signals will only be hoisted before and during cyclonic storms, and will not be used to indicate the prevalence of strong westerly winds, approaching in force to a gale, which occur occasionally during heavy bursts of the south-west monsoon, and are partly, if not entirely, dependent on conditions in the interior of India.

The day signals are made by means of two canvas shapes—a cone and a drum.

The night signals are red lights.

Signal No. 1.—Or warning signal, a black drum.

This signal signifies that a storm is in existence in the Arabian Sea, which may either approach the port, or which may shortly cross one or other of the usual tracks of vessels leaving the port.

There is no night signal corresponding to this day signal.

Signal No. 2.—A black cone apex down by day, and three red lights (triangularly placed) apex down at night.

This signal signifies that a cyclonic storm is likely to affect the port, with strong winds at first from the southward. The shift of wind will depend on the track of the storm (i.e., whether eastward or westward, &c.).

Signal No. 3.—A black cone apex up by day, and three red lights (triangularly placed) apex up at night.

This signal signifies that a cyclonic storm is likely to affect the port, with strong winds at first from the northward. The shift of wind will depend upon the track of the storm (i.e., whether eastward or westward).

Signal No. 4.—A black drum over a black cone (apex down) by day, and four red lights placed in the form of a square at night.

This signal signifies that a heavy cyclone is approaching the port, and that the centre will pass over or very near the port, and hence that the shift of wind is likely to be sudden, and the force of the wind very great.

ORDERS BY THE LIEUT.-GOVERNOR OF BENGAL.

MUNICIPAL AND LOCAL.

NOTIFICATION.

The 12th November 1889.—It is hereby notified for general information that, in exercise of the power vested in the Local Government by section 351 of Act III (B.C) of 1884, and on the recommendation of the Commissioners of the Bazitpore Municipality, in the district of Mymensingh, made at a meeting, the Lieutenant-Governor confirms the bye-laws set forth below, which have been framed by the Commissioners of the said Municipality, under section 350 of the said Act.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

BYE-LAWS.

For regulating the conduct of business at the meetings of the Commissioners.

1. The ordinary meetings prescribed by section 38 of the Act shall be held at the office of the Commissioners at a fixed hour of a fixed day of each month, to be decided upon at the last ordinary meeting of the preceding year.

2. A notice of the business to be brought forward at every meeting shall be circulated to each Commissioner, and shall be hung up at the office of the Commissioners not less than three days before the date of the meeting:

Provided that the accidental failure of service of notice on any Commissioner shall not invalidate the proceedings of any meeting.

3. Any Commissioner desirous of submitting any motion to the meeting must forward a copy of such motion to the Chairman not less than seven days before the date of such meeting for incorporation in the notice of business.

4. All such notices of motions shall be entered in a book to be kept in the office of the Commissioners, and shall be numbered and dated as they are received in consecutive numbers.

5 At ordinary meetings the business shall be transacted in the following order, unless the President, with the consent of the majority of the Commissioners present, determine otherwise:—

(a).—The proceedings of the last ordinary meeting, and of any special meeting since held, shall be laid before the meeting, and if confirmed as correctly written shall be signed by the Chairman.

(b).—Any business postponed from the last ordinary meeting.

(c).—The business contained in the notice of the meeting prescribed by Rule 2 in the order in which it appears in the notice paper, unless the President, with the consent of the majority of the Commissioners present, determines otherwise.

(d).—Additional business brought forward by the President with the consent of the majority of the Commissioners present.

(e).—The President may, with the consent of the majority of the Commissioners present, adjourn the ordinary meeting, provided that no business save that which the original meeting left unfinished shall be transacted at an adjourned meeting.

6. At a special meeting no business save that for which the meeting was called shall be transacted.

7. Every motion or amendment shall be reduced to writing and seconded before being put to the meeting or debated. The mover of any motion or amendment may withdraw the same at any period of the debate.

8. Every amendment shall be so worded as to form an intelligible sentence either alone or in its proper place in an original motion as the case may be, provided that no amendment can negitive the original motion.

9. The President may, for reasons to be recorded in the minutes of the proceedings—

(a) rule that a motion or amendment is illegal or out of order ; and

(b) make such alterations in a motion or amendment as shall, in his opinion, render it legal and in order, and may in case (a) refuse to put the motion or amendent to the meeting, and in case (b) refuse to put the motion or amendment to the meeting, unless and until the proposer or seconder accept the alteration so made, and the decision of the majority of the Commissioners present shall be final.

10. In discussing questions coming before the meeting, a Commissioner shall speak from his place, shall rise when he speaks, and address the Chairman. A Commissioner shall not be allowed to read his speech, but he may refresh his memory by referring to notes, and he may read as part of his speech passages from books or papers cited in support of his argument. At any time if the President rises, any Commissioner speaking shall immediately resume his seat. No Commissioner shall be heard except upon business then regularly before the meeting, or by permission of the Chairman (specially obtained), in explanation of what he had said in a previous debate. No Commissioner other than the mover shall speak more than once upon a question except by permission of the Chairman, but the mover shall be allowed, if he have spoken to the question, when making his motion, to close the debate with a reply. A Commissioner who has spoken upon a motion may speak over again upon any amendment thereof afterwards moved ; and a Commissioner may explain by permission of the Chairman what he has before spoken if it has been misunderstood. No Commissioner in debate shall name another Commissioner. Should more than one member rise to address the meeting at the same time, the order of precedence shall be determined by the President.

11. Votes shall be taken either by show of hands, or by poll. The votes of the Commissioners shall be taken by the President. Any three Commissioners present may demand a poll. When the show of hands has been taken, the President shall declare whether the resolution has been carried or not, and every matter shall be held to be decided and concluded on such declaration being made, unless a poll be at once demanded.

12. Voting by proxy is prohibited, and no Commissioner may vote upon any motion or amendment unless he be present in person at the time when it is put to the vote.

13. When an amendment upon any motion is moved, or when two or more such amendments are moved, the President shall read the terms of the original motion and of the amendment or amendments proposed. If there be but one amendment proposed, the question shall be put as proposed to be amended. If the amendment be carried in the affirmative, the original motion falls, but if the amendment be negatived, the original question shall be put to the meeting. If more than one amendment be proposed, the President shall put that amendment first which he thinks may most conveniently be first disposed of, and so, if necessary, of all the others. If any motion as made involves several points, the President at his discretion may divide it, so that each point may be determined separately.

14. When any Commissioner shall have occasion to ask a question of another Commissioner relating to the business of the meeting, he shall ask the question through the President.

15. Subject to the foregoing rules, the President shall regulate the course of all business brought before any meeting of the Commissioners. He shall preserve order. No discussion on any point of order shall be allowed unless the President think fit to take the opinion of the Commissioners thereon. Any Commissioner may at any time submit a point of order for the decision of the Commissioners.

16. No subject once finally disposed of can be reconsidered within six months except on a question signed by not less than two-thirds of the Commissioners.

17. The Commissioners in meeting may from time to time appoint such and so many Committees, either of a general or special nature, and consisting of such Commissioners as they think fit, for any purpose or purposes which, in the opinion of the meeting, can be conveniently regulated and managed by such Committee, but the business transacted by any such Committee shall be subject to the approval of the Commissioners in meeting.

18. The members of each such Committee shall hold office for one year only, but shall be eligible for re-appointment.

19. Any member of a Committee who, without the previous permission of the Chairman of the Commissioners, shall fail to attend three consecutive meetings of such Committee, shall cease thereby to be a member thereof, and the Committee shall apply to the Commissioners to appoint another member in his place.

20. A Committee appointed under Rule 17 may meet and adjourn as it thinks proper. The quorum shall consist of not less than three of its members. The President shall be the Chairman of the Commissioners, or, in his absence, the Vice-Chairman, or, in their absence, any member present elected by the meeting. The rule prohibiting any person from speaking except when standing, or more than once on the same question, shall not apply to meeting of a Committee.

25. The bills for the payment of taxes of each quarter shall be presented to the persons liable to the payment thereof by the first two weeks of the said quarter. If the amount mentioned in each such bill be not paid on presentation thereof, or within the first two months of the quarter for which the sum is demanded, the notice of demand, with copy of the bill in the form prescribed in the Act, shall be served on the first week of the third month of the quarter on the person liable to pay the same. RESOLUTION ON THE REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION OF THE POLICE DEPARTMENT FOR THE YEAR 1888.

RESOLUTION.

POLICE

Dated Calcutta, the 18th November 1889.

READ—

The report on the administration of the Police Department for the year 1888.

Read also—

The reports for the years 1886 and 1887, and the orders recorded by the Lieutenant-Governor thereon.

The report was, as usual, submitted with commendable punctuality, and it is satisfactory also to note that there was an improvement in the dates on which the reports were received from the various divisions. Colonel Knyvett, who relieved Mr. Veasey on the 13th July 1888, and officiated for him till the end of the year, has drawn up the general report for the province.

THE POLICE FORCE.

2. The first portion of the report is taken up with matters relating to the organization and discipline of the force. As there is now no separate municipal police, the force is divided into only two main bodies,—the regular police and the rural police,—and at the beginning of the year the former consisted of 23,380 officers and men, the estimated cost being Rs. 41,07,546, and the latter of 169,523 men, whose pay amounts to Rs. 55,86,913 in cash, but some of whom are remunerated also by being allowed the use of land, the total amount of which is not stated, but was, in 1881, 14,453 bighas. The force has not been increased of recent years: on the contrary it has been reduced, and in consequence of this, and of the growing needs of the Administration, the reserves which used to exist in each district have been reduced to mere skeletons, nearly all the men being required for active duty. The average pay of the constable has, during the last five years, slightly diminished, while that of the chowkidar has slightly increased. The following table shows the strength and cost of the police force in the year under review and in the preceding 15 years:—

	Average of five years ending			1888.
	1877.	1882.	1887.
Regular (inclusive of municipal) police—
Strength	26,724	25,304	24,064	23,380
Cost	44,78,948	42,61 507	42,03,387	41,07,546
Rural police—
Strength	182,396	175,923	170,935	169,523
Cost (in cash)	43,97,268	50,41,105*	53,14,518	55,86,913

In 1880 the policy of reducing the land in possession of the chowkidars and of increasing their cash remuneration was introduced.

3. Regarding the weakness of the reserves, Mr. Veasey in his report for 1887 remarked:—"The difficulty which we have had all along to contend with in not being able to keep even a small body of men together for any length of time on account of the extreme weakness of the reserves still exists, and has indeed been aggravated by the constantly increasing demands for escorts for both prisoners and treasure." The demands for escorts for prisoners increased during the year under review owing to the establishment of intermediate jails, and there was also a considerable increase in the demands for escorting treasure. The figures for preceding years are given below:—

Total number of officers and men required.

	Average of three years ending				1888.
	1878.	1881.	1884.	1887.
Treasure, stamps, &c.	10,306	11,019	11,800	11,418	12,095
Prisoners and lunatics	10,408	10,645	11,676	12,478	14,020
Miscellaneous	2,609	2,629	4,331	3,577	4,851

4. The question of strengthening and, if need be, of reorganizing the reserves has for some time engaged the attention of the Lieutenant-Governor, and His Honour has at present under consideration a proposal, submitted by the Inspector-General, to increase the reserves of twenty-three districts at a total annual cost of Rs. 43,128. As regards the general question, the Lieutenant-Governor entertains no doubt that an increase to the district reserves is a desirable object in itself, and the real difficulty is to devise a scheme which will practically give security, and which will yet not prove too costly, regard being had to the very narrow margin of the income of these provinces available to the Lieutenant-Governor for new expenditure. The subject, however, is not free from difficulty, apart from the question of cost. For example, in Behar the reserve police and the station police are practically homogeneous, and transfers can be made from one to the other, and in case of necessity the reserve could be strengthened by drafting men from the station police. In Bengal and Orissa, however, the locally recruited police—and the majority of the force must be locally recruited, for only men familiar with the language can efficiently perform the civil duties of a police—cannot be made to learn their drill as armed men, and cannot be drafted into the reserve except as a punishment. They resent having to practice drill: they, especially those who can read and write, look upon duty in the reserve as a degradation and as reducing them to the level of illiterate sepoys, and if it is forced on them, they resign. The question is thus in reality one of very considerable difficulty; and as Mr. Veasey, who has given considerable attention to the question, has lately rejoined his appointment, the Lieutenant-Governor wishes to have the advantage of his opinion before passing orders in the case.

5. Another—and by no means unimportant—result of the depletion of the reserves is incidentally referred to by the Inspector-General in paragraph 31 of his report, where he remarks that in former years, when reserves were not mere skeletons, as they are at present, schools were established in many districts, and were productive of much good. At those schools not only was instruction in reading and writing given, but the criminal law and procedure, as also the Abkari Salt Regulations, were explained. The following table shows the state of the police force in this respect at intervals of five years:—

Total strength (men)	23,911	21,714	20,632	19,575
Total number able to read and write (men) ...	6,206	6,841	5,776	4,678
Total number under instruction (men)	3,105	2,954	437	339
Percentage able to read and write	27·9	31	27·9	23·8
Percentage under instruction	13·5	13·6	2·1	1·7

It is of course possible that the falling off in the number able to read and write may be due to the present recruits being of a more illiterate class than their predecessors, but figures are also given in Appendix G showing the different castes of which the force is made up, and, so far as such statistics can furnish grounds for drawing an inference on this point, it would appear that the composition of the force is very much the same as it was fifteen years ago, in 1874. The largest alterations in this respect, indeed, are in the case of Mahomedans, who now form 23·7 per cent. of the officers and 27·6 per cent. of the men, as compared with 25 per cent. and 30·2 per cent. in the year referred to; and in the case of the Brahmins and high-caste Soodras, who now form 3·1 and 2·8 per cent. more of the men than formerly, and ·9 and 3·1 more of the officers.

6. In paragraph 40 the judicial and departmental punishments during the year under review are compared with those of the two previous years. The differences in so short a time are not sufficiently marked to enable any conclusion to be drawn from them; but a larger retrospect shows that, in the case of the men, punishments, both judicial and departmental, are very much fewer than formerly, and that rewards in the shape of money and of good-conduct stripes are much more frequent, while the number of cases rewarded by promotion is less than one-fifth of what it used to be. The diminution in the punishments inflicted is shown in the following table, which compares the punishments of 1888 with the average annual number under each head during periods of five years ending with 1877, 1882 and 1887:—

7. In the body of the report details are given of some of the cases in which the police were parties. Under the head "Torture" seven cases are referred to, in five of which the accused were acquitted. Every alleged case of torture or serious misconduct on the part of the police is now, however, taken up by the District Superintendent in person, unless there is some very good reason for his refraining to enquire; and though the difficulty of getting a judicial conviction seems great, the offenders are in a large proportion of cases punished departmentally. There were also fifteen cases of extortion, the result of which is not given, and four cases of embezzlement by police officers, in all of which sentences of imprisonment were passed. There was also a case, which occurred in the 24-Pergunnahs, in which a small party of police doing duty at the Surjapur fair were attacked and severely beaten by a party of low-caste men excited with drink. Two of the constables were seriously injured, and one of them died from hæmorrhage shortly after being taken to the police station. Five of the accused were arrested and sent up, but were acquitted by the Sessions Court, as the jury disbelieved the evidence, and expressed their belief that it was uncertain by whom the assault had been committed. The Lieutenant-Governor desires that a separate report, with fuller details, may be submitted regarding this case.

8. It is worthy of consideration how far the statistics of judicial cases against the police can be accepted as indicating an improvement in the conduct of the force. It certainly appears probable that the number of cases brought to trial forms at least as large a proportion of those committed as in previous years, for such considerations as the opening up of the country generally, the spread of education and of information, and the existence of the press, render it less likely than formerly that instances of extortion or oppression on the part of the police are allowed to pass unnoticed. If, however, this conclusion be correct, that the proportion of cases actually brought to trial is at least as great as formerly, the conclusion appears sound that the steady diminution in the number of cases against the police in the last eleven years is, at any rate to a large extent, due to an actual improvement in the conduct of the police themselves. The Lieutenant-Governor notes with pleasure such signs of improvement as exist, as the indignation which fresh cases inevitably excite is apt to give rise to the impression that the tendency is towards deterioration rather than improvement.

9. In the preceding paragraph it is stated that in certain districts it is found impossible to secure recruits unless batta allowance is given. The Inspector-General now reports that during the year this allowance has not been extended to any fresh districts, but continues to be given to constables of the two lowest grades employed in the reserves, or on town or guard duty, in the districts mentioned in the report for the previous year; and the diminution of resignations in Howrah goes to show, he considers, that the town police is getting more popular. The percentage of resignations in Howrah is, however, still over 11 per cent., and in Moorshedabad, Dinagepore and Dacca more than 14 per cent., while the percentage for the whole of Bengal Proper is 8 as compared with 1·6 in Behar; and although this is no doubt an improvement as compared with last year, when the percentage of resignations for Bengal Proper was 9·3, the present state of affairs cannot be considered as in any degree satisfactory. It was to remedy this that the scheme referred to in paragraph 12 of the report was proposed, regarding which the Inspector-General asks that early orders may be passed. The proposal is to treat the rural areas which are included within municipal boundaries on different principles from the town areas, to cut off from the town police the duty of supervising rural areas, and to place these under chowkidars. The intention is, of course, not to replace the present constables by an inferior class of constables, but to employ men actual residents of the towns themselves, who may own land, and will not be available for transfer, and who will be expected to be vigilant, but not to remain on duty for fixed hours; and as they will be called chowkidars, dressed as chowkidars, and paid as chowkidars, they may be expected not to despise the duty of night watch and ward on the ground that it is chowkidar's and not constable's work. This scheme has been introduced experimentally into Midnapore, but the Lieutenant-Governor is not in a position to pass general orders regarding it, as the opinions of all the Commissioners have not yet been received.

10. The conduct of the rural police or chowkidars seems to have shown little improvement during the year 1888, as, except in Behar, Beerbhoom and Pubna, where their conduct generally is reported as satisfactory, the reports are unfavourable. In Bankoora they are reported as "very negligent in the performance of their duties;" in Midnapore they are said to have had a hand in nearly all the dacoities occurring during the year; Hooghly is described as an "Augean stable;" in the 24-Pergunnahs it is said that the chowkidar is now paid with greater regularity, and his wants are attended to, but he does not make a corresponding return in the way of giving sufficient assistance in the prevention and detection of crime; in Dinagepore and in Dacca the chowkidar is said to be too much under the control of the panchayet; and from Khoolna there is what the Inspector-General calls "a melancholy account of the inefficiency of chowkidars heretofore." The accounts which are quoted from other places are likewise unfavourable. On the whole it would appear that there is little or no improvement in the conduct of the chowkidars, but that they receive their pay more regularly. This is borne out by the statistics of arrears of pay and of punishment; for though the number of chowkidars in arrears of pay for four months and over on the last day of December has fallen from 8,183, or 4·8 per cent. of the whole, to 6,580, or 3·8 per cent., the number of punishments has risen from 14,524 to 16,394. In this connection the Inspector-General will be asked to explain the difficulty about pay referred to in his paragraph 15, which he considers calls for an alteration of the Act. There is probably some misunderstanding on the point, and it may be noted at once that if section 44 of the Act is referred to, the pay which that section requires the panchayet to remit is the pay for the current and not for the preceding quarter, so that there is nothing in it justifying the chowkidars being kept four months in arrears before they are paid. In paragraph 18 the Inspector-General refers to the practice at Tipperah of depositing chowkidars' pay at police-stations, which often remains for a long time undistributed, as the Sub-Inspector, who alone is allowed to pay out the money, is frequently away on investigations for a considerable time. This practice the Inspector-General considers open to grave objection, and he recommends that it be discontinued. In this opinion Sir Steuart Bayley agrees; but before passing final orders regarding the procedure to be adopted in such cases, he will await the receipt of the reports referred to in the next paragraph.

11. Act I (B.C.) of 1886, an Act to amend the Village Chowkidari Act, 1870, came into force in June 1886, and has therefore now been in force for a little over three years. Reports on its working were received in 1887, and these showed that the discretion allowed to local officers by the Act had led to great differences of procedure, while the Act had not been sufficiently long in force to test the methods of procedure adopted. The matter was therefore allowed to rest, but two years have elapsed since then, and further reports will now be called for from the Commissioners in whose divisions the Act is in force. The Inspector-General of Police will also be asked to furnish a statement, if the materials for it are available in his office, showing the number of chowkidars in arrear at the close of each year, and the number of punishments inflicted during that year, in each sub-division for the last ten years, and distinguishing the arrears over six, twelve, and eighteen months. On receipt of the Commissioners' reports, and of the statement from the Inspector-General, the Lieutenant-Governor will be in a position to judge what improvement has been effected under the powers conferred by the new Act, and how far without the Act the energy of individual officers had succeeded in securing fairly prompt payment to the chowkidar for the work done by him.

12. In addition to these questions, there are one or two minor matters which are dealt with by the Inspector-General in this part of his report, and which call for remark. The Inspector-General remarks that lights have been recently supplied in Noakhally town, and additional lights in Barisal, Jhalakati, Monghyr, Purneah, and Chupra; that the number of lamps in Cuttack town was reduced; that nothing was done in the municipalities in Chittagong; that Patna city is very insufficiently lighted, and that the matter seems to have been almost entirely neglected in the towns of Dinapore and Barh. Regarding this he remarks that now that the burden of paying for municipal police has been removed from their shoulders, municipalities might do much more in the way of lighting and illuminating their streets than they are doing at present. Paragraph 29 deals with the appointment of special constables, and His Honour is glad to see that the number of constables so appointed has fallen from 1,559 in 1887 to 543 in the year under report. At the same time in some cases, e.g., in Patna, where a hundred men were appointed in two cases, the number of men compared with the number of cases would seem to indicate free use—in fact indiscriminate use—of the law. In paragraph 45 the Inspector-General deals with the number of escapes from police custody, and regarding this the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with him in holding that, in all cases in which culpable negligence is clearly established, exemplary punishment is a necessity. The Lieutenant-Governor observes with pleasure that an inter-provincial conference on the subject of co-operation between the police of the North-Western Provinces and of Bengal took place at Benares, and hopes that the conference will bear fruit. The only other question to which it is necessary to refer is the performance of the police work of the Darjeeling-Himalayan Railway by the district force. His Honour entirely agrees with the Inspector-General that this arrangement is objectionable, and has under separate consideration a proposal of the Deputy Commissioner of Darjeeling to appoint a separate police for this railway.

13 The names of the police officers mentioned by the Inspector-General as having done good service will be noted in the Appointment Department.

CRIME.

14. Under this heading the usual table is given comparing the police and crime of each province of India with the population. The table shows that Bengal has fewer policemen and less crime in proportion to population than any other province; but it takes account only of the regular police, and makes no reference to the rural police, and, moreover, there can be little doubt that an increase of police would be followed by an increase of reported crime, so that it is difficult to draw any conclusion from the statistics. A more interesting comparison would be, the Lieutenant-Governor considers, to show how the police of the Lower Provinces are successful in dealing with crime in comparison with those of other provinces.

15. In commenting on the general average of the percentages recognised under the orders of the Government of India as tests of the working of the police, the Inspector-General claims that tests A 3 and 4 and test B 2 (which he considers as probably the most crucial tests of police working) show a slight, but fairly general, improvement as regards general results. These tests were first applied completely to the returns of 1884, and the table which follows compares the results of the year under review with the average of the percentages of the four years 1884-87:—

	Burdwan.		Presidency.		Rajshahye.		Dacca.		Chittagong.		Patna.		Bhagulpore.		Orissa.		Chota Nagpore.

The improvement, it will be observed, is neither very general nor very pronounced. This general question of the increase of crime in Bengal, and of the greater or less success of the police in coping with it, is separately under the consideration of the Lieutenant-Governor. The following extract from a letter from Mr. Veasey is interesting, and bears directly on the point under discussion. He says:—

"It is possible to attach too much weight to a system of classification which, in order to be sufficiently comprehensive, has to show together offences of very different degrees of heinousness, and which is often perfunctorily performed by careless officers. I will not therefore pause to discuss the fluctuations in crime generally, but will pass on at once to what I have always considered the best test, the percentage of true cases in which convictions were obtained in classes I, II, III, and V, that is, to the success attained in dealing with really serious crime, mixed up, though to some extent it is, with minor matters. Defects in the percentage of persons convicted are liable to be made up by challaning to an undue extent offenders concerned in cases, either stale or of no real importance, and defects in the percentage of cases generally are in like manner to be got over by watering the figures with petty offences under class VI.

"Taking, then, the percentage selected, the figures for which are given in Statement I of the Appendices, we find that whilst class I, with a percentage for the five years 1883—87 of 55·72, is the only class exhibiting anything like passable results, classes II and V show respectively only 40·84 and 33·78; whilst class III is as low as 9·6, and is still falling. Dacoity in class III and burglary in class V are the two offences the police have shown themselves as yet unable to cope with: and that they have not increased when the chances of detection are as small as they are is due quite as much to good luck as to management. It is not a matter on which an opinion can be expressed with any certainty, but my own belief is that there is more suppression under these two offences, and especially under burglary, than there is under all other heads of crime put together. The people concerned will not report, as they know from experience how little good is likely to be obtained by it, and the station officer lets it alone if he can, since he knows, in addition to this, that he will, or ought to, be called to account for not looking properly after his bad characters."

The following table shows the result of the application of the test referred to by Mr. Veasey to the year 1888 and the preceding ten years:—

	Average of five years ending 1887.			Average of five years ending 1887.			1888.

16. The percentage of prosecutions in false cases, which was sufficiently low before, has fallen from 22·4 to 16·9. The percentage of convictions remains nearly the same, being 29·4 against 30·2 in 1887. The results are comparatively good in the Orissa, Chota Nagpore, Bhagulpore, and Presidency Divisions, and in the districts of Darjeeling, Julpigoree, Backergunge, Noakholly, Howrah, Dinagepore, Bogra, Dacca, and Shahabad; but in the remaining districts the results are less satisfactory, and in some indeed show that the matter has been entirely neglected in spite of its importance having been repeatedly impressed upon Magistrates. Conspicuous for such pre-eminence are Patna, Beerbhoom, Furreedpore, and Bankoorah, which, with 368, 147, 120, and 67 false cases, respectively, had one conviction each, and Chumparun, where out of 324 cases only four convictions were obtained. As regards Patna the large number of false cases compared with the solitary conviction renders the result most discreditable. In Beerbhoom the punishment awarded in the single case in which a conviction was secured was only one month's imprisonment; and the average time taken in disposing of the other cases was 48 days a case, one case taking no less than 125 days—a state of affairs which the Lieutenant-Governor can characterise only as deplorable.

The Commissioner of Rajshahye defends the poor results obtained in his division on the ground that the present system is too cumbrous, and that if the Magistrate trying a case had power to award compensation when the charge appeared to be false or frivolous, it would afford an easier and more effectual means of checking false charges. It is possible that an alteration of the law, such as is suggested by the Commissioner of Rajshahye, would have this effect, but the Lieutenant-Governor desires to point out that it is the duty of Magistrates to use the law they have got, and not to wait for a better one; and if in the 24-Pergunnahs the Magistrate can prosecute in 25 per cent. of these cases, and can succeed in 40 per cent. of his prosecutions, no Magistrate should be content with a worse record. His Honour, therefore, agrees with the opinion expressed by the Inspector-General, and desires to impress it upon Magistrates, that the matter is really an important one, and can be dealt with only by the Magistrate personally interesting himself in it.

17. The number of cases in which enquiry was refused under section 157 of the Criminal Procedure Code has risen from 2,586 to 5,982. The reports from the districts show that the discretion conferred by the section has been exercised with widely different results, but it is inevitable that a discretion of this kind should be exercised within very varying limits, and no rule can enforce uniformity. The responsibility for the police exercising their discretion wisely must be left with each individual Magistrate.

18. The following tables show the results, as affecting persons, of trials in the Courts of Magistrates and in the Courts of Sessions in 1888 compared with the results of the ten previous years—

19. It is worthy of notice that while the percentage of convictions in Courts of Magistrates in 1888 is higher, that in Courts of Sessions is lower than in any of the preceding ten years. In part explanation of the former fact it may be noted that the number of cases classed as "Public and local nuisances," in which there is invariably a very large percentage of convictions, has risen from 9,086 in 1878 to 21,662 in 1888. As regards cases in the Courts of Sessions, however, it appears to the Lieutenant-Governor very serious that there are, as pointed out by the Inspector-General, now twenty districts which show an excess of acquittals over convictions. The Lieutenant-Governor does not, however, propose in the present Resolution to discuss the question of the general increase or decrease of crime in Bengal, and the greater or less ability of executive and judicial officers to cope with it, as this question has been separately raised by the Government of India, and will be fully dealt with hereafter; and His Honour at present, therefore, confines himself to merely drawing attention to the state of affairs depicted in the report of the Inspector-General.

20. The following remarks taken from the Inspector-General's report give the explanations and remarks in some cases of the local executive officers regarding the crime committed in their jurisdiction during the year under review. Regarding Hooghly the Commissioner of Burdwan says: "In Hooghly the results are deplorable. In four out of five cases of murder the jury returned a verdict of "not guilty," and in the remaining case they convicted the accused of simple hurt, although his act amounted to a cold-blooded murder." The Magistrate of Rungpore says regarding his district: "Out of 17 persons sent up for trial for murder, two only were convicted: but it must be noted that three persons died while awaiting their trial. One was offered a pardon and made a witness, and the five persons in two cases who were convicted by the Sessions Court were acquitted by the High Court on appeal." With reference to the results obtained in the Dacca, Chittagong, and Patna Divisions, the Inspector-General says:—

The percentage obtained in Dacca was only 31·6, and the poor results there are attributed to the acquittal of 18 persons in 2 cases and of 14 others in some cases in which the other accused were convicted!

The Commissioner remarks:—

"This explanation, which amounts to an admission that in many cases persons were committed to the Sessions without due regard to the evidence against them, is not very satisfactory.

In this district the verdict of the jury was reversed by the High Court in 4 out of the 42 cases committed to the Sessions.

In one the accused, who was pronounced guilty by the jury, was let off by the High Court, and in three others the verdict of acquittal was upset and the accused convicted by that Court.

In one of these latter cases the verdict of the jury was, to say the least, very unreasonable."

One of the cases in which the verdict of acquittal was upset, as noted by the Commissioner, was a remarkable one, and is detailed in the return of sessions cases for the fourth quarter of 1888. A case under section 302 was tried by the Sessions Court on 27th September 1888, and the jury returned a unanimous verdict of not guilty. The Judge, disagreeing, referred the case to the High Court, and the said Court sentenced the accused to death under section 302 on the 10th November 1888.

In Backergunge the percentage declined from 64·1 to 44, attributable to the acquittal by the High Court of several persons who were convicted by the Sessions Court.

In Noakhally the return is unfavourable, only 10 cases having been convicted to 20 acquitted.

The district report mentions that in four cases in which convictions were obtained, the convictions were set aside by the High Court.

In the Patna Division, Patna (a jury district) takes the lowest place, with a percentage of 38·6 convictions.

The Commissioner says:—"The fact that Patna is a jury district may be accepted as an explanation, though an unsatisfactory one, of the low percentage of convictions."

The Magistrate of Durbhunga, in which district the percentage of convictions is only 44·4, writes:—"Out of 11 acquittals in class II, seven were in a case of riot with murder. The advisability of instituting an appeal in this case is under consideration." At the late sessions eight cases were committed, five ended in absolute acquittal and one in detention of the accused till the rising of the Court. In two of the remaining cases habitual offenders who had been previously punished four and three times, respectively, were sentenced to two years' rigorous imprisonment only—a punishment the Magistrate could himself have inflicted!

21. The following table shows the result, as regards persons, of sessions cases and Magistrates' cases taken together:—

* Whippings in addition to other punishments are not shown in this table.

The falling off in the number of whippings inflicted is noticeable. The six worst districts had the following percentage of convictions to men brought to trial in Sessions and Magistrates' Courts:—Chittagong Hill Tracts 30·9, Purneah 41·6, Pubna 43·1, Jessore 43·6, Balasore 45·9, and Furreedpore 46·8. In this connection it may be pointed out that the table given in paragraph 70 showing the result of sessions trials would be more suggestive if jury districts were shown with an asterisk, and the Inspector-General will be requested to make this alteration in future reports.

22. A table has already been given showing the results of the cases under the different classes, and it remains only to notice more particularly some of the cases which go to make up the net result, and some questions which arise incidentally.

23. Class I.—In Midnapore 1,346 persons were sent up for rioting in 97 cases, which gives an average of nearly 14 persons to each case. In this district there were convictions in 92 out of 128 true cases. In Bancoorah there were convictions in 21 out of 31 true cases, but, on the other hand, the number of persons acquitted was 102 against 94 convicted. In the district of Hooghly three persons gave out that they were peons of the Calcutta High Court, and, exhibiting certain forged documents purporting to have been issued by the High Court, demanded one anna a head from the villagers to form a fund for the prevention of the flooding of that part of the district by the Damoodah river. One of the three was allowed to turn Queen's evidence, and the other two were convicted, one of false personation, and the other of forgery. In connection with the cases of rioting which occurred in Mymensingh, the question is raised whether all cases which come technically under the definition of rioting should be shown in the returns as such. The main result of the controversy is to show that the cases in question are very petty, and that though they come under the Penal Code definition of rioting, they are not of the serious nature which that term connotes in common parlance. The only rule which can be adopted in such cases is to follow the finding of the Court in each case; and, when the accused are acquitted or discharged, but the Magistrate enters the case as true, for him to enter the case as he would have decided it if he had obtained legal proof of what he believes to have occurred. In Tipperah there were 8 cases of serious rioting, 3 of which ended in loss of life. Regarding these the Inspector-General says:—

In two cases, however, in which the parties to the riot were convicted on both sides, 4 separate riots have been shown, whereas in reality there were only two. The correct number of serious riots is therefore 6, and they were most successfully dealt with. In 5 cases convictions ensued, and in the sixth case, which was pending at close of the year, a large number of arrests had been made on good evidence. The case which was apparently the most serious one may be briefly mentioned, as the punishment inflicted on the rioters was exemplary and should have a wholesome effect. There had been ill-feeling among certain villagers who were divided into two parties, and the quarrel culminated in the rescuing of some cattle by one party while the cattle were being taken to the pound by their opponents. Four men of the party taking the cattle to the pound were badly wounded, two of them subsequently dying in hospital. Twenty-one men of both parties were sent up for trial under sections 302—304, 149, &c., and out of these 18 were ultimately convicted at the sessions and sentenced to various terms of imprisonment, ranging from 5 years to 3 months!!

24. Class II.—There was a net increase of 77 cases over the previous year, the figures being 4,622 and 4,545. In the table given in paragraph 15, the percentage of convictions in 1888 is compared with the percentages of the preceding ten years. The Lieutenant-Governor is not prepared to discuss at present how far these figures bear out the theory either of serious crime increasing, or of the ability of the executive and the Courts to deal with it decreasing: but they obviously do show that the percentage of convictions stands persistently at a discreditably low level. It appears from the statistics already given that the failure is chiefly in sessions cases, and it is stated that the failure is most conspicuous in districts in which there is trial by jury. Under this class the Inspector-General draws attention to a case in which a police constable in Hooghly shot dead a fellow-constable of the Treasury Guard, and then went to the jail and confessed the deed to the jailor. He subsequently confessed before the police and the Deputy Magistrate, who committed him to the Sessions under section 302. The jury found him "not guilty," but the Judge, differing, referred the case to the High Court, and the prisoner was sentenced to transportation for life. He notices also the following singular case from the 24-Pergunnahs:—One Gopal Mundle disappeared, and ten days afterwards a chowkidar over-heard the brother of the missing man saying to a fellow-villager that a certain bit of land was being ploughed up, and that his brother's body would doubtless be discovered. This led to the discovery of the body which, though headless, was clearly identified. Both men confessed before the Joint-Magistrate, and the case is said to have been clearly proved, but the jury returned a unanimous verdict of not guilty. The Judge appears to have dissented, and he remanded the prisoners to custody, but the next morning he discharged them, and no reference was made. The following case is also from that district:—

"Three men in a boat on the Hooghly on their way home from the Sunderbuns where they had been cutting wood had an altercation with a fourth, one Kanta Mundle, complainant, about a share of the wood cut, and when he was asleep they threw him overboard; and notwithstanding all his entreaties they refused to take him into the boat again. He swam to shore and climbed up a high tree in the dense Sunderbuns, where he remained three days without food or drink! He was at last rescued by the Captain of the S.S. Agra, who fed him and produced him before a Magistrate at Goalundo, who sent him to Midnapore, his native district."

In that case two of the men were sentenced to five years' rigorous imprisonment each. The third is still at large. Another case also from the 24-Pergunnahs was that of two married girl who were decoyed away, doubtless for immoral purposes, and sold to certain receivers of girls at village Chainpârâ in the jurisdiction of the Srinagar police-station. The Inspector-General adds—"Some sort of system of dealing in girls in this way appears to exist, and the District Superintendent is giving his attention to the subject, which will not be lost sight of." In Dacca there was a remarkable case of a murder of a prostitute by a man who had been living with her for three days. The noise occasioned by the murder attracted the attention of another prostitute, who actually saw the murderer hacking his unfortunate victim to pieces. She raised the alarm, and the murderer was caught on a hue-and-cry. His clothes were wet with blood, and he had the jewellery of the deceased, valued at Rs. 101, on his person. The jury unanimously acquitted, the foreman saying: "We are unable to find him guilty of anything." On a reference to the High Court the man was convicted and hanged. Amongst Backergunge cases the following is singled out as apparently resulting in a failure of justice. A local zemindar was shot dead, and suspicion lighted on one Raham Ali against whom he had a decree; and it was found that Raham Ali had borrowed a gun from his brother-in-law, and in company with one Ahmed had returned it on the night after the murder, saying it should be hidden as search would probably be made for it. The gun was found, and Ahmed made a confession, implicating another Milan, who also confessed, and their depositions were taken down on the spot by the Joint-Magistrate. Other strongly corroborative evidence was found, and all three men were sent up for trial. Raham Ali was sentenced to death, and Ahmed and Milan to five years' rigorous imprisonment by the Sessions Judge. All three were subsequently acquitted by the High Court. From Tipperah a brutal triple murder is reported. A man transferred his affections from his widowed cousin, with whom he had formed a criminal connection, and on the cousin interfering to prevent the new intimacy, he, in a fit of rage, killed her and the girl and an infant, and severely assaulted another girl. The defence set up was insanity, the prisoner alleging that he had been ordered to take as many lives as he could by a demon of immense height whom he met in the jungle. He was sentenced to transportation for life. Two cases in the Patna Division are deserving of mention. In Chumparun a murder was committed by a Dome from one of the settlements. Two Domes had broken into a house, and when running away were pursued by the owner, who was thereupon stabbed by a knife. Two men were sent up, and the man who stabbed the house-owner was hanged, the other being acquitted. The other case is that of a gomashta of dissolute character in Chumparun, who was caught intriguing with a man's daughter-in-law, and who had also intrigued with many other women in the village. All the villagers conspired to kill him, and 8 men waylaid him coming from a woman's house early in the morning, threw him down, and forced a bit of wood up his anus, afterwards trampling him to death. The whole 8 were sent up: 1 was transported for life, 1 died in jail, and the other 6 were acquitted.

25. Class III.—In paragraph 15 a table is given showing the convictions and percentages of cases under this class in the quinquennial period 1884-88. The same remarks apply to it as to the general statement under class II. Everything remains approximately stationary during the quinquennial period, though the year 1888 shows considerable increase over the preceding year, notably in dacoity and lurking house-trespass. Under the head Dacoity the Patna Division which is numerically weaker in its police force than Bengal proper or Orissa leads with 20 cases, followed by the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions, with 18 and 17 cases, respectively; and in this connection the Inspector-General very rightly draws attention to the fact that it is these three divisions which in the past year have suffered most from deficient and unseasonable rainfall, floods, &c., and from consequent scarcity and distress. In one case in Midnapore a band of 15 or 16 dacoits attacked a house which was bravely defended by its owners, who succeeded in killing one of the dacoits, and though he was subsequently overpowered and became senseless, the identification of the dead body led ultimately to the conviction of two men of the gang; and as some of the remainder were proceeded against for bad livelihood, it was ultimately broken up. The Inspector-General adds—

"I give this case prominence, and have mentioned it in some detail because I am convinced that the most effectual way to stamp out dacoity in these provinces is to encourage a spirit of active resistance on the part of house-owners and villagers to the attack of dacoits, and to back them up in repelling force by force. This is nothing more than the law clearly and explicitly allows."

The Lieutenant-Governor desires that cases of successful resistance by villagers to attacks of dacoits should always be brought to the notice of Government at the time.

In one case in Tipperah the dacoits are said to have numbered 50 or 60, and though they were opposed by the villagers, and some of their number wounded, no clue could be obtained during the year under report, and this notwithstanding the fact that the District Superintendent, the Divisional Inspector and three Sub-Inspectors were engaged on the case for upwards of three months. The gang was, however, eventually traced after having committed two more dacoities in 1889, and for their share in this dacoity eight of them were sentenced to transportation for life; and for their exertions in connection with this and the other two cases three men were rewarded with a watch and chain each, and four men received money rewards.

In Patna, as already stated, there were 20 cases, or 8 more than in the preceding year. The 20 cases were distributed as follows:—Gya 6, Patna and Durbhunga 5 each, and Shahabad 4. Of the Gya cases, only one was detected, but one remained under trial at the close of the year. The five cases in Patna were all undetected as far as ultimate results were concerned, though three were acquitted by the Sessions Court. In one Patna case one out of a gang of 25 or 30 was knocked down by the villagers and arrested, but, though identified, he refused to name his associates, and died. In another eight men were committed, two of them under section 412, but all were acquitted by the jury. The Sessions Judge expressed his opinion that one man should have been convicted under section 412, Indian Penal Code, but it does not appear that any reference was made to the High Court. Of the Shahabad cases, three ended in conviction. In one of these opium was being conveyed to Buxar for weighment and the persons carrying it were attacked near a village, but the villagers turned out and arrested two of the dacoits, who, together with one other of the gang, were convicted by the Sessions Court. The following case, also one of the three from Shahabad, is said by the Inspector-General to have no doubt originated with the kine-killing movement, and is therefore deserving of special mention :—

"A ticcadar of the Commissariat Department reported to an Inspector at the Berhampur Fair that some 150 persons were assembled on the road at a named spot in readiness to rob him of his cattle, which he had bought to take to Benares. The Inspector, with other police officers, started at once to prevent the commission of the offence, but before they could arrive, the attack had taken place, and 96 head of cattle driven away. Seventy-three head were recovered, but only 4 out of the offenders were arrested. Three of them were eventually convicted under section 395, and sentenced each to three years' rigorous imprisonment."

Regarding Purneah the Inspector-General remarks that the continued prevalence of dacoity in that district is much to be regretted, but he hopes the efforts to put it down will prove successful, as only one case occurred in the first quarter of the current year. That one district is answerable for 13 out of the 16 dacoities which occurred in the Bhagulpore Division. In one case, in which the dacoits, 20 or 25 in number, were armed with axes and a gun, the villagers did not offer active opposition, but they were able to identify some of the dacoits, and ultimately six were convicted. In another case, which occurred in the district of Bhagulpore, a band of dacoits, who are stated to have been probably 15 or 20 in number, attacked a house, beat the inmates so severely that one died, and carried off property valued at upwards of Rs. 13,000. Most of them had come all the way from Chupra, and they were detected owing to a railway police constable, who, at Sahebgunge railway station, on suspicion arrested a Chupra Dosad, whose bundle proved to contain part of the stolen property, viz., jewellery valued at Rs. 565. Five of the gang were sentenced to transportation for ten years. The railway police constable was liberally rewarded. One other dacoity case may be mentioned. This occurred in Balasore, and one of the dacoits, who was wounded by the nephew of the man whose house was attacked and ransacked, was tracked up and the detection of the remainder of the gang followed. One man, who had been previously convicted, was sentenced to transportation for life, and five others to six years' rigorous imprisonment each.

26. Class V.—Burglary was worst in the Patna Division, where the number of cases rose from 5,423 in 1887 to 6,125 in 1888. The worst district was Monghyr, in which 1,890 true cases were reported. Regarding this the Lieutenant-Governor certainly agrees with the Inspector-General that "a bad season is at the root of all mischief." In illustration of this it may be noted that Sarun is the only district in the Patna Division in which there was no increase of burglaries, and the only district in which cases under class V were less than in the preceding year, and it is also the district which had the best crops. The steady increase in house-lurking cases in Patna City is, the Lieutenant-Governor agrees in thinking, very unsatisfactory, as is also the large number of cases reported as "attempts" and "burglaries without theft." Such figures are obviously untrustworthy, and the Lieutenant-Governor desires to be informed whether such cases are ever enquired into locally by the Assistant Superintendent in the city. The state of affairs at Monghyr is similar. There were 535 cases with theft, 779 without theft, and 560 were attempts. Regarding this the Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Inspector-General in accepting the District Superintendent's view, that this is "a most improbable and incredible result of the labour of thieves, who are admitted to have effected an entrance." With reference to the improved reporting of crime at Monghyr, to which the District Superintendent of that district has devoted so much attention, the Lieutenant-Governor does not agree that a mere improvement in reporting leaves the chowkidars as far from being efficient and useful coadjutors as ever: on the contrary this is, in Sir Stouart Bayley's opinion, a first step towards detection and ultimate prevention of crime. The Lieutenant-Governor notices with approval the introduction of the crime maps, which are said to have greatly facilitated the detection of crime, into Dinagepore in 1887, and agrees in thinking that they might be more generally adopted with advantage. These maps are made by tracings from the survey maps, and cases are entered as they occur, each in its correct position on the map, the form of the crime and the result of the enquiry in each case being indicated by certain recognized initial letters. The following remarks are made regarding their utility:—

"Actual results have been marked. The Palamow gang was run down solely by the use of the map; another gang of cattle thieves was similarly brought to justice, and quite recently enquiries resulting from the study of the map have brought to light a regular system of hát thefts in Kaliagunge."

In this connection the Lieutenant-Governor considers that a comparison might usefully be made between neighbouring districts, and perhaps even between neighbouring subdivisions and thanas, showing the ratio which the number of thefts and burglaries reported bears in each case to the population of the district, subdivision or thana. Such a comparison would probably have the effect of directing attention to those places in which the system of reporting required looking after.

27. Class VI.—Referring to the delay in disposing of bad livelihood cases, the Inspector-General says it is clear that the practice is not uniform in different districts, the time occupied in disposing of a case being reckoned in some districts from the date on which the report is first made to the Magistrate, and in others from the date on which the first process is issued, and he suggests that some order should be issued on the subject. A separate report should be made regarding this. The general question referred to in the same paragraph, of a great deal being left to the discretion of the local officers in the matter of trying these cases locally, was disposed of by circular No. 3JD, dated 3rd June 1887. A copy of this circular will be sent to the Inspector-General. The results of those cases in the Presidency Division were very bad, for, although there were 190 cases, only 16 convictions were obtained. With reference to the co-operation of the district and railway police, the Inspector-General says:—

"I am strongly of opinion that much more should be done than is done at present by the district police in co-operating with and assisting the railway police in watching railway stations, and in noting the arrival and departure of bad characters, and, when necessary, following them up or notifying their movements by telegraph to the district officers interested."

The Lieutenant-Governor entirely agrees in this view, and approves of the action which the Inspector-General has taken, and proposes to take, in furtherance of it.

28. Non-cognizable cases.—With reference to the employment of the police in these cases, the Inspector-General brings to notice a difference of procedure in reporting the number of such cases. In some districts, only the number of cases of non-cognizable crime referred by the Magistrate to the police for enquiry is shown, while others show cases sent up by the police, but transferred to non-cognizable section by order of the Magistrate. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Inspector-General that the former procedure should be adopted generally, and instructions will be issued accordingly. In this connection the Lieutenant-

Governor approves of the orders passed by the Magistrate of Durbhunga for the purpose of checking the unnecessary employment of the police in the investigation of non-cognizable cases. The Magistrate says:—

"At head-quarters I allow no cases to be referred to the police without my countersignature, and I find this acts as a most wholesome deterrent against unnecessarily employing the police on duties which the Magistrates have no right or occasion to shift from their own shoulders."

The Lieutenant-Governor is aware that this procedure is already in force in many districts, but desires that the necessity of exercising strict supervision in this matter should be more generally recognised.

The worst returns of non-cognizable crime are furnished by Lohardugga, where only 24 out of 202 nuisance and Arms Act cases were disposed of at the first hearing, and only 283 after fewer than five remands. The Lieutenant-Governor agrees with the Commissioner in considering it an insufficient explanation that the district was under-officered, and in holding that the subordinate Magistrates had not been properly supervised. On this subject the Lieutenant-Governor remarks that in many other districts besides Dinagepore Magistrates now call for the case-books of subordinate Magistrates at stated intervals once a week, or once a month, and satisfy themselves that remands are not unduly or unnecessarily granted, taking notice of the matter where the contrary is found to be the case; and if this procedure were adopted generally, a very decided improvement in the provincial returns would soon follow. Another method of supervision is adopted by the Deputy Commissioner of Manbhoom, under whose orders the records of every case in which there have been more than three remands is submitted to him after disposal. Under some such system as these subordinate Magistrates would not remain entirely unchecked, as appears to have been the case in Lohardugga. The Commissioners of divisions will be requested to look into this matter in the course of their inspections.

29. Sir Steuart Bayley desires to acknowledge the careful administration of the department by Mr. Veasey and Colonel Knyvett during the year under review.

RESOLUTION REVIEWING THE REPORTS ON THE WORKING OF MUNICIPALITIES IN BENGAL DURING 1888-89.

MUNICIPAL DEPARTMENT—MUNICIPAL.

Dated Calcutta, the 16th November 1889.

RESOLUTION.

The reports from the several Commissioners of Divisions on the working of the Municipalities during the year 1888-89.

Read again—

The report submitted by Government on the working of Municipalities in Bengal during the year 1887-88.

THE following Resolution on the reports submitted by Commissioners of Divisions on Municipal Taxation and Expenditure in the Lower Provinces of Bengal for the year 1888-89, together with classified statements, shows the income and expenditure of the municipalities during that year, prepared in accordance with the instructions contained in the orders of the Government of India, in the Home Department, No. 2—103—14A, dated the 27th July 1882.

2. The report on the working of the Calcutta Municipality has been submitted separately to the Government of India with the review of His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor thereon. The present resolution deals only with the working of municipalities in the interior of the province.

3. Amendment of the Bengal Municipal Act III (B.C.) of 1884.—During the year section 9 of the Bengal Municipal Act was amended. Under sections 190 and 191 of the Act, the Commissioners of a municipality have power to inspect all drains, and, after notice, to enter upon all premises for this purpose. The Commissioners of the North Barrackpore Municipality having claimed to exercise this right in regard to the Government Gunpowder Factory at Ichapore, it was held that the exercise of the right in such a case would be inconvenient and undesirable, and it was proposed therefore to exclude the Gunpowder Factory premises from the limits of the municipality. Under section 9 of the Act the Local Government had power to alter the limits of a municipality a only on the recommendation of the Commissioners at a meeting, and in this instance the Commissioners declined to recommend the proposed alteration. Under these circumstances it was considered desirable to secure for the Local Government the power of excluding of its own motion from the operation of municipal regulations lands and buildings in the occupation of the State for military and naval purposes, and section 9 of the Act was amended accordingly.

4. Number of Municipalities.—The total number of municipalities in existence at the close of the year was 147 against 141 in the preceding year. The towns of Daltongunge, Garwa, and Lohardugga in the district of Lohardugga, Raghunathpore and Jhaldah in the district of Manbhoom, and Kharar in the Midnapore district, were constituted municipalities; the first three with effect from 1st July, and the last three from 1st April 1888.

The statement in Appendix A shows the date of establishment of each municipality in the province, the population within municipal limits, and the actual number of rate-payers in each. The average proportion of rate-payers to the whole population in the municipalities for which complete figures are given was 17·85 per cent. against 18·07 of the previous year. Some further correspondence on the subject of the withdrawal of the town of Assensole from the operation of the Act, which was noticed in the Annual Report for 1887-88, was carried on during the year, the settlement of this question having been protracted by difficulties which arose as to the provision to be made by the East Indian Railway Company for the sanitary requirements of the town. The Company have now accepted the condition laid down by the Government of India that if, owing to the development of the town of Assensole or for other reasons, it be considered desirable hereafter to re-establish a municipality, they will bear a fair share of municipal burdens. It remains only to decide upon the sites of certain latrines which are to be constructed: as soon as these have been chosen, the Act will be withdrawn.

Under somewhat similar circumstances, which were fully explained in paragraph 6 of the Annual Municipal Report for 1885-86, the East Indian Railway Company pressed upon the consideration of Government the necessity of withdrawing the Railway settlement of Khagoul from the operation of the Act. The immediate sanitary requirements of the place have been ascertained, and terms similar to those imposed in the Assensole case have been offered for the acceptance of the Railway Administration. Their final reply is awaited.

The Bill to consolidate and amend the law relating to the Municipal affairs of the town and suburbs of Calcutta, the principal object of which was the amalgamation of the urban portion of the suburbs with the town under one system of Municipal Government, with a view to the sanitary improvement of the former area, was passed into law during the year. With the enforcement of the new Act (Act II (B C.) of 1888) the existence of the Municipality of the Suburbs of Calcutta came to an end on the 1st April 1889. A portion of the abolished Municipality has been included in Calcutta, another portion in the South Suburban Municipality, and two new municipalities, Maniktolla and Cossipore-Chitpore, have been formed out of it. Certain agricultural areas have been altogether excluded from the operation of the Municipal Act.

5. Elective System.—The system under which two-thirds of the total number of Commissioners fixed for each municipality are elected was in force in all the municipalities except those named below, of which 16 have been established since the introduction of the present Municipal Act in August 1884:—

1. Assensole.
2. Bettiah.
3. Chanduria.
4. Chogda.
5. Chyebassa.
6. Colgong.
7. Cox's Bazar.
8. Daltongunge.
9. Darjeeling.
10. Daudnugger.
11. Debhatta.
12. Garwa.
13. Jajpore.
14. Jamui.
15. Jehanabad.
16. Jhalda.
17. Jhalokati.
18. Julpigoree.
19. Kendrapara.
20. Khoolna.
21. Lalgunge.
22. Lohardugga.
23. Nalchitty.
24. Netrokona.
25. Perozepore.
26. Raghunathpore.
27. Roserah.
28. Sitamarhi.
29. Sonamukhi.
30. Tikari.

The elective system was introduced for the first time in the municipality of Hazaribagh during the year under report, while the newly-created municipalities of Daltongunge, Garwa, Jhalda, Lohardugga, and Raghunathpore were added to the first schedule of the Act.

Forty-six municipalities comprised in the second schedule of the Act were excluded from the privilege of electing their Chairman, subject to the confirmation of the Local Government; but, as stated in paragraph 7 of the Report for 1887-88, these corporations were in most cases allowed to nominate their Chairmen who were appointed by the Local Government under section 23 of the Act.

6. Result of Elections held during the year.—The municipality of Hazaribagh having been allowed the elective franchise, general elections were for the first time held in that town. Out of 485 registered voters, 194 attended the poll and recorded their votes, and a fair amount of interest is said to have been displayed by them. Of 52 bye-elections held under section 27 to fill up vacancies in the ranks of Commissioners, 48 were conducted successfully. Only one failed through the non-attendance of voters at the poll, and the remaining three owing to nominations of candidates not having been submitted by the electors within the time prescribed by the rules. These minor elections appear to have excited no particular interest. The largest attendance of voters at the poll in one case was 81·3 of the total number of qualified voters. The table in Appendix B shows the results of the bye-elections held during the year.

7. Constitution of Committees.—The following statement shows division by division the constitution of the Committees of the various municipalities as they existed at the close of the year 1888-89 :—

Division.	Nominated.	Elected.	Total.	Officials.	Non-officials.	Europeans.	Indians.	Remarks.

The following table shows the percentage of officials and Europeans to the total number of Commissioners during 1888-89 and the previous seven years, 1881-82 to 1887-88 :—

	Officials.	Europeans.
1881-82	26·3	22·9
1882-83	25·3	21·7
1883-84	24·5	21·2

1885-86	16·1	10·1
1886-87	15·6	9·1
1887-88	16·2	9·4
1888-89	16·07	8·93

The figures show on the whole a steady decrease in the official and European element.

8. Meetings of Committees.—The largest number of meetings held by any municipality was 37, held by the Debhatta Municipality with an average attendance of 45 per cent. of the members, against 31 with an average attendance of 43·3 per cent. in the previous year. The Jugdispore and Motihari Municipalities held the smallest number of meetings, viz., 5, with an average attendance of 75·5 per cent. and 60 per cent. of the members, respectively, against two meetings held by the former municipality and 7 by the latter during 1887-88. The following table shows the municipalities which held more than twenty meetings with the average percentage of attendance :—

There were no municipal benches in any of the municipalities in the Chota Nagpore and Orissa Divisions.

10. Assessments.—The statement in Appendix E shows the mode of assessment prevailing in each municipality in the province, the rate at which the tax on holdings or on persons according to their circumstances and property within municipal limits was levied, and the result of any revision of assessment made during the year 1888-89. Considerable increases of income resulted from such revisions in Patna, Mozufferpore, Motihari, and Madhubani in the Patna Division, Rungpore and Nattore in the Rajshahye Division, and Midnapore in the Burdwan Division. In Darjeeling there was a decrease owing to a reduction of the rate. In Dacca a revision of assessment begun in 1886-87 was, owing to the numerous objections raised, only finally completed in the year under report. In the final result the demand has been raised from Rs. 52,428 to Rs. 71,571, or by 36·5 per cent., against an increase of 20 per cent., which was expected when the revision was undertaken. The Magistrate still considers that some increase of taxation which might legitimately have been demanded has been sacrificed owing to disunion among the Municipal Commissioners. The average incidence of taxation throughout Bengal increased from 12 annas and 7·3 pie per head during 1887-88 to 13 annas and 1·4 pie during 1888-89. It was, as in the previous year, highest in the municipality of Darjeeling, where it amounted to Rs. 4-4-9, and lowest, annas 2, per head, in the municipalities of Ramjibanpore, Jehanabad, and Sitamarhi.

11. Fresh Imposts levied during the year.—The provisions of the Act regarding the levy of a tax upon persons occupying holdings within the municipality according to their circumstances and property were extended to the new municipalities of Raghunathpore, Jhaldah, and Kharar. Sanction was given to the levy of a tax on carriages and on horses and other animals in the Tikari, Joynagore, Kissengunge, and Dinapore-Nizamut municipalities, and to the imposition of a fee on the registration of carts kept or habitually used within the municipalities of Chogdah, Meherpore, Tikari, Kissengunge, and Dinapore-Nizamut. In Durbhunga, the Municipal Commissioners obtained the sanction of Government to levy a tax upon persons occupying holdings within the municipality according to their circumstances and property in lieu of the rate hitherto levied by them on the annual value of holdings in the municipality, and by this means the Commissioners expect to increase their revenue by about Rs. 10,000 a year. Sanction was also given to the levy of a rate on the annual value of holdings in the Dinapore-Nizamut Municipality.

The provisions of the Hackney Carriage Registration Act were extended to the municipalities of Nasirabad and Patna.

12. Extension of various provisions of the Municipal Act and Bye-laws sanctioned during the year.—The conservancy and other provisions of Part VI of the Act, or portions of them, were extended during the year to the following municipalities:—

1. Bankura.
2. Berhampore.
3. Brahmanberia.
4. Buxar.
5. Daudnugger.
6. Hazareebagh.

18. South Barrackpore.
19. Tangail.

(e). Rules for the protection of wild birds and game were framed by the Kurseong Municipality under Act XX of 1887, and confirmed by the Local Government.

13. Revision of Municipal boundaries.—The boundaries of the Bazitpore Municipality, in the Mymensingh district, were extended so as to include certain tracts adjacent to the municipality, which were enjoying the benefits of municipal administration without contributing to municipal funds. The boundaries of the Jajpore Municipality, in the district of Cuttack, were revised under similar conditions. Certain agricultural villages were excluded from the limits of the Tangail Municipality; and the limits of the Kurseong Municipality were extended so as to include certain premises situated on an adjoining tea estate. The boundaries of the Soory Municipality were rectified, an agricultural village being excluded from municipal limits.

14. Income and expenditure.—The following table compares the opening balances, income, expenditure, and closing balances of municipalities, Division by Division, for the year 1888-89, and those of the preceding year:—

There is a small discrepancy, which has been explained by the local officers, between the closing balances of 1887-88 and the opening balances of 1888-89 of the municipalities in the Burdwan, Orissa, and Chota Nagpore Divisions.

15. Income.—The following statement shows the income from Municipalities in Bengal under Act III (B.C.) of 1884 from the year in which that Act came into force:—

	Rs.
1884-85	26,65,997
1885-86	26,32,864
1886-87	28,35,397
1887-88	29,22,637
1888-89	30,49,772

It will be observed that there has during the past four years been a rapid increase in municipal revenues. The total income from taxation proper in each of those four years is marginally noted. The increase is principally derived from conservancy cess and property and house tax. The total of the receipts in 1886-87 was augmented by a loan of Rs. 50,000 to Howrah and Rs. 24,500 to the Burdwan Municipality. No loans were raised in 1887-88, but during the past year the receipts are increased by a loan of Rs. 50,000 raised by the Bhagulpore Municipality in the open market. The items which have shown a tendency to decrease are tolls on roads and ferries, income from markets, and payments for municipal service rendered to individuals.

	Rs.
1885-86	19,93,461
1886-87	20,92,985
1887-88	21,43,790
1888-89	22,35,044

16. During the past year the total municipal revenue shows an increase of Rs. 1,27,135. Unnecessary difficulty in comparing the receipts in different years has been occasioned by the divergence of classification in local reports. Conservancy fees levied under Part VI and Part IX of the Act are shown sometimes in statement No. I under "Conservancy cess" subordinate to "Assessed taxes" column 9), sometimes under column 16, "Miscellaneous receipts," sub-head "Conservancy and road-cleaning" or "Payment for municipal services." Taxes on lime and brick kilns again are sometimes shown under "License on trades," sometimes as a separate heading. The attention of Commissioners of Divisions will be invited to this point with a view to securing uniformity of classification in future. The increase in the year under report was mainly distributed under the following heads of revenue (vide Appendix F):—

Heads of Revenue.				Amount of increase.
Taxation—				Rs.
Conservancy cess				40,949
Tax on persons according to circumstances and property				44,096
Tax on houses and lands
Tax on vehicles and animals				9,602
License on trades				3,205
	Total "Taxation"			97,852
Miscellaneous receipts—		Rs.
Realizations under special Acts		19,534
Conservancy and road-cleaning, &c.		30,127
Municipal fines		5,828
Grants-in aid from provincial and local funds		13 159
			68,648
Loans			50,750
		Total	2,17,250

On the other hand, there was a decrease under the following heads:—

Heads of Revenue.				Amount of decrease.
Taxation—				Rs.
Water-tax				5,024
Tolls on roads and ferries				962
Fees on musical processions				612
	Total "Taxation"			6,598
Miscellaneous receipts—		Rs.
Payment for municipal service rendered to individuals		17,938
Sundries		31,478
			49,416
		Total	56,014

17. The total income from "Taxation" shows a net increase of Rs. 91,254, or 4·08 per cent. The additional taxation levied during the year in the two new municipalities of Jhaldah and Raghunathpore is shown in the margin. In the other newly-created municipalities no taxation was levied during the year.

	Rs.
Jhaldah ...	1,307
Raghunathpore	1,492
Total	2,799

18. To the head "Conservancy cess" properly belong all receipts on account of latrine fees under Part IX of the Act where it is in force Of the total increase under this head amounting to 13·08 per cent., nearly five-eighths occurred in the three municipalities of Howrah (Rs. 6,342), Suburbs of Calcutta (Rs. 8,690), and Dacca (Rs. 10,303). The increase in Dacca was due principally to the revision of assessments. In other Divisions the increase is very small. In the Chittagong Division there has been a decrease of income under this head. In the Rajshahye Division there would have been a decrease but for the enforcement of Part IX for the first time in Rungpore. The application of this portion of the law to Ranchi, the only town in the Chota Nagpore Division to which it has been extended, brought an accession of income of Rs. 3,649. No receipts under this head are shown in the returns from the Patna and Orissa Divisions. In the former Division the only place where Part IX is in force is Patna, where the receipts which show a decrease of Rs. 932 have been entered under "Conservancy and road cleaning." In Orissa the receipts under Part IX, which appear to be realised in Pooree only, have also been shown under that head; they have fallen off by Rs. 1,247.

19. The increase in the "Tax on persons according to their circumstances and property" and "Tax on houses and lands" taken together was distributed in all the Divisions except Patna and Orissa. The largest increase occurred in the following municipalities:—

Name of Municipality.	Amount of increase.
	Rs
Suburbs of Calcutta	20,890
Dacca	15,493
Howrah	6,194
Chittagong	4,027
North Barrackpore ...	3,747
Serampore	3,688
Revilgunge	2,293
Jamalpore (Monghyr)	2,286
Baranagore	2,257
Jhallokatty	2,182	(over a total income of Rs. 2,676 of the previous year).
Rungpore	2,070
Kishengunge	2,031
Utterpara	1,835
Bettiah	1,760
Chyebassa	1,130	(over a total income of Rs. 1,514 of the previous year).

In the Burdwan Division, exclusive of Howrah, there was a falling off under this head of Rs. 1,227, due to remissions and reduction of the rates. The Commissioner considers that the circumstances of the people afford no justification for this decrease. In Patna a large amount (Rs. 17,895) was not collected during the year owing to non-disposal of appeals by an appeal sub-committee.

20. The increase in "Taxes on vehicles and animals" occurred mainly in the Presidency, Rajshahye, and Patna Divisions. In the Howrah Municipality there was a falling off of Rs. 2,468.

21. License on Trades.—The only income under this head is derived from the licensing of certain offensive and dangerous trades under Part VI of the Act. There is a considerable increase in the Burdwan and Presidency Divisions under this head, and small receipts in the Dacca, Bhagulpore, and Orissa Divisions, but elsewhere none are shown. In the previous year there were receipts amounting to Rs. 3,868 in the Hazaribagh and Ranchi Municipalities, and it is not explained why this source of income has been abandoned by them.

22. The principal increase in "Realizations under special enactments" occurred in the municipalities of Howrah (Rs. 5,513), and the Suburbs of Calcutta (Rs. 5,776). The increase in Kissengunge (Rs. 1,754) was due to a transfer from the District Fund. An increase of about Rs. 2,000 is shared by several municipalities in the Nuddea district

23. Owing to changes in classification already alluded to, the increase under "Conservancy and road cleaning, &c.," is partly nominal, and balanced by the falling off under "Payment for municipal services rendered to individuals." The figures under the former head include some receipts on account of conservancy cess.

24. The receipts from municipal fines have increased from year to year, as the figures in the margin will show. In the Howrah Municipality the increase in the year under report amounted to Rs. 3,497.

Year.	Amount of fines realised. Rs.
1885-86	23,462
1886-87	25,299
1887-88	26,260
1888-89	32,028

25. Water-rate was levied during the year only in Burdwan and Darjeeling. The decrease in Burdwan (Rs. 3,012) is due to a reduction in the rate. The Commissioner remarks that this reduction, which has been going on steadily since 1886-87, is not justifiable in view of the necessity of extending the supply of filtered water to all parts of the town. In Darjeeling also the rate has been reduced, but the water-supply there is sufficient for the present.

26. The following grants were made to municipalities from provincial or local funds during the year :—

	Rs.
Bhagulpore ...	450	From the District Fund for the maintenance of the dispensary.
Deoghur ...	150	From the Pilgrims' Lodging-house Fund for conservancy purposes.
Patna ...	12,000	From the Wahabee Fund for the initial expenses of a drainage and water-supply scheme.
Sasseram ...	1,200	From the Sasseram Endowment Fund for the support of a dispensary.
Pooree ...	9,200	From the Pilgrims' Lodging-house Fund for conservancy and sanitary purposes.
Chittagong ...	5,000	From Government for the construction of a building for the municipal school.
Tipperah ...	600	From the District Fund towards the maintenance of the dispensary.
Lalbagh ...	3,600	From Government on behalf of the Nizamut for the conservancy of the town.
Burdwan ..	1,118	From Government for the maintenance of the higher and middle class English schools in the town.
	400	From the District Fund for the support of the dispensary.

27. Gifts of money or land, and works of public utility prosecuted by private individuals.—A large and handsome building was constructed in the town of Durbhunga by Rai Gunga Prosad Bahadur at a cost of Rs. 18,000 for the Northbrook Higher Class English School, which was opened during the year. Rajah Surja Kanth Acharjya Bahadur made the donation of Rs. 5,000 mentioned in the report for 1887-88 for the purpose of furnishing the Town Hall erected at his expense in the Nasirabad Municipality with a suitable public library. The Rajah has made further gifts of Rs. 30,000 and Rs. 20,000 for the construction of waterworks in that town, thus raising his total donation for this project to the sum of a lakh of rupees. In Bali one of the Municipal Commissioners, Baboo Shib Chundra Chatterjea, built a public bathing ghât on the river Hooghly at a cost of about Rs. 7,000. Two other public bathing ghâts were erected on the river Hooghly in the Municipality of Naihatty at a cost of Rs 5,000 and Rs. 2,000 by Srimati Sarbamangala Debi and Baboo Krishna Chandra Banerjea respectively. Maharaja Girija Nath Roy of Dinagepore contributed a further sum of Rs. 6,400, in addition to the donation of Rs. 26,000 previously paid by him, for the improvement of the drainage of the town of Dinagepore. The Khulna Municipality received a donation of Rs. 1,000 from Mr. Clay, the late Magistrate of the district, in addition to the similar amount previously given by him, to enable the Commissioners to speedily complete the tank they had decided upon excavating from the funds thus made available to them. In Joynagore, the Chairman gave to the municipality 2 bighas 12½ kottahs of land for a public burning-ground. In the Bettiah Municipality, the Maharajah of Bettiah made a donation of Rs. 1,000 towards the Jubilee Female Ward of the local charitable dispensary, which has now been finished; he has also offered a monthly subscription of Rs. 40 for its support. In Motihari, Babu Sheo Gobind Shukul constructed a bathing ghât on the bank of the lake on which the town stands, at a cost of Rs. 3,000. In addition to the gifts specified there were many other liberal donations made by individuals for works of public utility.

28. Expenditure.—The total expenditure was Rs. 30,42,900, against Rs. 29,25,384 in the previous year, and the year closed with a balance of Rs. 4,14,654, against Rs. 4,08,859 in 1887-88. The following comparative statement shows the percentage of the municipal income spent under each of the principal heads of expenditure during a period of three years:—

29. The statement in Appendix G shows the details of expenditure under each head, Division by Division, as compared with the previous year. The chief differences in expenditure as compared with that of the year 1887-88 are the following:—

Increase.

	Rs.
Lighting	10,560
Repairs to markets, &c.	10,957
Maintenance of medical institutions	12,452
Water-works	3,574
Road watering	4,467
Road cleaning and conservancy	61,153
Drainage	3,008
Public instruction	13,412
Construction of roads	41,129
Survey of land	4,282

Decrease.

Buildings and other works	26,345
Other new works	18,765
	57,229

30. It is satisfactory to notice that the cost of general establishment employed by the municipalities during 1888-89 exceeded the charge for 1887-88 by only Rs. 1,678, the increase in previous years having been very much larger, as shown in the margin. The charge on this account, which amounted to Rs. 2,75,013 in 1884-85, when there were 129 municipalities in the province, now stands at Rs. 3,35,542, on account of 147 municipalities now in existence, being 11 per cent. of their income.

Year.	Increase as compared with previous year. Rs.
1885-86	23,311
1886-87	14,422
1887-88	21,118

31. Generally speaking, it may be said that the Commissioners increased their expenditure on works of general utility to the rate-payers. The largest increase occurred under the heads of "Conservancy" and "Construction of roads." Under "Drainage works" the expenditure rose from Rs. 1,00,557 in 1887-88 to Rs. 1,03,565 during 1888-89. The charges incurred on account of "road cleaning" and "conservancy" have not been carefully debited to these items, in the annual accounts submitted to Government. This is owing to the fact that in some municipalities the same establishment of sweepers performs both duties. Taking both these items together, the increase was most marked in the following municipalities:—

Name of Municipality.	Amount of increase.	Name of Municipality.	Amount of increase.
	Rs.		Rs.
Dacca	9,632	Ranchi	1,995
Howrah	8,974	Naraingungo	1,903
Patna	6,141	Monghyr	1,885
Darjeeling	3,701	Gya	1,688
Jamalpore (Monghyr) ...	2,884

No satisfactory explanation is given of the decrease (Rs. 850) in Pooree where there is so much need of efficient conservancy arrangements. The description and cost of the conservancy establishment employed by each municipality is shown in detail in Appendix I of the Report.

32. Loans and sanitation.—It will be convenient to consider these two subjects under the same heading. It is impossible to improve the sanitary condition of municipalities without spending money on the improvement of water-supply and drainage, and funds for such purposes are not obtainable from current income. In some cases the amount required has been partially supplied by the munificent liberality of wealthy citizens, but even in these cases the growing needs of the municipality have shown that the funds so given must be supplemented from some other source; while ordinarily the Municipal Commissioners must be entirely dependent for the large sums required on loans either raised in the open market or lent by Government. The policy of the Government of India in regard to loans to municipalities is now so far modified that funds will henceforward be placed at the disposal of the Local Government for the purpose with due consideration to available resources and the demands presented. Under the orders of the Government of India, dated 1st January 1889, loans can be granted to municipalities "for works of public and general convenience and utility, such as drainage and water-works, bridges and the like, but not for works which are merely or mainly ornamental or convenient, such as town-halls, public gardens, or market-places." This concession, which will, it is expected, produce a powerful influence in the direction of sanitary improvement in municipalities, was, however, published too late to have any effect in the year under review, and even for the current year there was no time to prepare detailed estimates. During the past year, therefore, no loans were made to municipalities by Government, and for the present year a lump sum of Rs. 50,000 only has been sanctioned. The estimates now under submission to the Government of India for the year 1890-91 show a great increase, and amount to Rs. 12,40,000.

33. One loan was, however, raised by a municipality during the past year in the open market. The Commissioners of the Bhagulpore Municipality raised a loan of Rs. 50,000 on account of water-works, offering interest at 6 per cent. Ten tenders were received, varying from Rs. 94 to 101 and covering the loan five times over. Rupees 45,000 were allotted at par and Rs. 5,000 at a premium of one rupee. This result the Lieutenant-Governor considers to be highly satisfactory, and he congratulates the Commissioners on the result of their enterprize.

34. The following remarks are now recorded by the Lieutenant-Governor regarding the schemes for improvement in sanitation, which it is hoped will be effected in the course of a few years with the aid of loans advanced by Government. The most important of these schemes is the Howrah water-works, for which plans and estimates have been received from the Municipal Commissioners with an application for a loan of ten lakhs of rupees, and is now under the consideration of the Public Works Department. The question of the drainage of the town of Howrah, which is at present carried by open drains into the river Hooghly, has also been under consideration. A sanitary survey of the town of Burdwan is still going on, and although the cost of a complete and well-devised system of drainage cannot at present be even approximately estimated, it is expected to be heavy. In Culna the Municipal Commissioners propose to spend Rs. 40,000 on drainage, water-supply and other improvements. In Hooghly an estimate of Rs 35,000 has been prepared for the same purpose. In Serampore the chief want is a proper system of drainage, which is estimated to cost Rs. 30,091. These are all works which cannot and ought not to be met from current income, and the Lieutenant-Governor is prepared to consider favourably any loan applications which may be made by the municipalities concerned. It is reported that the Municipal Commissioners of Midnapore propose to apply for a loan of Rs. 25,000 for improving drainage and excavating wells, and that the Bankoora Municipality has already prepared an application for a loan of Rs. 5,000 for improving the water-supply of the town.

35. The Lieutenant-Governor regrets to see from the report of the Commissioner of the Presidency Division that no schemes for systematic sanitary improvement appear to be in contemplation in that Division. Mr. Smith writes:—"Systematic drainage and supply of good drinking-water are the chief wants of all the municipalities in the Division. . . . The municipalities with their limited resources cannot undertake systematic drainage, but they are gradually opening roadside drains along with the road works. Some of the municipalities have excavated tanks for the supply of drinking-water. On the whole, the Municipal Commissioners are alive to the wants of the towns in their charge, and are gradually carrying out improvements as far as their means permit." These remarks seem to lose sight of the fact that the systematic improvement required can in a large measure be accomplished by borrowed capital. Instead of spending small sums of money on partial improvements of drainage, it is desirable that funds should in the first instance be accumulated from current income for undertaking sanitary surveys with a view to the preparation of complete schemes. When these schemes are prepared, it remains for the municipalities to apply to Government for a loan. It is expected of district officers that they will take every reasonable opportunity of pointing out to Municipal Commissioners that when the Government is willing to advance loans for the purpose, no plea of want of funds can be allowed to stand in the way of the execution of such works as are calculated to improve the sanitary condition of the towns under their charge. The Sanitary Commissioner is now engaged in a systematic inspection of these municipalities in the neighbourhood of the metropolis, and it is hoped will be able to induce them to co-operate with one another, both in regard to the provision of funds and in other directions, for the improvement of their sanitation. It is of great importance that these small towns, which are often close to one another, should work together and not in isolation.

36. In the Rajshahye Division some progress is being made. The Maharajah of Dinagepore contributed Rs. 26,000 for the improvement of the main drains of the town: a complete survey was prepared, and the work has been carried out; but it seems that some further expenditure is still required. In Rampore Beauleah a supply of good drinking-water from the river by means of pumps and hydrants is greatly needed, and it is reported that "the only feasible way of doing this will be to borrow the capital required and to make a provision for its repayment by the imposition of a water-rate." It has been resolved by the Municipal Commissioners to apply to Government for a loan of Rs. 15,000 for the completion of drainage works in the town. In Pubna the same pressing wants are reported—drinking-water and drainage. Both in Pubna and in Julpigoree a sanitary survey of the town has been commenced as a preliminary measure for the improvement of the system of drainage. From Rungpore it is reported that a drainage scheme will be undertaken during the current year, and that funds have been locally provided. The municipality has contributed Rs 5,000; the savings of the Jubilee Fund Rs. 4,200; private subscriptions Rs. 2,000, and Baboo Janoki Bullub Sen, a rich zemindar of the district, has promised to give Rs. 15,000 towards the cost of construction.

37. In Dacca it has been found necessary to extend the water-works which were established in 1876 through the liberality of Nawab Sir Abdul Ghunny, K.C.S.I., who paid a sum of Rs. 1,50,000 towards their cost and maintenance. For this purpose an application for a loan of Rs. 1,25,000 was made to Government, and has been duly sanctioned. The sum of Rs. 30,000 will be advanced during the current year. The improvement of the drainage in Dacca is also an urgent want, and as it will prove very expensive, can only be undertaken by borrowed capital. In Mymensingh, Rajah Surjya Kant Acharjya, Bahadur, has increased his donation from Rs. 50,000 to Rs. 1,00,000 for the water-works of the town. They are, however, estimated to cost Rs. 1,50,000, and the difference, it appears, can only be raised by loan. The municipality have not yet made any application to Government for the purpose. Their application for a grant from Provincial funds was rejected.

38. From the Chittagong Division it is reported that much of the unhealthiness of the town of Chittagong is due to insufficient drainage by reason of the Chuktai nullah having silted up. It is added that "the municipality is not in a sufficiently solvent state to undertake the re-excavation of the khal which is estimated to cost Rs. 37,772." An application to Government to grant the funds from Provincial revenues has been refused; but it seems to the Lieutenant-Governor that the Municipal Commissioners might fairly be asked to reconsider the circumstances of the case with a view to applying to Government for a loan of the funds required.

39. The steps which have been taken by the Bhagulpore Municipality to raise a loan in the public market for their water-works have already been described. It does not seem that any action is being taken by the other municipalities in the Division, but the information furnished is meagre. Here, as elsewhere, a systematic sanitary survey of the towns should precede and form the basis of schemes which may ultimately be proposed. From the Patna Division also the information is insufficient, but it is understood that preliminary surveys have been concluded in the towns of Chuprah and Durbhunga, and that the Municipal Commissioners of the former town are prepared to ask for a loan of one lakh of rupees for the construction of drainage works. The Municipality of Mozufferpore also contemplates applying for a loan of Rs. 75,000 for sanitary improvement. A complete scheme of water-works has been prepared for the town of Pooree in Orissa, but the expense involved is beyond the means of this small municipality, where, moreover, sufficiently good water is said to be obtainable anywhere 10 to 15 feet below the surface of the ground. Action on it has therefore been suspended for the present. The proper drainage of the town is probably a more pressing want, and a loan of Rs. 25,000 has been asked for from the Government for this purpose. In the Chota Nagpore Division it is said that sanitary improvements are withstood from want of funds, but no proposals to raise a loan to meet this want appear to be contemplated by any of the municipalities.

40. On the whole, it will appear from this account that municipalities in Bengal have not been inattentive to the instructions contained in the letter from the Government of India, No. 95, dated 30th July 1887, to devote themselves in a more systematic manner to the prosecution of sanitary measures. The great object is to lay out the funds which may be placed at their disposal to the best purpose on well-devised schemes of permanent utility. The new Sanitary Board which has been lately sanctioned, and will, it is hoped, be now constituted without delay, will be a great aid to them in the furtherance of these schemes. It is in regard to water-supply and drainage that municipalities should be urged to apply for loans under the rules now sanctioned. But it must be understood once for all that the Government will not contribute from Provincial funds in aid of such works. The municipalities concerned must be prepared to repay both capital and interest from their own expanding revenues or from special rates raised for the purpose. Good water and good drainage cannot be obtained in any city for nothing, and the cost of defraying such sanitary improvements must be met in future by the municipal rate-payers, and can no longer be defrayed, either in whole or in part, as has sometimes been done in the past, by funds levied by Government from the general public. It is precisely in matters of this kind that the distinction in the appropriation of funds raised by Provincial and local taxation should be rigidly enforced.

41. Maintenance of Hospitals and Dispensaries, and Vaccination.—A statement of hospitals and dispensaries maintained and supported by municipalities during the year is furnished in Appendix J to this report. The expenditure incurred by municipalities under this head and upon vaccination during the past four years is as follows:—

	Maintenance of medical institutions.	Vaccination.
	Rs.	Rs.
1885-86	2,06,246	15,225
1886-87	2,02,507	15,249
1887-88	2,17,458	16,973
1888-89	2,29,810	18,063

The progressive increase observable is not unsatisfactory; but the Lieutenant-Governor would be glad to see a still larger outlay under these heads. Municipal Commissioners in Bengal must not forget that in 1882 municipalities were relieved by Government of police charges amounting to about four lakhs of rupees, in return for which they accepted the charges for medical institutions and education. These charges are still much less than those of which they were relieved, and a special obligation therefore rests on them to augment their expenditure. The number of medical institutions assisted or maintained was 121 in 1887-88: in 1888-89 it was 122.

It is reported that in many Municipalities the Commissioners have set aside suitable endowments for scholarships for female medical students and for the maintenance of trained nurses. Although the results are disappointing in all divisions, the Lieutenant-Governor hopes that Municipalities as well as District Boards will not be discouraged, but persevere in their endeavours to assist female medical enterprise in India.

42. Vital statistics.—The defects in the registration of births and deaths in municipalities have already been noticed in paragraphs 2 and 3 of the Resolution recorded by the Lieutenant-Governor on the Annual Report of the Sanitary Commissioner for Bengal for the year 1888, and were fully discussed in the special Resolution of Government which was annexed to last year's Report on the Working of Municipal Bodies. From the reports now received from Commissioners of Divisions it appears that in the municipalities of the Burdwan Division effective steps have been taken for the improvement of registration; from the Presidency and Rajshahye Divisions some improvement is reported; in the Chittagong Division the improvement is said to be not very marked. In the municipalities of the Dacca and Chota Nagpore Divisions the registration is said to be still unsatisfactory, while in the Patna Division there has been an improvement in Chumparun only; in all other municipalities a falling off. The Commissioners of Orissa and Bhagulpore give no information on this subject in their reports. For the whole province the birth-rate in Municipalities was only 20·6 per thousand, and the death-rate 24·8. The Sanitary Commissioner is now devoting special attention to this subject, and it is hoped that the current year's statistics will show a decided improvement. The excellence of the results attained in some towns shows what might be effected by more care and trouble in Municipalities generally.

43. Maintenance of Schools.—Appendix K shows the number of schools in each municipality, the average attendance at each of them, and the amount of municipal contribution paid during the year. The municipal contribution to schools during the past four years is as follows:—

	Rs.
1885-86	1,01,612
1886-87	97,382
1887-88	1,11,454
1888-89	1,24,866

These figures are irreconcileable with those furnished by the Director of Public Instruction, which show that the whole expenditure incurred on education from Municipal funds during the past year was only Rs. 85,937. It is presumed that the information is supplied from the same source to both departments, and in any case there ought to be no discrepancy in the figures. The same confusion in accounts was observed in the recent Resolution reviewing the expenditure of District Boards on schools. The attention of Commissioners and of the Director of Public Instruction is now especially drawn to the point in order that the figures separately submitted may be brought into exact accordance in future years. Accepting for the purposes of this Resolution the reports submitted by Commissioners, it is found that the total payment of municipalities for the maintenance of schools amounts to 4·9 per cent. on their income for the year, and varies, as shown in the statement given in paragraph 28, from 17·3 per cent. in the Chittagong Division to 2·4 per cent. in the Bhagulpore Division. The large expenditure in Chittagong is augmented by a Government grant of Rs. 5,000 for the construction of a new municipal school building, of which Rs. 3,000 were spent during the year. It is to be regretted that the information furnished does not show how much is devoted to high English schools, to middle schools, and to primary education separately. But the figures which are submitted show, if reliance can be placed upon their accuracy, that there is a very wide diversity in different municipalities. It is reported by most Commissioners that the municipal grants are devoted, as a rule, to the maintenance of English education, and that little or no assistance is given to primary schools. This is a tendency to be guarded against; and while the Lieutenant-Governor does not consider that there is any obligation on municipalities to devote the whole of their grants to primary education, he quite agrees with the opinion expressed by Mr. Smith and other experienced officers, that an unduly large portion of the municipal funds should not be assigned to the benefit of the small and comparatively well-to-do section of the community, who ought to be left to themselves to pay for high education to their children. It appears to be a distinct abuse of municipal funds to assist or maintain English schools in open rivalry to other English schools which have been established by private enterprise. In more than one municipality it is observed that funds are so diverted in order to enable the fees paid at municipal schools to be reduced and so crush out competition. And where the grants are large to English schools it is too often found that primary education is entirely neglected. Even in the Burdwan Municipality, which in many respects sets a favourable example to others to follow, the large contribution towards education, amounting to Rs. 1,971, is entirely swallowed up in aiding an English school, while nothing is given to assist the vernacular schools in the town. In such cases, Commissioners of Divisions, in whose hands the power is vested by law, should not hesitate to exercise their discretion in revising the municipal estimates until a more equitable apportionment of funds is allotted.

In the whole of the Burdwan Division, for which details are given, it is found that out of a total contribution to education of Rs. 15,461, no less than Rs. 10,404 are given to English schools, while the aid to vernacular schools is Rs. 3,350 and to girls' schools Rs. 1,707. The Lieutenant-Governor will issue separate instructions requiring information similar to that which has been given for the Burdwan Division to be furnished by Commissioners for all districts.

44. Miscellaneous.—A severe tornado visited the town of Dacca on the 7th April 1888. Its duration was only a few minutes; and it extended over an area of 3½ miles in length and about 200 paces in breadth. A large amount of property was destroyed, and about 130 human lives were lost. Another tornado passed over the town of Bhuddressur in the Hooghly district. It lasted from five to seven minutes, and destroyed houses and property to the value of Rs. 25,000. Twelve people and four hundred cattle were killed. Shocks of earthquake were felt in the towns of Hooghly, Nattore, Sherepore, and Bogra. Several municipalities in the Burdwan, Patna and Presidency Divisions suffered from the high floods during the year. There were some serious outbreaks of fire in the municipalities of Kandi, Colgong, English Bazar, and Old Maldah.

45. Working of the Porters' and Dandeewallas' Act, V (B.C.) of 1883, in Darjeeling.—During the year 187 dandeewallas and 98 porters were registered, and 267 badges (new and old) were issued. The cost incurred was Rs. 198, of which Rs. 50 were paid from the Darjeeling Improvement Fund. There were no prosecutions under the Act.

46. Working of the Pilgrims' Lodging-house Act, IV (B.C.) of 1871.—In Pooree, the receipts during the year, including the opening balance of Rs. 12,296-8-8, amounted to Rs. 18,176-11-4, and the expenditure Rs. 14,193-6-2, against Rs. 21,052-10-5 and Rs. 8,756-1-9, respectively, of the previous year. The sum of Rs. 9,500 was contributed to the municipality, against Rs. 4,000 during 1887-88, to meet the cost of conservancy and certain improvements in the buildings of the Pilgrim Hospital and drainage. Several public latrines were constructed; the number of inspections made by the Health Officer and of prosecutions for offences under the Act increased; and the requirements of the law with regard to the amount of accommodation to be allowed for each pilgrim and the provision of proper ventilation in the lodging-houses were more strictly carried out. The amount of fines realised came up to Rs. 1,074-9, against Rs. 351 of the previous year. Besides contributing largely to the support of the Pilgrim Hospital at Pooree, the Lodging-house Committee maintained entirely the Pilgrim Hospital at Pipli and the field hospital at Jeypore. They also contributed two-thirds of the cost of the Balianta Hospital, for which a new building is being erected. An extra Hospital Assistant was employed by the Committee on special duty with cholera patients in the town of Pooree. The Act worked very satisfactorily in this town.

47. In Gya, the total receipts of the Lodging-house Fund during the year amounted to Rs. 13,110-1-11 (including the balance of the previous year), and the total expenditure Rs 3,702-8, leaving a surplus balance of Rs. 9,407-9-11 to the credit of the Fund. The number of licenses issued during the year was 476, against 422 in the preceding year, and the number of lodgers was 13,485, against 12,636. The total amount of fines imposed was Rs. 240, of which Rs. 223 were realized and credited to the fund. A sum of Rs. 1,966 was spent in constructing a special cholera hospital in the old town of Gya. The work was commenced a few months before the close of the year under review, and is still in progress. There was no epidemic in the lodging-houses, which were kept in good order, and measures were adopted to keep them clean. They were regularly inspected by the Health Officer during the pilgrim seasons. The Act is reported to have worked satisfactorily.

48. In Raneegunge, no lodging-houses were licensed during the year. The Act has been virtually inoperative since its introduction into that town in July 1883. In Gurbetta, the total receipts under the Act amounted to Rs. 173-0-6, against Rs. 200-5-3 of the previous year, and the year closed with a balance at credit of the fund of Rs. 53-10. The Committee held six meetings. In Uluberiah, the Committee held nine meetings during the year. The total income amounted to Rs. 616-12-9, and the balance at the close of the year was Rs. 274-6. In Deoghur, the total receipts amounted to Rs. 856, against Rs. 887-2 of the preceding year. The sum of Rs 150 was contributed to the municipality for conservancy purposes. The year closed with a balance of Rs. 51-7-5 in the hands of the Committee.

Under a notification, dated 28th November 1888, the provisions of the Act were formally extended to Sitakund in the district of Chittagong. The total expenditure incurred by the Committee was Rs. 852-11-10.

49. The Act was also extended to Chandbally in the district of Balasore. This port is visited weekly by three sea-going and three river steamers, which land and ship about four thousand pilgrims every month, and outbreaks of disease owing to overcrowding and insanitary conditions are common. The income of the Committee was Rs. 604-14 and the expenditure Rs. 448-5-4.

50. General Working of the Municipal Act, III (B.C.) of 1884.—The Commissioner of the Presidency Division records his opinion on the working of the Act in his Division, thus:—"From what I have seen, it seems to me that on the whole the Act has worked well. Both the elected and the nominated Commissioners generally take interest in their duties, and the work has gone on smoothly.

* * * * * * * *

Some of the municipalities have shown an undue tendency to increase establishment, and to increase unnecessarily the pay of the officers. With more experience, I hope they will learn to husband their resources, which are generally very small as compared with requirements. Most of the municipalities, as stated in former reports, are disposed to devote unduly large portions of their funds to high education, and large amounts are budgetted for the purpose. I have taken every opportunity of explaining to them that the proceeds of municipal taxation should be spent for the good of the rate-payers generally, and not largely used for the benefit of the small and usually comparatively well-to-do section, who desire high education for their children."

51. The Commissioner of the Burdwan Division observes:—"The Burdwan Municipal Committee is reported to have continued doing good work, its efficiency being greatly due to the ability of its Chairman, Babu Nuli Naksha Basu. The Magistrate of Beerbhoom reports fairly well of the Sooree Municipal Committee, which has been under a non-official Chairman. From Hooghly complaint is made of inadequate penalties inflicted by Municipal Benches through fear of unpopularity. It is also stated that party spirit and petty personal jealousies are often allowed to interfere with the conduct of public business. As regards sanitation, the municipalities generally have shown themselves very apathetic, and it is reported that they are unwilling to incur loans for the execution of works of obvious utility, but which are too costly to be constructed out of current income. The Municipality of Howrah, which has just applied for a loan of ten lakhs for water-works, is a noteworthy exception to this dread of incurring financial responsibility; but at Howrah the District Magistrate is Chairman, and there is a considerable European element among the Commissioners. In the matter of public instruction it is noted that, while higher class (especially English) schools are favoured by municipalities, the same treatment is not always accorded to vernacular and primary schools, which, as benefiting the mass of the people, have stronger claims upon the rates. The general statement of receipts shows that, while there has been a decrease of income from tax on holdings, houses, and lands, the receipts from wheel-tax, tax on animals and tolls have increased. From this it appears that there is a tendency to lower the rate of direct taxation, and to develope income arising from such taxes as are either indirect, or do not touch the rate-payers themselves."

52. The Magistrate of Rajshahye observes:—"As far as I have been able to observe, while there is much interest and zeal exhibited by the Commissioners of the Rampore Beauleah Municipality in council and good administration of the municipal office, all of which is very creditable to the Chairman and his colleagues, there is not sufficient attention to practical details." Of the Nattore Municipality he writes:—"It must be admitted that not as much progress has been made as could be hoped for, but there is no reason for despair of more progress in the future, especially if more union can be attained in the Municipal Council."

As regards the Dinagepore Municipality, the Magistrate writes:—"I consider that the Municipal Act has worked well. The Commissioners, with one or two exceptions, all take an interest in their duties, and, besides the business at meetings, assist in the executive work of their respective wards. They have rendered assistance particularly in the supervision of vital statistics. Substantial progress has been made during the year in improving the drainage of the town."

The Magistrate of Bogra observes:—"The Commissioners of the Bogra Municipality are to be highly congratulated on the good work done by them with the funds at their disposal, which, though the taxes are certainly heavy, are small owing to the smallness of the town. The elective system is a decided success, and has answered all its purposes satisfactorily. The considerable number of Commissioners who regularly attend the meetings take an exceptionally keen interest in the public business, and the results are mostly very good."

Speaking of the Pubna Municipality, the Magistrate of Pubna writes:—"On the whole the Municipal Chairman and rest of the staff have managed the municipal affairs with much care and success, and deserve credit for the same."

53. The Commissioner of the Dacca Division writes:—"On the whole the Municipal Act has worked smoothly and well throughout the Division. The divisions and dissensions which unfortunately prevailed in the Dacca Municipality in previous years appear to have considerably subsided during the year under report, and with the recent resignation of the Vice-Chairman, who belonged to the party in opposition to the Chairman, the executive may be expected to work more harmoniously than hitherto. The Commissioners met 27 times during the year, against 18 in 1887-88. The Narainguge Municipality in Dacca and the several Municipal Committees in the districts of Furreedpore, Backergunge, and Mymensingh appear to have all worked well. The Magistrate of Backergunge reports that special praise is due to the sudder committee for the workman-like way they have carried out several sanitary reforms, especially by cleaning out tanks and filling up holes in various parts of the town."

54. The Magistrate of Chittagong reports that the members of the Chittagong Municipal Boards took a keen interest in all matters put before them. The chief weakness of the Chittagong Board appears to have been their disinclination to deal properly with such of their subordinates who commit, or attempt to commit, fraud, and generally to deal vigorously with abuses. The Tipperah and Noakholly Boards generally worked well. The Magistrate of Noakholly would like to see more natives of the district and Mahomedans on the Board; but the difficulty is to get good men in a district where all the largest landowners are non-resident.

55. The Magistrate of Bhagulpore writes as follows:—"The Bhagulpore Municipality has again been in the hands of an official Chairman, I having been elected in March 1888. The Commissioners have shown much interest in the development of the water-supply scheme, which now serves three of the most crowded wards of the town. They have made great progress in clearing the books of old unrealizable taxes, have revised the bye-laws prepared a scheme for re-assessing the town, and also made improvements in the disposal of night soil and control of the conservancy staff."

56. The remarks of the Commissioner of Patna on the working of municipalities are generally unfavourable. With regard to Patna, the features noted are "inadequate conservancy and latrine arrangements, almost absolute absence of supervision, conservancy staff both inadequate and idle, watering and lighting insufficiently supervised, and the drainage of the whole municipality abominably bad." The Commissioners, it is said, attend meetings regularly enough, but do no supervision of work. In Behar the zemindars exert their influence in elections to bring about reductions of rates and assessments, the result being that an income adequate for carrying out necessary improvements cannot be maintained. The Commissioner sums up—"In short, almost all the municipalities suffer from the same causes. The members of Committees either care only for the empty title or busy themselves about the wrong things."

57. The Commissioner of the Chota Nagpore Division observes:—"The Municipal Committees are generally well spoken of; the members are said to be regular in their attendance, and to take an intelligent interest in their duties."

58. The views of the Lieutenant-Governor have already been sufficiently expressed in this Resolution. It is clear that good and honest work is being done in municipalities. Expenditure is annually increasing, large and important works of drainage and water-supply have been taken in hand, and are in various stages of progress, while in all departments there are signs of improved administration, and of the active interest taken by Municipal Commissioners in the duties entrusted to them. On the other hand, the failings which are inseparable from the working of all such local bodies are conspicuously evident. Personal jealousies and party strife are too common, and operate very prejudicially to the public welfare; there is a tendency on the part of Municipal Commissioners to benefit themselves and their own class to the exclusion of the poorer members of the community; there is a not unnatural reluctance, or timidity it may be called, in embarking on schemes of improvement until the necessity for expenditure has at last been forced upon the Municipality by outside pressure; there is an absence of that practical attention to details which can only be acquired by long experience in administrative work. These are deficiencies which time alone will remedy, but the results of the past year show that decided progress, slow in some places, but comparatively rapid in others, has been made. Municipalities not less than District Boards are in need of systematisation, and the remarks which have lately been recorded by the Lieutenant-Governor on the working of District Boards during the past year are equally applicable to municipal institutions. It appears that the establishment of a Local Government Board, somewhat on the lines originally contemplated, will soon become an administrative necessity in this province.

By order of the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal,

H. J. S. COTTON,

Offg. Secy. to the Govt. of Bengal.

REPORT ON THE WORKING OF THE JUTE WAREHOUSE AND FIRE BRIGADE ACT IN HOWRAH FOR THE YEAR 1888-89.

THE following report is published for general information.

H. J. S. COTTON,
Offg. Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal.

No. 499M., dated Burdwan, the 5th November 1889.

From—A. L. CLAY, Esq., Offg. Commissioner of the Burdwan Division,
To—The Secretary to the Govt. of Bengal, Municipal Department.

I HAVE the honour to submit a printed copy of the Annual Report on the working of the Jute Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act within the Howrah Municipality during the year 1888-89.

2. The Municipal Commissioners have paid to the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta, Rs. 4,680 instead of Rs. 4,700, the amount due, being 80 per cent. of the fees and fines realised during the year under report. On this being pointed out to the Magistrate of Howrah, it is reported that a fine of Rs. 25 got mixed up with the conservancy fines; hence the discrepancy. The balance due, Rs. 20, i.e. 80 per cent. of Rs. 25, will be sent to the Commissioner of Police without delay.

THE JUTE WAREHOUSE AND FIRE BRIGADE ACT.

ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1888-89.

I HAVE the honour to report on the working of the Licensed Warehouse and Fire Brigade Act in this municipality for the official year ending 31st March 1889.

1. There were 30 jute warehouses licensed during the year, showing an increase of 4 over the previous year, although the firm of Messrs. Anderson, Wright & Co. had stopped work during the year.

2. A classified list of warehouses is given in Appendix I attached to this report. There were no new warehouses established during the year.

3. The total income amounted to Rs. 5,875 under the following heads:—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Total ...	5,875	0	0

There has been no falling off in the income, but rather a slight increase over that of the preceding year, notwithstanding one of the firms had closed work.

The expenditure on the inspection of jute warehouses amounted to—

	Rs.	A.	P.
Contingencies	26	9	6

There were only two prosecutions during the year, the particulars of which are given in Appendix II.

The Fire Brigade establishment continued the same as last year under the control of the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta.

A plot of land was made over for the construction of a building for the accommodation of the Fire Brigade Superintendent and his establishment at the north of the municipal market. The site is a desirable one, as it is central and well adapted to overlook the whole town in case of a fire occurring.

There were ten fires during the year, two in the jute mills causing considerable damage to property, and the rest confined to huts and stacks of straw. A statement showing the particulars of the fire is given in Appendix III.

The following is the expenditure incurred during the year, irrespective of the amount expended by the Commissioner of Police, Calcutta:—

	Rs.
Rent of Fire Brigade station	720
80 per cent. paid to the Commissioner of Police	4,680
Total ...	5,400

Explanation.—Summary.—The normal means of air pressure and temperature are the arithmetical average or means of the reading during the same period for the last ten years. The humidity of the atmosphere is expressed as percentage, saturated air being presented by 100. A clear sky is denoted by 0 and an overcast sky by 10. The number of rainy days are the numerical means or average of the rainfall in that district determined from the returns sent in by the subdivisional station for the period in question during the past 17 years. The number of stations in the district sending in returns divided by the number of stations. A rainy day is one on which at least hundredth of an inch fell.

for the week ending Friday, the 15th of November 1889.

SUMMARY OF THE METEOROLOGICAL AND RAINFALL OBSERVATIONS TAKEN IN BENGAL FOR THE WEEK ENDING FRIDAY, THE 15TH OF NOVEMBER 1889.

DURING the previous week weather conditions in Bengal were those which are characteristic of the cold season. Pressure was rather high and temperature fairly low, skies were almost completely cloudless, and rainfall was, and had been for some time, practically entirely absent from the whole province. These conditions continued at the commencement of the present week, and in Bengal and over the Bay generally weather was fine and conditions were almost normal, except that there was an area of defective pressure in the east of the centre of the Bay and that the usual Madras rains had not set in. These conditions continued unaltered up to the 12th, and on that day pressure became distinctly low at Diamond Island, and wind directions at that station and in the south of Burma generally began to show indraught towards the centre and south of the Bay. These conditions continued on the 13th, and became considerably more pronounced, and it was clear that a decided cyclonic storm was being formed somewhere to the west of the Andamans. On the 14th and 15th the cyclonic storm appeared to be drifting very slowly in a westerly direction, while at the same time it was probably intensifying to a certain extent, and on the latter date it was, so far as could be determined, somewhat to the west of the centre of the Bay, and the centre of the storm was perhaps almost in the latitude of Madras.

The storm which had thus formed immediately caused the weather conditions over the whole Bay to change, and squally weather with rather heavy rain soon became general even over the northern half of the Bay. These conditions apparently rapidly extended from the Bay over the south of Bengal, or perhaps it is more probable even that a small offshoot from the main body of the storm may have travelled northwards over Bengal, and a heavy wave of moisture-laden winds commenced to pour in over parts of South-East and South Bengal and Orissa generally on the 13th, and over Bengal on the 14th of the month, the wave travelling slowly from the south to the north of the province. This produced an entire reversal of the previous weather conditions; skies became heavily clouded, and in many cases completely overcast, humidity and the night temperatures rose rapidly, the rise in temperature in some cases equalling 10°, and heavy rain commenced to be received. Thus on the 15th general, and in many cases heavy, rain was reported over the whole of Orissa, South-West Bengal, and East Bengal; over the Pubna, Bogra, and Rajshahye districts of North Bengal; over the Southal Pergunnahs district in South Behar; and in the Singbhoom, Manbhoom, and Hazaribagh districts of Chutia Nagpur. The greater part of South Behar, the whole of North Behar, and a considerable part of North Bengal, however, remained quite rainless up to the close of the week.

Pressure.—The pressure variations from day to day during the week have usually been decidedly small except on the 15th, when a rather rapid increase of pressure had taken place at many stations. The mean pressure for the week has been in defect of the normal in all districts, and at all stations except at Darjeeling, which has registered a slight excess. The general defects vary from three to six hundredths of an inch, but they are smaller than this in North Bengal and in North Behar, where they do not average more than about two hundredths of an inch.

Temperature—Remained fairly low and without much variation during the first four or five days of the week, but with the inrush of moist winds the temperature distribution changed rapidly. The day temperatures remained to a considerable extent unaltered, and indeed with the commencement of rain they to a certain extent fell, but the night temperatures increased very largely, such stations as Cuttack, Bankoora, Burdwan, Chupra, &c., showing an increase in the night temperatures from the 13th to the 14th of eight and even ten degrees. For the whole week the mean temperature of the province has been decidedly in excess of the normal, the excess ranging from about one to four degrees, and averaging nearly two degrees.

The general temperatures recorded in the various districts of the province during the week, and the range from day to night, together with the variation from the normal values, are best shown in the following table, where the average maximum, minimum, and mean temperatures of the week at nine typical stations in the province are compared with their normal values for the same period. From the table it will be seen that both day and night temperatures have been rather largely in excess, and that the excess has again been largest at Darjeeling, where both maximum and minimum temperatures have been in excess by five or six degrees:—

Rainfall.—The rainfall of the week has been particularly heavy and very abnormal. In Orissa, South-West and East Bengal the falls average between one and two and a half inches; in North Bengal and Chutia Nagpur they are between a third and half an inch; and in South Behar the fall averages rather less than a fifth of an inch; and finally in North Behar no rain at all fell. In normal years the average rainfall at about this period only amounts to a few hundredths of an inch. The heaviness of the rainfall, which, as before stated, at most stations was confined to the last day of the week, is seen by the fact that for the week falls exceeding two inches have been recorded at Cuttack, Jajpore, Chaudbally, Bhuddruck, Sorah, Barasat, Gangajalghati, Bolpore, Chooadanga, Rangamati, Gournaddi, Naraingunge, Ramchandrapore, and Lalpora; while falls exceeding three inches were received at Pooree, Raneegunge, Hetampur, Kooshtea, and Pubna. At Patkabari and Furreedpore the falls equalled about five inches, while at Cutwa, in the Burdwan district, the excessive fall of 6·4 inches was registered.

The following table gives the summary of the temperature and rainfall data of each of the seven meteorological divisions of the province for the week ending Friday, the 15th of November 1889:—

The mean pressure, temperature, &c., are deduced from the traces of the Barograph and Thermograph, and from observations made at 6h, 10h, 16h, and 22h.

The maximum and minimum temperatures are obtained from self-registering thermometers. All the thermometers are verified, and the readings have been corrected to a standard constructed and verified at the Kew Observatory. They are exposed under a thatched shed open at the sides, and are suspended four feet above the ground.

The barometer readings are corrected approximately to those of the standard, Newman's No 86, formerly at the Surveyor-General's Office.

The hygrometric elements are obtained from Tables III, IV, and V of the official tables computed in the Meteorological Office, and based on Regnault's modifications of August's formula.

The directions and the movement of the wind are taken from the trace of a Beckley's anemograph.

The mouth of the rain-gauge is one foot above the ground.

PRELIMINARY.

1. (i) All words and expressions used in these rules, and defined in the Act, shall in these rules have the meanings respectively assigned to them by the Act.

(ii) In these rules—

"Certificated petroleum" means petroleum covered by a certificate granted at the port of shipment of such description as the Local Government may, from time to time, by written order prescribe, and to the effect that the petroleum is not dangerous petroleum:

"uncertificated petroleum" means petroleum which the master of the ship has not declared under rule 2 to be dangerous petroleum, and which is not covered by a certificate as aforesaid.

IMPORTATION AT CALCUTTA.

2. The master of every ship bound for Calcutta and carrying petroleum shall, before reaching Budge-Budge, declare in writing to the pilot,* if there is one on board—

(a) what quantity of petroleum the ship is carrying,

(b) whether any, and if so what, part of the petroleum is dangerous petroleum,

(c) whether any, and if so what, part of the petroleum is certificated petroleum.

If there is no pilot on board, the master of such ship shall, before reaching Budge-Budge, despatch a similar declaration to the address of the Vice-Chairman of the Port Commissioners.

When the master declares that any petroleum is certificated petroleum, he shall produce to the pilot the certificate covering the same.

* The pilot should deliver this declaration to the Harbour Master or his Assistant, when the latter comes on board, for transmission to the Vice-Chairman of the Port Commissioners.

3. A ship having petroleum on board may proceed to any mooring in the port and there discharge the petroleum—

(a) if the petroleum has come from a port in British India as part of a general cargo, and has been certified not to be dangerous under section 9 of the Act, and does not exceed five thousand gallons in quantity, or

(b) if the petroleum is certificated petroleum not exceeding five thousand gallons in quantity and the master produces the certificate to the pilot, or

(c) if the petroleum is dangerous or uncertificated petroleum not exceeding forty gallons in quantity, or

(d) if the petroleum is petroleum which is ordinarily used for lubricating or jute-batching purposes, and which has a flashing-point above 150° of Fahrenheit's thermometer:

Provided that the Commissioner of Police shall be entitled at any time to obtain a sample of any petroleum referred to in clause (a), (b), or (d) for the purpose of having it tested.

4. Every other ship having petroleum on board shall not proceed upwards further than Budge-Budge, and such petroleum, whether landed at the petroleum wharf or otherwise discharged, shall be detained there pending the grant of an import license under section 5 of the Act, or the issue of a certificate under section 9 of the Act, or the issue by the Local Government of directions regarding it.

5. (1) When a ship is stopped at Budge-Budge under rule 4, the Superintendent of the Petroleum Wharf shall, as soon as possible, not exceeding forty-eight hours from the time of the petroleum being landed or discharged, into boats, obtain samples of all the petroleum landed or discharged, or intended to be landed or dicharged. The master shall deliver to the Superintendent without charge, such samples as he shall take.

(2) Every different quality of petroleum shall be separately sampled, and when petroleum is represented to be of uniform quality, a sample shall be taken from one case in every ten thousand cases.

(3) The Superintendent shall forthwith seal the receptacles containing the samples, and having labelled them with the name of the ship, the name of the consignee, and such other distinguishing marks as may be necessary, shall forward them to the Testing-officer appointed under section 9 of the Act for report.

6. The Testing-officer shall, as soon as practicable, and ordinarily within twenty-four hours after the receipt of the samples, sign a report certifying that they are, or are not, dangerous petroleum (as the case may be), and shall forward such report to the office of the Port Commissioners, sending also a copy of the same to the Commissioner of Police.

7. Unless with the written permission of the Port Commissioners, no petroleum shall be discharged or landed within the Port of Calcutta, except between daylight and dark, and at the wharves expressly set apart for the landing of petroleum.

8. No smoking, fire or light of any description shall be allowed in any shed reserved for the storage of petroleum at the Budge-Budge wharf, or used by the Port Commissioners for the temporary storage of petroleum brought into the port under rule 3, and no receptacle containing petroleum shall be opened, or the contents drawn off, within the embankments enclosing the sheds constructed for the storage of petroleum, except in such special place or places in the depôt as may be set apart by the Port Commissioners for that purpose.

IMPORTATION AT OTHER PORTS.

9. The master of every ship carrying petroleum shall, on entering a port in the Lower Provinces of Bengal, other than the port of Calcutta, give information of the quantity and description of the petroleum to the District Magistrate, and shall not allow any dangerous petroleum to be removed from the ship for delivery to any one person, except,

(a) if the petroleum exceeds forty gallons in quantity, upon the production by the consignee or his agent of a license under section 5 of the Act for the importation of the same, or

(b) if the petroleum does not exceed forty gallons in quantity, upon the production by the consignee or his agent of a license under section 6 for the transport or possession of the same, or

(c) if the petroleum does not exceed 3 gallons in quantity, in accordance with the conditions of the proviso to section 6 of the Act as to the vessels in which petroleum of that quantity when kept or transported without a license must be contained.

GENERAL.

10. The fee for sampling and testing petroleum shall be five rupees for each sample tested.

11. When the results of the testing of samples raise a doubt as to the uniformity of the quality of the petroleum in any consignment stated to be of one uniform quality, the Testing-officer, if he thinks further tests necessary to satisfy him that none of the petroleum is dangerous petroleum, shall inform the Superintendent of the Petroleum Wharf, or, in places other than Calcutta, the District Magistrate.

The District Magistrate, or, in Calcutta, the Superintendent of the Petroleum Wharf, or any police-officer of, or above, the rank of head-constable appointed by him in writing for the purpose, shall thereupon cause the petroleum in question to be landed and stacked in lots of one thousand cases each, or to be discharged into boats each containing five hundred cases; and he shall select and deliver to the Testing-officer one sample from each lot. The result of the testing of each of these samples shall determine the quality of the lot which such sample represents.

If the petroleum has been already landed and stored, it shall be divided into lots, and samples of each lot shall be selected as already stated.

12. Nothing in the foregoing rules applies to petroleum other than dangerous petroleum comprised in a ship's stores, and manifested as such, provided it is not of unreasonably large amount. If any question arises as to whether any petroleum, manifested as ship's stores, is of an unreasonably large amount, the decision thereon of the Port Commissioners in Calcutta, and of the District Magistrate elsewhere, shall be final.

NOTIFICATION No. 179Marine.

The 19th November 1889.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 11 of the Petroleum Act XII of 1886, the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal is pleased, with the previous sanction of the Governor-General in Council, to make the following rules to regulate the granting of licenses to possess and transport petroleum in the Lower Provinces of Bengal.

Preliminary.

1. The following rules shall extend, so far as they apply to dangerous petroleum, to all the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor, and, so far as they apply to other petroleum, only to those local areas to which the rest of the Act has, for the time being, been extended by a notification of the Local Government under section 1, sub-section (3), of the Act.

2. In these rules, including the forms annexed thereto,—

(1) all words and expressions defined in the Act shall have the meanings respectively assigned to them in the Act:

(2) "the town of Calcutta" means all places within the local limits of the original civil jurisdiction of the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal: and

(3) "the municipality of Calcutta" means the municipal limits of Calcutta as defined in the Calcutta Municipal Consolidation Act, 1888.

Possession of Petroleum.

3. Licenses for the possession of petroleum within the town of Calcutta shall be granted only when (1) the quantity of petroleum to be kept in one place does not exceed 50,000 gallons, and (2) the place intended to be used for the keeping of the petroleum fulfils the following conditions, namely:—(a) if the quantity of petroleum to be kept in the place does not exceed 5,000 gallons, the building itself shall be constructed of masonry with a terraced or iron roof, and the doorways and other openings of the building shall be built up to a height of not less than two feet above the level of the road or street, or the floor shall be sunk at least two feet below the level of the road or street, so that the petroleum cannot flow out of the place in case of fire; (b) if the quantity of petroleum to be kept in the place exceeds 5,000 gallons, the building itself shall be constructed of masonry with a terraced or iron roof, and the doorways and other openings of the building shall be built up to a height of not less than three feet above the level of the road or street, or the floor shall be sunk at least three feet below the level of the road or street, so that the petroleum cannot flow out of the place in case of fire, and there shall be a clear open space of at least twenty feet round the building.

4. Licenses for the possession of petroleum outside the town of Calcutta shall, if the quantity of petroleum to be kept in the place does not exceed 50,000 gallons, be granted on the same terms as those granted in the town of Calcutta for the possession in one place of not more than 5,000 gallons. If a license for the possession in one place of a larger quantity than 50,000 gallons be required, the license shall be granted on the same conditions as those granted in the town of Calcutta for the possession in one place of petroleum exceeding in quantity 5,000 gallons: provided that, if the place in which the petroleum is to be kept is situated within one hundred yards of the river Hooghly or Tolly's Nullah, or the Circular Canal, the building shall further be surrounded by a wall or earthen embankment not less than four feet high with a trench close to, and completely surrounding, the building, of sufficient capacity to hold all the petroleum stored, and to prevent its escape beyond the limits of the trench in case of fire.

5. The District Magistrate, or in the town of Calcutta the Commissioner of Police, or any police-officer of or above the rank of head-constable appointed by him in writing for this purpose, may enter any place in respect of which a license for the possession of petroleum has been granted, for the purpose of inspecting the same at any time after sunrise and before sunset.

6. The District Magistrate, Commissioner of Police, or any police-officer as aforesaid, may require a sample to be delivered to him from any receptacle containing petroleum stored in any licensed premises. The procedure prescribed in sections 12 and 13 of the Act shall apply to any demand for samples made under this rule and to the testing of such samples.

7. The following fees shall be charged for licenses for the possession of petroleum under the Act in places situated within the municipalities of Calcutta and Howrah respectively :—

Transport of petroleum.

12. (1) Licenses for the transport of petroleum other than dangerous petroleum in quantities exceeding 500 gallons may be either general or special. Licenses for the transport of dangerous petroleum shall be special only.

In the case of applications for licenses for the transport of dangerous petroleum under section 5 of the Act, the application shall also contain the particulars required by sub-section (2) of that section.

INDIA, WEST.

BOMBAY COAST.

A system of storm signals established.

THE British Admiralty have given notice (No. 858 of 1889) that on 15th September 1889, the following system of storm signals would be established at the undermentioned ports on the West coast of Hindustán :—

Ports to be warned.

1. Karáchi.	4. Bhaunagar.	7. Alabág.	10. Goa.
2. Porbander.	5. Damaon.	8. Ratnagiri.	11. Murmagao.
3. Veráwal.	6. Bombay.	9. Vingorla.	12. Kárwár.

Storm Signals.

The objects of the system of storm signals are :—

1*st*—To warn shipping at the ports on the West coast of Hindustán, and more especially at Bombay and Karáchi, of the probable existence of cyclonic storms in the Arabian Sea, which they are likely to encounter if they leave for the Red Sea, &c.

2*nd*—To warn the Port Authorities and shipping of the probable or certain approach of a cyclonic storm to the port in question, in order that necessary precautions may be taken.

It should be distinctly understood that the storm signals will only be hoisted before and during cyclonic storms, and will not be used to indicate the prevalence of strong westerly winds, approaching in force to a gale, which occur occasionally during heavy bursts of the south-west monsoon, and are partly, if not entirely, dependent on conditions in the interior of India.

The day signals are made by means of two canvas shapes—a cone and a drum.

The night signals are red lights.

Signal No. 1.—Or warning signal, a black drum.

This signal signifies that a storm is in existence in the Arabian Sea, which may either approach the port, or which may shortly cross one or other of the usual tracks of vessels leaving the port.

There is no night signal corresponding to this day signal.

Signal No. 2.—A black cone apex down by day, and three red lights (triangularly placed) apex down at night.

This signal signifies that a cyclonic storm is likely to affect the port, with strong winds at first from the southward. The shift of wind will depend on the track of the storm (i.e., whether eastward or westward, &c.).

Signal No. 3.—A black cone apex up by day, and three red lights (triangularly placed) apex up at night.

This signal signifies that a cyclonic storm is likely to affect the port, with strong winds at first from the northward. The shift of wind will depend upon the track of the storm (i.e., whether eastward or westward).

Signal No. 4.—A black drum over a black cone (apex down) by day, and four red lights placed in the form of a square at night.

This signal signifies that a heavy cyclone is approaching the port, and that the centre will pass over or very near the port, and hence that the shift of wind is likely to be sudden, and the force of the wind very great.

Port Officer of Calcutta.

2.—The opium will be ordinarily offered for sale at an upset price of Rs. 800 per chest, and sold to the highest bidder above that price, except under the circumstances for which provision is made by clause 13 of these conditions of sale. The bids must advance by Rs. 5 at a time.

3.—The sale shall commence at the hour of 11 A.M. of the day fixed by previous notification, and shall not be continued after the hour of 5 P.M.; but if at that hour any of the lots advertised for sale shall remain unsold, the sale may, at the discretion of the Board of Revenue, be resumed on the next day following (not being Sunday or a public holiday), at the hour of 11 A.M., and so on until the whole of the remaining lots are disposed of; or, if the whole quantity advertised shall not be sold on the day appointed, the Board of Revenue may dispose of the lots which remain on hand at a future sale.

4.—Each lot shall contain five chests.

5.—A Promissory Note for a sum, calculated according to the scale noted in the margin, shall be taken as a deposit on each lot from the purchaser in the sale-room and before the lot is registered in the sale-book, and all such Promissory Notes shall be redeemed on the part of the purchasers at this Office by Bank of Bengal receipts or by substitution of other public securities of the Government of India, on or before 3-30 P.M. in the afternoon of the fifth day after the sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the said notes must be redeemed by 1-30 P.M., or, on the other hand, failing such redemption by the time aforesaid, then the lot or lots for which no Bank of Bengal receipts or deposit of other public securities as aforesaid shall have been delivered in, shall be re-sold at such time or times and under such conditions of re-sale as the Board of Revenue shall see fit; and all losses and expenses whatsoever attending such re-sale shall be borne and paid by the defaulters, whilst any profit accruing from such re-sale shall be forfeited to Government.

6.—The said Promissory Notes shall be absolutely payable in any event, and the amount thereof shall be absolutely forfeited upon such default as before mentioned, and the amount thereof shall not go or be credited in reduction of any loss on re-sale or expenses thereby incurred, but shall be recoverable whether such re-sale shall be had or not, or whether there shall be a loss on such re-sale or not.

7.—The Promissory Notes taken on the day of sale under the fifth condition, if remaining unredeemed at 3-30 P.M. of the fifth day following the day of sale, or 1-30 P.M. if the last day falls on a Saturday, will be placed in the hands of the Solicitor to the Government for realization in such manner as to him shall seem fit.

8.—No tender of money, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or public securities, on account of opium upon which the prescribed deposit may not have been made before the prescribed time in clause 5 on the fifth day following the day of sale will be afterwards accepted. Provided always that money so subsequently tendered may be taken in payment of the said Promissory Note, but such acceptance of money shall in no way entitle the payer thereof to any right to delivery of the lot or lots in respect whereof the said note was given, or to any of the rights of a purchaser thereof, or release the payer from liability for any unpaid balance of such notes or from the additional liability for the loss and expenses of such re-sale as provided for in clauses No. 5 and No. 6.

9.—The opium advertised for sale shall be paid for not later than by 3-30 P.M. of the fifteenth day from the day of sale, provided it does not fall on a Saturday; if it falls on a Saturday, the opium must be paid for by 1-30 P.M.; and in case any lots of such opium shall not be so paid for and adjusted, then the cash deposit made under the fifth condition, or any public securities that may have been deposited on account of such lots or chests, shall be forfeited, and the opium shall be disposed of on account of Government at such time and in such manner as the Board of Revenue shall think fit; and the first purchaser shall further be required to make good all expenses and any loss or difference of price between that obtained at the re-sale and the amount at which the opium was first purchased, forfeiting all advantages that may arise from such re-sale, and the liability for the loss or difference of price and expenses shall be in addition to, and wholly independent of, the amount of the deposit so forfeited.

10.—Purchasers taking out certificates or orders for the delivery of opium, after making full payment as above prescribed, shall have the option of naming the number of lots of their purchase, which they may desire to be included in each certificate or order; and it is to be clearly understood that the certificates or orders so taken out shall be considered final, and not afterwards changeable for other certificates or orders authorizing the delivery of single lots, or of a different number of lots or chests, whether more or less, than the number of lots or chests originally required to be included in each certificate or order.

11.—No deposit of public securities under the fifth of the present conditions will be received in this office except from the party recorded as the purchaser in the sale-book, or his authorized agent. The receipt for deposit of public securities will be granted only in the name of such purchaser, and the securities so deposited will be returned when payment in full has been made by the said purchaser or his order.

12.—The officer superintending the sale on the part of the Government is empowered to reject, at his discretion, the bid of any individual, unless such individual shall on demand tender at the time a deposit either in Government of India Notes, Bank of Bengal Receipts, or Government Securities, a sum equal to the amount for which a Promissory Note would otherwise be taken under the fifth of these conditions.

13.—With a view to prevent fictitious biddings designed to obstruct the sale, it is hereby notified that the officer of Government superintending the sale shall be competent, at any time during the sale, to withdraw any unsold lot, and immediately to put it up again for sale at a maximum upset price, diminishing the same gradually until a bid is obtained; and the first bonâ fide bidder for a lot after it has been offered for sale in the mode here described shall be held and declared to be the purchaser of the said lot, and the officer of Government superintending the sale shall also be competent to dispose, in the same manner, of as many of the subsequent lots as he may think proper, provided always that no lot shall be sold below the minimum price of Rs. 800 specified in the second of these conditions.

14.—The purchaser of any lot shall have the option of naming and purchasing in immediate succession, at the same price and under the same conditions, any number of lots of the same Agency opium not exceeding altogether twenty-five lots, provided always that there remain a sufficient number of lots of the opium to complete the said twenty-five.

15.—In the event of any dispute or difference touching or concerning any matter or question arising out of the sale of the opium included in this notification, or adjustment of the account thereof, the same shall and may be tried and decided in the High Court of Judicature at Fort William in Bengal.

16.—The following papers will be exhibited for inspection on the day of sale, or may be seen previously to that date by personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue:—No. 1, certificate of the opium advertised for sale; No. 2, report of the examination of such opium.

17.—The public are hereby informed that in providing the investment of the opium manufactured at the Patna Factory and the opium manufactured at the Ghazeepore Factory for the year 1888-89, the same precautions have been taken as those which have been observed during past years to have the drug procured and sent down in a pure state, to have only the prescribed quantity of leaves used in forming the cakes, and to have the due proportion of opium put into each cake. An account of the weight of the drug when packed at the Patna and Ghazeepore Factories, and a statement of the average weight of the chests, indiscriminately taken, for the purpose of comparison, from the despatches on arrival at Calcutta, may be seen on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue.

18.—Any further information respecting weight or quality of the opium advertised for sale that may be desired by parties connected with the trade will, as heretofore, be furnished to them on personal application at the Office of the Board of Revenue. But, in accordance with established usage, under no circumstances will the Board of Revenue entertain or recognize any claim to compensation for loss from any alleged deficiency of weight, abstraction of opium, or adulteration of the drug, which may be preferred on reference to chests after the sale and delivery of the opium for shipment.

3. All such meetings shall be convened by the Chairman or Vice-Chairman by notice to be served on each Commissioner not later than five days preceding the date of the meeting, provided such Commissioner be then within the town or at his usual place of abode, and provided further that the non-service of notice as aforesaid on any Commissioner shall not invalidate the proceedings held at such meetings.
